

CIVIC ELECTION
CANDIDATE FOR WARD 5

Having decided to nominate as councillor in Ward 5 I hereby invite the support of the electors.

I realize the difficulty at the present time in making promises come true, especially if those promises have anything to do with the Citizens' money.

There are one or two pledges, however, which if fulfilled would benefit the Citizens.

1. Public meetings should be held about every three months, to clear up any misunderstandings that might arise and give the electors an opportunity of asking questions.

2. A monthly expenditure sheet should be published, showing in detail the amount of money spent for supplies, to whom paid, and for what purpose.

3. I am in favor of any form of Civic Government that will save this City money. To find out if the Citizens desire a City Manager system should be part of our election. It would not cost the City much when having the ballots printed to have one: "In Favor of City Manager Plan—Yes or No." It is entirely up to those who do the voting to decide whether they want the change.

4. All Citizens should be well informed of all important Civic matters, and particularly advised by advertisements of the night of Council meetings and invited to attend, so that first hand information may be obtained.

5. Economy and Taxpayer Control are my objectives.

B. EARLE MACDONALD, For Ward 5.

Curtailment of Private and Public Spending Urged By Confederation Life President

TORONTO—C. S. Macdonald, in his presidential address at the 68th annual meeting of the Confederation Life Association here January 23, urged rigid curtailment of private and public spending on all except war measures, explaining that reserves should be accumulated for projects which will be needed in the period of rehabilitation after the war.

"When demobilization comes, it brings with it the dismantling of our entire war economic structure. Work now deferred will then be not only useful but probably very necessary," said Mr. Macdonald, citing the Toronto traffic artery as the type of public work which would be delayed. He observed with approval that work on several federal projects had been postponed.

"So long as this continues, individual sacrifices, no matter how onerous, will be borne with calm determination," he was confident. Mr. Macdonald warned that war restrictions on business must be scrapped when the conflict ends. "If regimentation is maintained in time of peace, the line of demarcation between a democracy and a totalitarian state would be slight indeed," he said. "Matters which the state takes out of control of the individual should be looked upon as inherent personal rights which our citizens have lodged with the government as a temporary custodian, to be returned when the war is over. We are all prepared to force certain rights but these sacrifices should not be allowed to entail the permanent loss of liberty."

Opportunity to work out a permanent solution to national problems such as relief, the railway deficit, and farm conditions in western Canada, should be seized now, to simplify the transition back to a peace economy. Wartime activity would lessen demand for relief and increase rail revenue. Western prosperity would be on a firmer foundation if it were based on the raising of hogs, sheep and cattle as well as wheat, he stated.

Noting that Canada had 27,000 governing bodies, he suggested that wartime might be a good occasion on which to reduce overlapping government services. Improvement in municipal financing was evidence that a strong movement for economy was making itself felt in Canada, even before the outbreak of war. In two years, 16 cities across Canada had cut their debt by $21,000,000. In Ontario, municipalities were again on a sound basis, having reduced their debt by $100,000,000 since 1932. Five years ago, $105,000,000 in debentures of Ontario municipalities was in default. Of this $102,000,000 now has been refunded.

"In the improved record of municipal finance is seen the effect of that frugal instinct that dominates the life of our average citizen, that leads him to pay his debts and keep his liabilities within reasonable bounds," observed Mr. Macdonald. "It is proof that our economic life is sound and offers an inspiring note of confidence at a time when Canada is assuming further obligations."

Pointing out that Confederation Life business has increased more than 600 per cent since 1914, Mr. Macdonald said that the expansion was in line with Canada's growth in the last 25 years. The Dominion was a young and untried nation in 1914. Giant strides in manufacturing and mining, which have more than tripled their 1914 production, have made Canada capable of a greater war effort with less strain than in the last conflict. He predicted that the rapid expansion which came during and after the last war would be repeated, with a consequent rise in national wealth to meet war costs.

The outstanding success of the recent loan is ample proof of the confidence of Canadians in their country, and that Canada will emerge after the war a stronger member of the empire," he said.

He paid tribute to co-operation of the Foreign Exchange Control Board in placing foreign exchange at the disposal of Canadian life insurance companies. No policy owner outside Canada, with the minor exception of a few living in enemy-controlled countries, had failed to receive money due.

Send Aliens To Internment Camp After Alleged Plot

VANCOUVER, Jan. 24—(CP)—Royal Canadian Mounted Police said today that three enemy aliens, arrested some time ago in connection with an alleged plot to sabotage Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company plants in Trail, B. C., have been sent to an undisclosed camp.

The F. C. M. P. said "the case is closed, for the time being at least." (British Columbia police in Nelson, B. C., announced Jan. 2 that three aliens went under arrest following seizure of correspondence disclosing the sabotage plot.

The sabotage was scheduled for Dec. 25 last, officers said, in disclosing that the correspondence had been seized some time before that date.)
