TENSION EASES OVER DANZIG INCIDENT

Progress Toward Satisfactory Settlement Is Seen.

WARSAW, May 22 —(AP)— Tension over a Polish-German shooting in Danzig relaxed somewhat and informed sources said protests over the incident had proved "fruitful" of progress toward a satisfactory settlement.

These sources said the Danzig senate in the Nazi-dominated city had given assurances that three Polish customs inspectors, who have returned to their post at Kalthof where the station was attacked by a partly uniformed crowd on Sunday, would be protected against any further incidents.

Involved in the dispute, however, was the counter claim of the Danzig senate for official apologies and damages for the family of Gustav Gruebner, a Nazi veteran who was shot and killed at Kalthof by the chauffeur of a Polish official.

The Polish press made no mention of these Danzig demands, and there was an increasing tendency to regard the disturbances in the Free City, focal point of unsettled questions with Germany, as the acts of Nazi extremists who had overstepped Berlin's policy.

Russia Understood Seeking Closer Ties In Proposed Pact

GENEVA, May 22—Russia was understood tonight to be standing firm in demands for a closer form of agreement or alliance than had been proposed by Great Britain to bring her into the Anglo-French anti-aggression front.

Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax was said to be planning to submit a three-point plan Wednesday to the cabinet in London.

Terms of the plan were said to have been evolved during conferences among Lord Halifax, Ivan Maisky, Soviet Ambassador to London, and Foreign Minister Bonnet of France. These conferences have taken Geneva's limelight from the 105th council of the League of Nations.

Maisky smilingly rejected all suggestions, it was said, that his country should be content with less than the form of pact which he asked, Russia originally proposed an outright alliance, but Britain made counter-proposals.

These were said to be the three points of the new plan:—

1. The three powers come to each other's aid automatically if any one of the three is attacked directly.

2. If any state guaranteed by the signatory power is attacked and asks help the three signatories give immediate aid.

3. If any signatory considers an act of aggression against a state not guaranteed as affecting its own interests there shall be tripower consultations to decide if aid should be given and what form it should take.

LONDON, May 22—Some members of Parliament indicated tonight they believed Prime Minister Chamberlain would be in a position to announce this week conclusion in principle of an Anglo-French-Russian pact of mutual aid and collaboration.

A report is to be presented to the cabinet Wednesday by Viscount Halifax, Foreign Secretary, who will fly back from conference at Geneva with Ivan Maisky, Soviet Ambassador to London, and Georges Bonnet, French Foreign Minister.

Meanwhile diplomatic circles reported Japan has warned London that a military alliance with Russia would be taken as "an unfriendly act". The British Government was declared to regard this protest pretty much as a bluff and to believe that Japan is ready to link up with Germany and Italy only if she can assure herself of tangible gains.

WILL MAINTAIN MANDATE IN PALESTINE

LONDON, May 22 —(CP)—Great Britain will maintain its mandate in Palestine until both Arab and Jewish interests are secured, Malcolm MacDonald, colonial secretary, told the House of Commons today. He declared Britain has not broken any promises by its new policy.

The colonial secretary opened a two-day debate on the white paper of last week which foresaw eventual establishment of an independent state in the holy Land, in which Arbas would have a majority, as they have at present.

He declared the best answer to Jewish claims that the policy placed "Jews at the mercy of the Arab majority" was that the Arabs themselves had rejected the policy.

Thomas Williams and Josiah Wedgwood, Labor members, assailed the government after the colonial secretary spoke.

Mr. Williams said "the only persons who Arabs in Palestine need fear are Arab terrorists engaged by the former Grand Mufti of Jerusalem, who has been responsible for killing off about 3,000 persons during the last year or two."

Mr. Wedgwood said the effects in the United States of the government's policy were "very serious," and declared the government's plan to settle Jews in British Guiana meant setting up a "British concentration camp for Jews.

QUINTUPLETS COMPLIMENTED BY QUEEN

Royal Couple Presented With Pictures Of The Famous Children.

(By WILLIAM H. DUMSDAY

Canadian Press Staff Writer)

TORONTO, May 22 — (CP) — Queen Elizabeth met the Dionne Quintuplets today at a quiet family gathering, returned their affectionate hugs and kisses and told Their physician, Allan Roy Dafoe: "What beautiful children—they are among the most beautiful children I ever have seen."

The five sisters, who left their northern Ontario home for the first time for a visit to Toronto, were presented to the King and Queen at the Ontario Legislature building and later panicked 1,500 spectators packed into the legislative Chamber with a brief romp across the floor of the house.

