

Clothing to Measure

If you want your clothing to have utmost nicety of fit as well as a certain individuality, our made-to-measure system will interest you. We have studied fashions for years, get the best we can find of imported and domestic makes and get many fine patterns that don't reach other tailor stores. In fitting and making we have a system known only to those most skilled in certain lines, and all have best materials to work with and best fashions to work by.

We are just as particular as you are about your clothes.

Pants-to-measure $3.50 to $8.00.

Suits-to-measure $14.00 to $35.00.

Overcoats-to-measure $14.00 to $30.00.

S. A. McDONALD,
P. E. Island's Greatest Clothing Store.

CLOTHING

Made to fit—in the latest New York Styles at the American Clothing Store

Pure English Worsteds, Cheviots and serges—Scott and Canadian Tweeds always on hand.

M. L. FRANK MACKENZIE,
Merchant Tailor and Gent's Furnisher, Summerside.

WE BRING THEM TO YOU

When we selected our stock of Hats for spring we were careful to get the shapes, shades and styles that would suit people who want fashionable headwear at light prices.

We've accomplished it and present to you the best lines Men's Hats you ever saw. Priced to your pleasure, 50c, 75c, $1.00, $1.25, $1.50, $1.75, $2.00, $2.50. Yours for Hats.

J. B. MacDONALD & CO.

BLACK DIAMOND LINE

The S. S. Coban sailing from Montreal Thursday evening May 7th will be due at Charlottetown Sunday evening May 10th and on Monday afternoon May 11th sails for St. John's Newfoundland via Sydney and North Sydney, carrying horses, cattle and sheep on deck and produce under deck at lowest possible rates.

For further particulars as to freight and passage apply to PEAKE BROS & CO. Agents.

7 d 31

McQUARRIE & ARSENAULT
Barristers, Solicitors, etc.

Summerside, P. E. I.

Offices—Royal Bank of Canada building.

NEIL McQUARRIE, K. C.

A. E. ARSENAULT.

n o 7-d

Portland Cement.

600 barrels, best qualities to arrive this week.

CARVELL BROS.

2, 2, Tu, Sat 11m.

MAIL CONTRACT

Sealed Tenders addressed to the Postmaster General, will be received at Ottawa until noon on Friday, the 12th June for the conveyance of His Majesty's Mails on a proposed Contract for four years, six times per week each way between Darnley and Kensington, from the next.

Printed notices containing further information as to conditions of proposed Contract may be seen and blank forms of Tender may be obtained at the Post Offices of Kensington and other Offices on route and at the office of the Post Office Inspector at Charlottetown.

G. C. ANDERSON, Superintendent.

Post Office Department, Mail Contract Branch, Ottawa, 25th April, 1903.

FOR SALE

The valuable lot above Wm. H. Mackenzie's residence and grounds, formerly owned by Judge Henley and now owned by me, containing between 10 and 12 acres running from the Royal Road to the North river. A beautiful location for a fine residence and grounds. Apply to the owner.

W. H. HANLIN, Westwood Postoffice, Charlottetown.

2-14 d 11m, W.F.

THE CAPITAL OF THE WEST

Latest from Summerside and Prince County

THOMAS ROBERTSON and Claude Sharp returned last night from Bal Inore Dent College.

JOHN P. [Gordon and J. E. Matthews] Charlottetown were in [Summerside] yesterday.

INCLUDED in the cargo by the Northumberland yesterday morning were 500 bags of oats and 100 cases of eggs.

HON. Angus McMillan now of Wheatley River was at the West yesterday. His many old friends were pleased to see him.

AMONG the passengers who left by the Northumberland yesterday were W. E. Forsythe and Mrs. Forsythe en route to Calgary and Edmonton; Miss Ida Wright Bedeque and Miss Hudson Tryon en route to Prince Albert Saskatchewan.

The third division of the course of lectures by Rev. Dr. Smith on the Relation between Revelation and Science will be delivered in the Presbyterian Hall on Friday night next. The subject of the discourse is "The Problem of Christ." Admission free.

Faultless summer wash fabrics. Another showing of those thin sheer soft fabrics, the kind that Dame Fashion says "will be right." From our splendid display you can gain an idea as to what will be strictly proper for a new summer wash gown. Sinclair & Stewart's, 7 d 11 & wky.

THREE were seven horses shipped by the Northumberland yesterday, five of which belong to Thomas Hayes, St. John and included two matched greys which he purchased from John A. McDonald and which were formerly the much admired town team.

