"Jack Oakie And John Boles" At The Capitol

Bright comedy, romance and thrills mingle with stimulating effect in the feature "Fight For Your Lady", which opens today at the Capitol Theatre.

The fun starts at the ringside of a wrestling-match in London, England. John Boles, an American concert singer, attends the bout with Margot Grahame, his gold-digging fiancee, Gordon Jones enters the ring for a bout which his manager, Jack Oakie, has bet he will lose. But Gordon sees the alluring Margot place a wager on him, and proceeds to win, thereby bankrupting his manager. Oakie then teams up with Boles, prevents the latter's marriage to Margot by a ruse, and goes to Budapest with the singer.

There Boles becomes involved with Ida Lupino, cafe entertainer, and is drawn into an engagement to fight a duel with Ida's lover, Erik Rhodes, a notorious duellist, with no possible chance of the singer surviving. Later, when the affair is publicized, Margot and Jones join the group in Budapest, intent on stopping the duel. The combat proceeds, however, with Bole's life saved at the crucial moment by the advent of Oakie in feminine garb, posing as Bole's mother, which results in the formidable duellist sparing his opponent—until too late he discovers he has been tricked! Boles gets the girl and all ends well.

Credit Union League To Be Organized Here

A convention called for the purpose of organizing the Credit Union League of Prince Edward Island will be held at Prince of Wales College Hall, Saturday, July 2. Delegates from all the credit unions in this Province are expected to attend this meeting.

The program of the convention includes a morning, an afternoon and an evening meeting. The morning meeting, opening at 10:00 a. m., calls for registration, the election of a chairman and the appointment of committees. Committee meetings and a bookkeeping clinic will be held in classrooms after adjournment of the morning session.

Reports from leaders of the movement in Prince Edward Island will open the afternoon session. The main work of the convention—the organization of the Credit Union League—will take place at this meeting. Prof. A. B. Garden Project For Unemployed Is Successful

"A matter that I feel should be especially appreciated is that the garden project provides people, who would be otherwise more or less idle, with employment of the highest order—not simply thoroughly remunerative but elevating and giving to many men and boys a desire to return to the land, which, in this Province at any rate, is almost our one and only hope," Mr. H. K. S. Hemming declared last night in a report at a meeting of the committee for gardens for the unemployed. The project was progressing very satisfactorily, he reported, despite a certain amount of difficulty because of weeds, inexperienced gardeners and other minor troubles.

When the City had been asked for assistance the number of applicants had been estimated at 40 and the cost at $10 per plot. The number of applicants had reached 60, however, "but instead of requiring $600 we shall not need over $500, so we have kept well within our estimate." Considerable saving had been made by purchasing seeds in bulk.

In addition to other plantings 900 tomato and 600 early cabbage plants had been set out, while an additional 1200 late cabbage were to have been planted yesterday. The early plants had a splendid start and Mr. Hemming anticipated the late planting would be very successful as weather conditions were ideal.

The meeting was held in Mr. Hemming's office.

European Fur Market Holds At Same Level

Although the European fur market at the moment was not bright, it was no worse than it had been for the last year, reports Mr. Peter G. Clark, president of the Prince Edward Island Fur Pool, who with his son Robert recently returned from London, Eng., where they attended the May fur auction sales.

Mr. J. S. Wright, Summerside fur dealer, who also returned with Mr. Clark, stated silver fox furs at the auction were in active demand, with strong price resistance. The lower grades were sought after at buyers' prices.

English buyers headed the list, he said, European buyers being very few owing to the difficult situation on the exchange.

Half silvers were in good demand, three-quarters next, while full silvers footed the list.

Since the sale there was an active demand by private sale at auction sale prices. Mr. Wright thought there would not be much difficulty in clearing off remaining skins before the next season's offerings. The trade at the moment is looking for neckpieces that will sell at moderate prices.

Mr. Clark spent some time studying the fur situation from every angle. S

SILVER FOX BREEDERS

among fox breeders tending toward closer co-operation for educational and promotional work, improvement in breeding stock and quality of furs, more effective methods of disease and parasitic control, lower cost of operation, improvement in marketing through the emphasis of a P.E.I. grading system; and other phases of work, the objects of which would be the establishment of the whole industry whether involving registered or non-registered foxes on a new economic basis.