The Quints curtsied to the Royal Couple, hugged and kissed both the King and Queen, gave them their autographs and pictures, called the Queen "beautiful" and had the grandest time of their lives before they sped back toward Callander in their special train. In the Legislative Chamber they threw kisses to the crowd and skipped and jumped while the place rocked with laughter.

Relieved "because the tension is now past," Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe, their physician, told of the Royal audience just before the seven-car Quintland special left to take the children to their northern Ontario home.

The little country doctor, wearing morning dress for the first time in years, said that when he was presented to the King by Premier Hepburn he started to bow "but before I could make much of a job of it, His Majesty shook my hand and that made me feel much at ease."

Parents And Nurses Presented

Dr. Dafoe then asked whether he might introduce others of his party and in turn presented Mr. and Mrs. Oliva Dionne, parents of the children, and the three nurses, Molly O'Shaughnessy, Louise Corriveau and Gaetabe Vizena.

"I saved the children until the last because I was sure once they got started there would be no letup and it turned out just that way," Dr. Dafoe said.

The sisters presented the Royal Couple with a sheet autographed by each of them. It was folded but the Queen was not satisfied until she had examined the signatures of Marie, Yvonne, Emilie, Cecile, and Annette who will be five years old May 28.

Then came the demonstration of the Quints' affection. They gave the Queen a large set of pictures of themselves and when she bent down to examine the gift the Quints could not restrain themselves.

The King, of whom the Quints are wards under an Act of the Ontario Legislature, also was kissed. After insisting on explaining each picture separately the little girls hugged him too. Marie, the tiniest, asked the King to give their love to his daughters, the Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose.

"The children talked so much and so quickly they scarcely gave the King and Queen a chance to get a word in," said Dr. Dafoe. "They each carried a bouquet but decided Her Majesty should have them and accepting the Queen said 'oh what will I do with all these lovely flowers."

When the nurses were presented, the King and Queen inquired as to the upbringing of the mannerly little girls and wanted to know the height and weight of each.

The striking appearance of the Queen in her blue ensemble did not escape the view of the children and Annette, her eyes turned upward in admiration, said "La Belle Reine" (the beautiful Queen). The others joined her and repeated the tribute in unison several times.

The Queen smiled at the little girls and quietly told them they looked most charming in their ankle-length white organdie dresses. The skirts were full and ruffled, the sleeves short and puffed, trimmed with ruffles.

The blue naval uniform of the King was a big attraction for Cecile and she wanted to feel the brass buttons and medals. The inquiry led to a chat between H's Majesty and Cecile regarding the celebration of their fifth birthday next Sunday.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Dionne expressed themselves as being pleased with the occasion. Dionne wore a dark blue suit and his wife wore a simple navy blue crepe summer dress with inverted pleats. The nurses wore their regular white hospital uniforms.

A cavalcade of six automobiles rushed the party to the Legislature Buildings shortly after their arrival this morning. Dr. Dafoe rode in the same vehicle as the Quints and for the first time they saw him in a top hat.

"Voila une chapeau." (that's some hat) quipped Yvonne and the headpiece created much laughter.

COLORS ARE PRESENTED TO REGIMENT

By MURIEL ADAMS

Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, May 22—Queen Elizabeth smiled happily today through an arduous program and graciously carried off a humorous miscue in a brilliant military spectacle. Her radiant appearance to present colors to the Toronto Scottish Regiment made 10,000 spectators forget that 10 minutes before they mistook another woman for the Queen.

Her Majesty, with the King at her side, covered 32 miles by automobile through city streets and she herself was the central figure in two events—the presentation of the colors and a quiet tea and personal reception later in the day at the Ontario legislature.

The Queen made her second speech of the tour on the campus of the University of Toronto where the kilted regiment was drawn up. At Ottawa she spoke at the laying of the cornerstone of the Supreme Court building. These are the Queen's only scheduled speeches.

Appeared Little Tired

To get to the parade ground from the legislature and later to a luncheon at Hart House, the Queen walked more than a quarter mile. Toronto's last sight of her was upon her departure from the Union Station. There she still smiled happily and waved to cheering throngs, but she appeared a little tired.

The odd case of mistaken identity occurred as the campus throng waited the Queen's arrival from

WINNIPEG READY FOR ROYAL COUPLE

BY GEORGE FINLAY

(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

WINNIPEG, May 22 —(CP)— Winnipeg—and the broad west to which it is the gateway—are ready tonight to welcome the King and Queen.

