SATURDAY 24th IS CLOSING DAY

ARE YOU READY FOR THE GRAND FINISH?
Eleven Days Left — Every Minutes Counts — Get Busy.

This is the beginning of the end of a whirl wind campaign and every candidate who expects to win one of "The Guardian's" prizes should exert every effort during the remaining days to secure every new subscriber that he or she possibly can.

The campaign manager does not feel that it is necessary to say anything more along the line of urging you to do all you can during these last few days. It is now all up to you, and if you work hard now you may win a prize that is now headed in some other direction.

The names of the judges, who will have charge of the final count will be announced in a few days. They will be men well known and men who are not related or connected in any way with any of the contestants. Read "The Guardian" daily for other information pertaining to the close of the campaign, also for date that the final count is to be made.

The Guardian invites you and your friends to be present at the final count.

RULES FOR CLOSING CAMPAIGN

"The Guardian" calls the attention of the candidates to the following rules governing the close of the campaign, all of which are intended to facilitate the work of the campaign department at the close, and insure each candidate who observes them against any loss of votes through negligence.

First—All remittances and subscriptions must be in this office before 10 p. m. May 24th.

Second—All subscriptions sent in by candidates residing outside the city beginning with Wednesday, May 21st must be accompanied by cash, draft money order, or a certified check.

Third—All votes and remittance mailed after Thursday should bear special delivery stamps.

Fourth—If you live outside of the city and have to mail your votes, take the precaution to ascertain when the register department of your post office closes, and also find out about the train schedule, mail, etc.

Fifth—Address all letters bearing remittances or votes to the campaign department, and not to any individual. This is important.

Exhausted from Asthma. Many who read these words know the terrible strain upon health and strength, which comes in the train of asthmatic troubles. Many do not realize, however, that there is one true remedy which will surely stop this drain. Dr. F. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy is a wonderful check to this enervating ailment. It has a countless record of relief to its credit. It is sold almost everywhere.

PARASOLS ARE FASHIONABLE

The summer girl will not have to resort to "little daubs of powder and little daubs of paint to make a little 'treckle look as though it ain't," if she supplies herself with one of the lovely parasols which fashion has designed for every gown.

Your parasol must be a definite part of your costume. The day of haphazard umbrades has passed. No artist could resist the influence on a picture that a parasol may have; therefore it should be a strong note of contrasting color in the summer costume, or it should be made of the same fabric as the picturesque gown of gingham or calico.

The well-dressed woman is too wise to overlook this important point in a charming tout ensemble. If your gown is English print, your parasol must match and if it is coral pink of League blue, border it with black grosgrain or velvet ribbon, like that of the girl in the centre of the picture. The stick of this parasol is enameled in black.

If, instead of wearing a morning frock, you are clad in diaphanous chiffon of Georgette, crepe your parasol may be made of the most exquisite shade of orchid, chiffon crepe, faced with pink crepe. The stick of this lovely bit of feminine "frivola" is enameled in flesh pink. A ruffle of lace falls gracefully around the edge, whether the parasol is opened or closed, and two wreaths of French flowers in pastel shades run merrily around the circumference.

If you are wearing a dress of rose voile, or Georgette crepe, figured in white, you will want a parasol like that on the left, which is white chiffon crepe dotted with rose and faced with rose chiffon. The stick of this parasol is enameled in white and finished with an imitation coral handle and a coral silk tassel.

For the morning frock a parasol of plain ground fabric, finished

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND HOSPITAL

In October last we appealed to the people of Queens and Kings Counties for an amount sufficient to wipe out the deficit of nearly $7,000.00 that has been accumulated since 1915, and for enough to pay the deficit on running expenses for this year. The two counties were organized by school districts, a committee usually selected from among the school trustees was appointed in each district and this committee either made the collections themselves or appointed others who did the work. The response was instant and generous from about seventy-five per cent of the districts with the result that our objective has been nearly reached, unfortunately about 25 per cent of these districts have failed to make response and it is just the support of these districts that wended in order to put us "Over the top."

Although the committees appointed in the districts listed herewith have for various reasons been unable to do the work we believe they must be in every one of these districts several good people who will be willing and anxious to take it up. I would therefore urgently appeal to anyone in these districts who wish to help, to get together and have a collection made at once and forwarded so as to reach us by May 20th. This will enable us to include your subscriptions in our annual report which is very necessary. This Hospital serves everyone in Queens and Kings Counties and if it is to be kept up to its present high state of efficiency and the present low rate maintained everyone must help. Herewith is the list of districts not yet heard from.

of purple, navy, pink, yellow or blue with tiny tassels of white silk dangling from the spur of each rim makes an effective color. A bow or ribbon ties the white enamel stick. With gingham gowns the piece of resistance is the matching gingham parasol with a border of white, ecru or black taffeta. These parasols are usually faced with such a parasol, which is illustrated on the right.

ALLOTING ORDERS UNDER CANADIAN CREDITS

The following seven conditions have been adopted by the Canadian Trade Commission in Ottawa for the guidance of "trade group" organizations in making allotments of orders secured under the Canadian credits established abroad.

1.—Every manufacturer under certain conditions must have an opportunity of sharing in the business on the same terms. There shall be no discrimination in favour of or against a manufacturer because he is a member or a non-member of any organization.

2.—Every manufacturer desiring to share in the business must at the present time be actually engaged in manufacturing or equipped to manufacture a similar class of goods as that for which an order is solicited.

3.—If in the opinion of the executive of an export organization, promulgated through the president or vice-president, any manufacturer desiring to share in the business under allotment is not in a position to manufacture and produce a satisfactory article the executive will be justified in refusing to recommend such manufacturer to share in the order.

4.—If for any reason a manufacturer to whom an order has been allotted is unable or unwilling to complete same, he shall not be permitted to arrange for its manufacture elsewhere.

5.—All allotments should, if possible, be unanimously agreed to, but if that cannot be done, the executive through its president or vice-president, may make a ruling and if such ruling is not acceptable to any parties concerned, there shall be the right of appeal to the Commission.

6.—No allotments are to be considered as final until confirmed by the Commission, and orders forwarded in the usual manner.

7.—In the case of firms not speedily conforming to the standard of production required, orders must be surrendered to the Commission for allotment to other firms able to accept.

LONDON, May 12.—The Dutch Government has decided to surrender the former German Emperor to the Allied and Associated Powers, according to a despatch from the Hague to the national news.