"The services rendered by the Department of Agriculture was the first step to meet the demand referred to, and a commendable measure of promotional work has already been conducted. The most tangible result has been the organization of Fox Clubs at various points in the Province, and the laying down of certain definite work through these Clubs. These Clubs are undergoing rapid tendencies of development, and are now ready to further consolidate their efforts through centralized organization for purposes already enumerated. It is not complimentary to our intelligence that an industry of such great importance should not have had general organization and support many years ago. The registered breeder has had such services through two definite Associations and substantial Government assistance, but the great percentage of non-registered breeders have been without that organized support that is vital to profitable operation. While recognizing the wisdom and necessity of active backing of all registered breeds of livestock, the requirements of the great rank and file of non-registered breeders must necessarily be a prominent part of any policy initiated by governments, breed associations, provincial associations or from among themselves. The non-registered breeder, undoubtedly, contributes substantially to the finances of any breed association. The greatest market for registered stock exists among the non-registered ranchers, while a great bulk of provincial revenue coming from the industry is derived from non-registered foxes. It is, therefore, respectfully submitted that associations now in existence have a valid reason for extending their regulations to such an extent that the whole fox structure in all its ramifications may be involved, and general conditions for all thus improved.

"It does not seem desirable that in order to achieve results that another Provincial Fox Breeders' Association should be formed in this Province. We understand that the charter of the Prince Edward Island Fox Breeders' and Exhibitors' Association may be enlarged to include the non-registered breeder. In this connection the objection may be advanced that the Association may, by so doing, lose the fifty cent membership fee now secured annually on the basis on which the Association operates We feel by extending your privileges to the non-registered breeders, the amount accruing in revenue would be greatly increased, and would more than offset the present membership receipts Another objection may be that the new membership would control existing assets of your Association, and possibly change the whole complexion of the Fox Show, which is now almost the sole activity of an Association whose charter gives it much wider powers. This, however, is not the objective of the present movement. Under your present set-up certain parties have power to vote on one matter only. Other members are accorded greater liberties. There is no reason why the members, as at present, of the Association should not retain the authority to control present assets, and also the Central Exhibition which, to our mind, should be maintained as a strictly registered feature. The ambition of the non-registered breeder is to assist the industry at large in an altogether different direction. The assistance of the whole industry is necessary in bringing this about, and the Department of Agriculture desires, in effecting new policy in rendering new service, and in giving assistance in every direction of a more effective character, to have an Association of all fox interests to advise and offer a constructive program of extension that will establish this Province in a position of complete eminence in fox production.

"We would, therefore, urge an amendment to your present regulations to reach out to the bulk of the breeedrs, and would submit at the present time the following recommendations as a basis of the program contemplated in this Province in the near future:

(1) The recognition as Associate Members by the Prince Edward Island Fox Breeders' and Exhibitors' Association of members of Fox Study Clubs owning non-registered foxes.

(2) The establishment of a system among such members of marking foxes for identification purposes.

(3) The establishment of a system of standard of excellence, utilized by the Canadian National Silver Fox Breeders' Association, as a basis for the establishment of different color phases of foxes in P. E. I.

(4) The establishment of a system of grading of foxes according to a standard based on type and quality, the details of such system to be arranged by joint conference.

(5) The establishment of a system of marking all Grade I foxes with a registered identification that will be recognized as a Prince Edward Island identification, and with the recommendation that only foxes within the standard No. 1 Dominion Grade carry such identification. Other provinces to use their own special mark, if they so desire, in the same grade.

(6. The establishment of a system of listing foxes in the records of the Department of Agriculture for all foxes graded under the grading standards to be arranged.

(7) The promotion of educational facilities and such methods as are decided upon by the Association for the general uplift of the industry."

Committee: L. W. Hancock, Summerside, B. Graham Rogers, Summerside, Claude Smith, Charlottetown, D. S. McLean, Charlottetown, W. F. Burke, Department of Agriculture, W. R. Shaw, Department of Agriculture.

This created a great deal of discussion which was taken part in by Colonel U. G. Dawson, Captain J. L. Read, W. Fred Burke, Ira Carr, B. G. Rogers, D. O. Stewart, Gordon MacMillan, George E. Brown, Brewer Robinson, Major A.S. Robertson, F. G. Kennedy and several others.

Every speaker expressed sympathy with the objects of the brief, but the trouble was to find a method whereby owners of unregistered foxes could link up with the Exhibitors' Association, that is itself connected with the Canadian National Silver Fox Breeders' Association, who are all breeders of registered foxes.