Weeks of preparations at an end, Manitoba's flag-bedecked capital will be reached by Their Majesties Wednesday, Victoria Day, a holiday celebrated in the Dominion for 35 years in honor of Queen Victoria. From here the King will send a message to the Empire, a world-wide broadcast to his millions of subjects.

Like Winnipeg, other western cities, Brandon, Regina, Calgary, Vancouver, Victoria, Edmonton and Saskatoon are excitedly awaiting the visit.

For more than eight hours, from the arrival of the Royal train at 10:30 A. M., a full program has been prepared for the Royal guests in Winnipeg.

Thousands Crowd Into City

Tonight, the city is host to thousands of visitors, from rural towns, villages and farmsteads and from many parts of the United States and even far-off Mexico. They came by train, automobile, motor bus and some in luxurious airliners.

From the industrial centres of eastern Canada, Their Majesties come to a city which has developed from early trading post days, through the building of a great grain-growing empire, into a modern metropolis, a distributing centre for the Prairie west.

Pioneers who played a part in the development will meet the King and Queen. The first will be Hon. W. J. Tupper, Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba. Thirty-eight years ago, he met His Majesty's parents who came to Winnipeg as the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall. The King will meet others, veterans of the plains country, who attended receptions in honor of his parents in the west.

Their Majesties will have their first view of the west's agricultural lands as they speed through eastern Manitoba after passing the rocky fastnesses of northwestern Ontario. West of Winnipeg, across the Portage plains and into Saskatchewan and Alberta, they will go through grain country millions of acres in extent where the new crop is showing above ground.

Regina will be visited May 25 and Calgary, key city of southern Alberta's ranchlands, May 26. From there the King and Queen go to Banff for a two-day rest before proceeding to the Pacific coast.

Visitors to Winnipeg tomorrow night will view a royal welcome week parade, an historical pageant dating from old Fort Garry days. Ox-carts will make their way over the city's main thoroughfare that a half-century ago was a muddy trail. Over the same route the King and Queen will drive Wednesday.

Civic and provincial receptions are scheduled for the day. Their Majesties will lunch at Government House after the Empire broadcast. In the afternoon they will make a 25-mile motor tour through parks and along Portage Avenue—the Portage trail of pioneer days.

Presentation To King

At historic Fort Garry, where only the ivy-covered gates remain P. Ashley Cooper, Governor of the Hudson's Bay Company, late in the day will make a tribute payment to the King—the presentation of two elk heads and two rare black beaver pelts. It is a payment demanded under charter granted by King Charles II to the "adventurers of England trading into Hudson's Bay" 269 years ago.

An hour before departure, Manitoba's French-Canadian Cathedral City, St. Boniface, will be visited.

ITALO-GERMAN ALLIANCE IS SIGNED

(By Louis P. Lochner, Associated Press Foreign Staff)

BERLIN, May 22—Germany and Italy signed today a 10-year military alliance devoid of qualifications and proclaimed themselves makers of Europe's unwritten history.

Presumably counting in their supporting countries, they declared, in the words of Foreign Minister Von Ribbentrop, of Germany, they had forged a mighty invincible bloc of 300,000,000 people "ready to offer the hand of friendship to anyone but determined to smash any enemy by their united power."

Japan was the first power to register "present" for the line-up. Its government sent a message approving of the military, political, economic and diplomatic alliance.

With Chancellor Hitler as an unsmiling witness sitting between them in the Ambassador's Hall of the new Chancellery, Von Ribbentrop and the Italian Foreign Minister, Count Galeazzo Ciano, at 11:06 a. m., affixed their names to the accord consisting of a preamble and seven short articles.

The axis diplomats, by the terms of the seven articles, will be called upon first when danger seems to be lurking in the offing. Their joint skill will try to avert the danger. The military will speak if and when diplomacy has failed.

Von Ribbentrop and Count Ciano emphasized that the sole purpose of the alliance was the preservation of peace.

Another purpose emphasized in the preamble was:—

"In the midst of a world of unrest and disintegration to serve the task of rendering safe the foundations of European culture."

Count Ciano also told newspaper correspondents of the "determination (of the Axis powers) to demand that the knots still throttling the life of Europe be undone."

UNIFIED PLAN

ROME, May 22—Italy has proclaimed her military alliance with Germany, signed today in Berlin, as an instrument of "constructive force" for peace and as a unified plan of the two nations in the event of armed conflict in Europe.