THE much anticipated Clary concert took place in Market Hall last night and was patronized by a very large audience. Madame Clary's wonderful voice surprised and delighted even those who had expected much. Rich and with wondrous power, yet under perfect control, it filled the hall with a flood of melody sufficient for a building seating thousands. Of course nothing like this voice has ever been heard on the Island, and Charlottetown will have a musical treat differing from anything that has been offered in the past. Madame Clary's rendering of "The Lost Chord," "Hosanna," by Granier, and all her other selections must be heard to be appreciated. Summerside is now ready to agree with the musical opinions of the entire country that Clary is possessed of a voice the like of which probably is not to be found in another singer. It is not only pleasant to listen to Clary, but a pleasure to watch her sing; there is no affectation about her, no mannerisms, nothing stilted, and this together with her magnificent voice makes a combination which may never be heard again here. Clary's singing was not the only enjoyment at the concert. In Mrs. Spencer is found a singer capable of appearing to good advantage in any company. Hers is a rich, full soprano of sufficient power to prevent it seeming small even when heard with Clary's ponderous organ, and possessing sweetness to an unusual degree. Her singing of "When the Heart is Young" was particularly fine. Mr. Kelly is also well endowed vocally. A voice of much sweetness and good power, linked with artistic sense, he carried out his portion of the program with every satisfaction. Prof. Whitney may well feel proud of the success of his efforts in bringing to this town such talented artists. Madame Clary and her company deserve a large patronage in Charlottetown.

Two or three miles back of Plymouth, Mass., is a modest little pond called Billington's sea. Billington, an adventurous pilgrim, had climbed a tree and, looking westward, had caught sight of the shimmering water. He looked at it with a wise surprise, and then the conviction flashed upon him that he had discovered the goal of hardy mariners—the great south sea. That was a great moment for Billington.

Of course the Spaniards were more fortunate in their geographical position. It turned out that it was the Pacific that they saw from their peak of Darien, while Billington's sea does not grow on acquaintance. But my heart goes out to Billington. He also was a discoverer, according to his lights. He belonged to a hardy breed and could stare on new scenes with the best of them. It was not his fault that the Pacific was not there. If it had been, Billington would have discovered it. We know perfectly well that the Pacific ocean does not have the shores of Plymouth county, and so we should not go out into the woods on a fine morning to look for it. There is where Billington had the advantage of us.—S. M. Crothers in Atlantic.

Billington's Sea. Two or three miles back of Plymouth, Mass., is a modest little pond called Billington's sea. Billington, an adventurous pilgrim, had climbed a tree and, looking westward, had caught sight of the shimmering water. He looked at it with a wise surprise, and then the conviction flashed upon him that he had discovered the goal of hardy mariners—the great south sea. That was a great moment for Billington.

A Lincoln Story. The spirit in which Lincoln joined in his famous debate with Douglas is best illustrated by an anecdote which Leonard Swett related to Augustus C. Buell. "I believe, Abe, you can beat Douglas for the senate. You can carry the legislature if you make the best use of your opportunity," said Mr. Swett to Lincoln on the eve of the first debate. "No, Len, I can't beat him for the senate, but I'll make him beat himself for the presidency."—Leslie's Weekly.

Inconsistent. "Here, you!" cried big Mrs. Cassidy. "Strooke or no strooke, O'll not hove ye standin' round doin' nothin'." "Well, oh, well," meekly protested little Cassidy. "Tis the most onarsonin' woman ye are. Last wake ye told me if O'didn't behave mesel' ye'd make me stand round, an' now that O'm doin' it ye're kickin'."

His Idea. Hundtswill—It seems that in all railroad accidents the first and last cars are always the ones that are injured. O'Rourke—Shure, an' I wonder why they don't lave thim two cars off the thrain entirely!

How They Are Kept. Miss De Style—He said I was a little fower; that he intended to keep me. Miss Gumbust—I noticed him pressing you.

Following the plan that it is unhealthful to eat while cross, how many meals a day would you miss? Wives, would your husbands starve to death. —Atholton Globe.

OF PERSONAL INTEREST.

L. L. B. e. was in Summerside yesterday.

Mo'tin Rattenbury returned last night from a trip abroad.

Rev. J. W. McConnel returned last night from St. John.

Rev. R. G. Sinclair, Montague goes to Pictou this morning on a few day visit.

M. S. A. Alley returned last night from a trip to the western part of the Island.

C. W. Blenkhorn of the Plant Line was a passenger by the express from the west last night.

A. B. McLeod, representing D. G. Kirk, Arigonish, N. S., is on the Island on a business trip.

J. M. Wiley and J. W. Haddelsey were passengers by the express last night. Mr. Haddelsey accompanied his wife, who was en route to Montreal, to Moncton.

Dr. F. P. Taylor, Mrs. Taylor and Miss Pearl Taylor left yesterday for New York. Mrs. and Miss Taylor will remain a month and Dr. Taylor will be absent about three weeks.

AN ODD SUPERSTITION.

The Devil Hunting Cure For a Mad Dog Bite in Tunisia.

A woman, having been bitten by a mad dog, was subjected to a native cure in the market place at Tunis. She was placed in the center of a circle of her husband's male relatives, who, led by a native witch doctor, danced around her, yelling and screaming.