Owing to the by-laws it was found impossible to pass any remedial measures at the meeting as sufficient preliminary notice had not been given, so a committee consisting of F. G. Kennedy, Layton Rogers, Robert Baker, Brenton Clarke, Samuel Johnstone, D. O. Stewart, Colonel D. A. MacKinnon and B. W. Robinson was appointed to wait on the directors of the Canadian National Silver Fox Breeders' Association and confer on this subject.

In the course of the afternoon some quite clever speeches were made, particularly that of the Deputy Minister of Agriculture, who is also secretary of the Fox Exhibitors' Association—Walter R. Shaw. In the course of it he stated that the Department of Agriculture was not only very much interested in registered foxes but they were also intensely interested in unregistered foxes, and that the object of the Department was to improve the status of every silver fox farmer in the province regardless of whether the breeder of registered or unregistered foxes. In a closing peroration that drew the applause of the meeting he said, "We must learn to eliminate waste, clear out the lower grade of foxes and place all our herds on a higher level."

Other very cogent remarks were made by B. Graham Rogers, George E. Brown, W. Fred Burke, Brewer Robinson and D. O. Stewart.

An amendment to the Constitution was passed that the annual meeting be held the third Tuesday in June. Percy Pope was appointed auditor.

At a meeting of the directors of the Association held after the annual meeting, C. C. Baker, M.L.A., Kensington, was appointed honorary president; Brenton Clarke, Summerside, president; George E. Brown, Charlottetown, vice-president; Walter R. Shaw, secretary.

Executive Committee: Lt.-Colonel D. A. MacKinnon, Major A.S. Robertson, Brenton Howatt, Major A. W. Allen, C. B. Rogers.

Grants Committee: George E. Brown, Lt.-Colonel D. A. MacKinnon, C. B. Rogers.

Prize List Committee, Walter Gregor, J. H. McPhail, Brenton Howatt.

Publicity, Lt.-Colonel D. A. MacKinnon, W.R. Shaw, Samuel Johnstone.

The full Board of Directors is as follows:

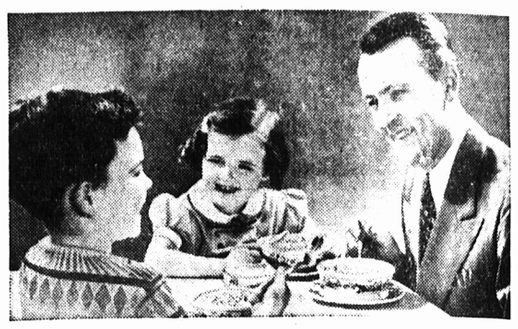
Queens County: Lt.-Colonel D.A. MacKinnon, George E. Brown, Major A. W. Allen, Major A. S. Robertson, Walter Gregor, J. H. McPhail, Brenton Howatt.

Prince County: A. L. Rogers, C. B. Rogers, Robert Baker, Brenton Clarke, Roy Woodside, Ray Lockerby.

Kings County: Douglas Aitken Samuel Johnstone, W. H. Davison Edwin Reid, Leon Johnstone.

NO MORE MEALTIME "TANTRUMS" AT OUR HOUSE!

• Every meal was a trial of patience at our house! First the children would fuss and refuse to eat, then their father would lose his temper. Sometimes I'd lose mine too. "I guess it runs in the family," I used to say.



• But Kellogg's Rice Krispies put a stop to that! When the children hear that crisp, crackling sound and see those toasted rice bubbles, they don't have any time for fretting! Naturally, we serve Rice Krispies often now — and love it!

You can't blame youngsters for "kicking" at foods they don't like. Serve Kellogg's Rice Krispies — the super-crisp cereal that crackles out loud in milk or cream! Children love the sound — and the tempting taste!

It was generally held that something must be done to clarify the situation and avoid arbitrary acts. Newspapers of both Conservative and Labor leadership were in agreement on this point.

Mr. Hore-Belisha said it was intended to more than double the present strength of 43,000 men in the specialized anti-aircraft divisions and marshal them in five divisions under the command of a lieutenant-general.

"The Associated Press said Mr. Hore-Belisha bluntly denied charges that the three-inch anti-aircraft guns with which the territorial army is largely equipped are "duds."