Fascist press spokesmen also indicated that Premier Mussolini might welcome the signatures of "friendly powers," making the formal alliance of the Rome-Berlin axis partners a world coalition of countries that see eye to eye with Italy and Germany.

A hint of secret clauses with the inference that they cloaked a unified war plan was given by Virginio Gayda, informed editor of Il Giornale d'Italia. He wrote from Berlin that German and Italian forces "will be employed with a unified direction" and added "more is not to be said."

"The undisclosed technical decision," Gayda said of the alliance, "is not to be revealed in advance nor may it be explained now, where and when the allied Italian-German masses above all should point.

"It is enough to point out that these masses would not be spread in autonomous and fractional objectives, but would move according to a single plan formulated on a basis of evaluation of the situation which might be faced and of the individualization of the ends to be obtained."

Day of Arduous Activity Marks Stop In Toronto

Dionne Quintuplets Make Deep Impression on Their Majesties—Huge Crowds Again Acclaim Royal Couple

(By R. K. Carnegie, Canadian Press Staff Writer)

TORONTO, May 22—The King and Queen got kissed today by the Dionne Quintuplets and if anything more exciting than that happens to them on their Canadian visit it will have to occur in the west or on next month's easterly run to the Atlantic seaboard.

Their Majesties made a smiling conquest of Toronto—and most of Ontario—today before boarding the luxurious royal train that takes them into the west, across the prairies to Vancouver and brings them back again.

After six consecutive days of rigorous public appearances in Quebec, Three Rivers, Montreal, Ottawa, Kingston and Toronto, they can rest tomorrow as the blue-and-silver wheeled palace takes them through woodlands and past picturesque lakes of northwestern Ontario.

A 10-minute stop at Schreiber, tiny settlement along the way, in mid-afternoon and a longer visit to the twin cities of Port Arthur and Fort William in the evening make up a comparatively easy day for the royal party.

Huge Crowds Present

Today they went at top speed from morning to evening. The royal procession passed an estimated 1,500,000 persons who cheered the King and Queen at every stage, making Toronto's demonstration of affection as moving a spectacle as they have yet viewed.

They waved to hundreds of thousands at a time. In the Ontario Legislative Assembly chamber they met more than 200 people. They had luncheon with 400 and watched the 80th running of the King's Plate with a jubilant crowd of 40,000 that hailed C. George McCullagh's Archworth as winner.

His Majesty hailed the winner, too, and presented Mr. McCullagh with the 50 guineas that since Queen Victoria inaugurated the race in 1880 have been presented annually to the winning owner by the reigning monarch. This was the first time the guineas were presented personally.

TORONTO, May 22—Spectators along the route of the royal procession today said they saw a white-haired Great War veteran break away from the curb and run up alongside the automobile carrying the King and Queen and toss a piece of paper into the car.

William Zimmerman said the King picked up the paper, evidently a note, read it and then placed it on the car seat.

"He was almost trampled by the mounted guard," Zimmerman said. "He was a grizzled, white-haired veteran wearing a red beret, red arm band and medals. He was about 60 years old and was one of a unit lining the curb."

Quints Kiss and Hug Royal Couple

But probably the Dionne quintuplets—Yvonne, Emilie, Cecile, Annette and Marie—made the deepest impression on the visitors.

Not in public, but in the official suite of Lieutenant-Governor Albert Matthews of Ontario, the Quints kissed the King and hugged and kissed the Queen. Away from Callander for the first time in their lives, the famous children scored a smash hit with Their Majesties.

While the 12-car royal train was enroute to Toronto from the east, the Quints were pulling quietly into the city from the north aboard a special seven-car train all their own, accompanied by an entourage, their parents and brothers and sisters.

The quints will be five years old next Sunday but they'll remember this month of May for a rare event that they made unique by treating the King and Queen as real guardians, rather than the symbolic guardians they have been since the Ontario Government

Jews Continue Demonstrations

JERUSALEM, May 22—(AP)—Jewish demonstrations against the British Government's plan ultimately to turn Palestine into an independent Arab-Jewish state continued today but the Holy Land remained relatively peaceful.

Backing was sought by Jews for the policy adopted by Vaad Leumi Executive—the highest internal body of Palestine Jewry—which is a six-point program of non-co-operation and economic boycott.

During the morning several trucks were stoned by Jewish youths here. Later several thousand singing, shouting Jewish women presented a memorandum to officials.

Police and troops did not interfere with demonstrations as long as they were peaceful.
