SHAMROCK V WILL SAIL THE ATLANTIC

Under Own Sail And Will Be Accompanied By Lipton's Steam Yacht Erin.

BELFAST, Ireland, July 15—Sir Thomas Lipton, 80-year-old Irish sportsman, is ready for his fifth and probably his last attempt to win the America's Cup. The $500 yachting trophy already has cost him some $2,500,000 of his private fortune.

His new challenger, Shamrock V, as trim and frail as a thoroughbred racehorse, will start the dangerous voyage across the Atlantic ocean under her own sail, according to the rules of the contest, early in July. The voyage will be as epic as the trophy race itself. There will be no wireless aboard the Shamrock V, and she will carry a crew of 22. A month's rations and fresh water will be carried.

The Shamrock V, will be accompanied by Sir Thomas's steam yacht Erin, which will act as a tender. The route will be by way of the Azores, where the Erin will stop to refuel.

The Shamrock V, will be yawl-rigged for the ocean voyage, although she will carry a towering Bermuda rig for the actual race. Her deep-sea rig will include a try-sail, a squarressail, a jib and staysail. A jigger mast, specially stepped in for the trip, will complete the yawl-rig.

A supply of oil is being carried by the Erin, and this will be used freely on the sea in case of rough weather to give the Shamrock V, what protection is possible from the tremendous waves of the Atlantic.

Capt. Ned Heard will direct sailing operations, while Sir Thomas will cross on a liner to meet the Shamrock V, on her arrival in New York. Capt. Heard is a veteran in attempts to win the trophy. He is about 50 now. At 23 he sailed as seaman in the third Shamrock. That was in 1903. In the past two races he was first mate.

Sir Thomas has spent his entire life building up a fortune and spending a large section of it in the English-American yacht contests. He remembers living in a Glasgow tenement house when he was a boy, and how at 17 he went to the United States to make his fortune. He returned home with $500, the value of America's Cup, and opened a shop in Glasgow where he was his own clerk and salesman, porter and window-dresser. At 22 he opened a second shop. He has been opening them ever since.

HON. JOHN A. MACDONALD, CONSERVATIVE CANDIDATE FOR KINGS

In the last two Parliaments the Hon. John A. MacDonald was known as "The member for Prince Edward Island." What this implied was that his was the only personality from the Province that impressed itself upon the House. He is held in the highest esteem and greatly respected on both sides of the House. It was no surprise in Ottawa when Mr. McLaughlin included Mr. MacDonald in his Government, as he was one of the outstanding men from the Maritime Provinces then at Ottawa. Mr. MacDonald, never-the-less, is of a retiring disposition. He is not a self-advertiser, and prefers to pursue his even terms, working for his constituency, province and county, steadily, regularly and unostentatiously. He has been in politics since the days of his youth, and was one of the stalwarts that represented King's County in the Provincial arena along with such political giants as the Hon. J. A. Matheson and the Hon. John MacLean. He has been in opposition and in the government in both the local legislature and in the Dominion House. In business he is a merchant at Cardigan, known well and widely locally and wherever farm produce is in demand. His word is as good as his bond, he being known in local politics as "John A., the promise keeper."

Elmer Ling returned to the city after spending a week's vacation with friends in Wheatley River.

Miss Teresa Clarkin, Roxbury, Mass., is spending her vacation with her folks in New Wilshire.

Mr. Cornelius Samphy of Rosemeath was among the visitors to the city yesterday.

LONDON IS TEACHING EVERY CHILD TO SWIM

LONDON, Ont., July 16.—Advancing the successful campaign of the public playgrounds department to combat summer drownings, a scheme has been launched to teach every child in London to swim.

Three hundred children were on the rolls at Thames Park today for instructions in the playgrounds pool and the first 75 have qualified for a red star, indicating that they have succeeded in swimming half-way across the tank. When they make the trip across and half-way back they receive a silver star and finally a gold star is offered for every boy or girl who makes a round trip, using four different strokes and who halts at the deep end of the pool to dive and part of his life, from which church he will be greatly missed as well as from the community as he was always interested in every advanced movement. Funeral services were in Montague Church of Christ, conducted by his former pastor Rev. C. E. Armstrong who spoke from the text Heb. 11-4: "He being dead yet speaketh." A very large congregation assembled to pay a tribute of respect and esteem, to one so worthy of their confidence.

He leaves to cherish his memory four sons and four daughters. The daughters are: Mrs. George McDonald, of Montague, with whom he resided during his illness and at whose home he passed into his reward. Nina and Ruth of Boston and Mrs. Margaret Burns, also of Boston. Sons: Arnald and James, of Western Canada, Howard and Becher on the old homestead, at Brudenell.

Mrs. Dewar predeceased him about six years ago. Among the many beautiful floral tributes were: Pillow, from the family: Wreath, Mr. and Mrs. George McDonald; Spray, Mr. and Mrs. A. Dewar and family; Spray, Miss Blanche Dewar; Crescent, Mr. and Mrs. Russell McGreor; Spray, Miss Mima Rourke; Spray, Mr. and Mrs. W. Rourke and family; Spray, Mr. and Mrs. Henry McLaren. Interment took place at Brudenell. He rests from his labors, his works do follow him.

WELL PLANNED ROOMS

The living room is undoubtedly used most of all the rooms, and should therefore be designed for the convenience and comfort of the household, be well lighted, large enough for family needs. If the front door opens directly into the living room, there are drafts in winter, and in a cold climate difficulty in keeping the room heated. A vestibule or storm door may prevent this.

A dining room is a matter of choice. Certainly this is an expensive luxury for many. This room is used but three times a day, and for the family whose means are limited a dining alcove in the living room or kitchen will prove a far better scheme, more in keeping with available funds. If a dining room is used it should be well lighted, look out upon pleasant views, have morning light, and be conveniently disposed with regard to the kitchen.

The kitchen has received much attention recently due to the fact that household scientists have studied this room from the point of view of its being the workshop of the house mistress. The disposition of various working units, sink, work table, refrigerator, stove may be arranged on an efficiency basis, just as are machine units in a factory. By careful planning in advance of building an efficient scheme can be devised. There should be provision for carrying of fumes from gas range and oven. The sink should be of proper height for the person who uses it. There should be cross-ventilation. Closets and cupboards carry their own recommendation.

Bedrooms need not be large. They should have plenty of light and air with space for furniture. This will make necessary careful study of the swing of doors, the placement of heating units. The inclusion of clothes closets is most necessary, particularly in small houses where there is otherwise little space for storage. Bedrooms should not open directly into the living room or bathroom.