When the woman began to show signs of fear, the devil hunters commenced to yell like dogs, and the noise was so grotesque that the woman speedily lost her sense and ran at her tormentors, echoing their doglike cries and trying to bite them. They scattered in all directions, and when some time later the husband sought the aid of the gendarmes to trace the woman her body was found at the bottom of a well.

Subsequently, says the Westminster Gazette, the husband also disappeared, and his body was found in the same well. It is said that the devil hunters, having induced the woman to drown herself in the well, threw the man in when they found he had called in the aid of the gendarmes. Had they not done so they would, they believed, have become possessed of the devil they drove out of the woman!

Billington's Sea.

Two or three miles back of Plymouth, Mass., is a modest little pond called Billington's sea. Billington, an adventurous pilgrim, had climbed a tree and, looking westward, had caught sight of the shimmering water. He looked at it with a wise surprise, and then the conviction flashed upon him that he had discovered the goal of hardy mariners—the great south sea. That was a great moment for Billington.

Of course the Spaniards were more fortunate in their geographical position. It turned out that it was the Pacific that they saw from their peak of Darien, while Billington's sea does not grow on acquaintance. But my heart goes out to Billington. He also was a discoverer, according to his lights. He belonged to a hardy breed and could stare on new scenes with the best of them. It was not his fault that the Pacific was not there. If it had been, Billington would have discovered it. We know perfectly well that the Pacific ocean does not have the shores of Plymouth county, and so we should not go out into the woods on a fine morning to look for it. There is where Billington had the advantage of us.—S. M. Crothers in Atlantic.

Billington's Sea. Two or three miles back of Plymouth, Mass., is a modest little pond called Billington's sea. Billington, an adventurous pilgrim, had climbed a tree and, looking westward, had caught sight of the shimmering water. He looked at it with a wise surprise, and then the conviction flashed upon him that he had discovered the goal of hardy mariners—the great south sea. That was a great moment for Billington.

Billington's Sea.

Billington's Sea. Two or three miles back of Plymouth, Mass., is a modest little pond called Billington's sea. Billington, an adventurous pilgrim, had climbed a tree and, looking westward, had caught sight of the shimmering water. He looked at it with a wise surprise, and then the conviction flashed upon him that he had discovered the goal of hardy mariners—the great south sea. That was a great moment for Billington.

Billington's Sea. Two or three miles back of Plymouth, Mass., is a modest little pond called Billington's sea. Billington, an adventurous pilgrim, had climbed a tree and, looking westward, had caught sight of the shimmering water. He looked at it with a wise surprise, and then the conviction flashed upon him that he had discovered the goal of hardy mariners—the great south sea. That was a great moment for Billington.

Billington's Sea. Two or three miles back of Plymouth, Mass., is a modest little pond called Billington's sea. Billington, an adventurous pilgrim, had climbed a tree and, looking westward, had caught sight of the shimmering water. He looked at it with a wise surprise, and then the conviction flashed upon him that he had discovered the goal of hardy mariners—the great south sea. That was a great moment for Billington.

Billington's Sea. Two or three miles back of Plymouth, Mass., is a modest little pond called Billington's sea. Billington, an adventurous pilgrim, had climbed a tree and, looking westward, had caught sight of the shimmering water. He looked at it with a wise surprise, and then the conviction flashed upon him that he had discovered the goal of hardy mariners—the great south sea. That was a great moment for Billington.

Billington's Sea. Two or three miles back of Plymouth, Mass., is a modest little pond called Billington's sea. Billington, an adventurous pilgrim, had climbed a tree and, looking westward, had caught sight of the shimmering water. He looked at it with a wise surprise, and then the conviction flashed upon him that he had discovered the goal of hardy mariners—the great south sea. That was a great moment for Billington.

NOTICE !

Sentner McLeod & Co. will keep their CLOTHING ROOM open until 8 o'clock to give the workingmen a chance to share in the bargains at our dissolution sale.

Read the papers for discounts.

Sentner McLeod & Co.

GARDEN TOOLS

Wholesale and Retail.

Dodd & Rogers

A New Place to Buy

Wall Paper

THE BEST PLACE

Because our stock is all new this Spring, and our prices are the lowest in the city. It will be to your advantage to buy your Wall Paper at

TAYLOR'S

BOOKSTORE.

Opp. Front Door Post Office

Window Screens

--AND--

Screen Doors

At interesting Prices
Doors From 50c. up.

CAMERON & CO.

HARDWARE.

Up-to-date Hardware Store

FLOORLAC

FINISHES FLOORS
IMITATES NATURAL WOODS

Made by THE SHERWIN-WILLIAMS CO.

Any one can use it. Gives a hard wood finish to old floors. Splendid for borders around rugs. Get a color card.

SOLD BY

S. W. CRABBE

Walker's Corner.

WEALTH--The wealthy as well as those who are not wealthy, use the

TIGER TEA IT IS PURE