Capt. J. E. Allen, Prominent S' Side Citizen Passes
 A link with the early history of Summerside has been severed with the passing of Captain John Shepherd Allen, whose death occurred at his home in Summerside shortly after 5 o'clock yesterday morning. Captain Allen, although not in robust health for the past few years, had been out and about until a few days ago when he took a heart attack. His condition gradually became worse until the end, which came quickly. Capt. Allen enjoyed remarkably good health for his 91 years.
 He was born on June 15th, 1841 at what was at that time called Emigrant road, (now known as Melrose) Westmoreland Co., N. B. When about 16 years of age he came to the island to join his brother who had been in Summerside. From there he decided to go to sea and became a deep sea captain and sailed the Seven Seas during his many years at sea.
 His daughter, Charlotte Dobson, daughter of William Dobson of Seartown and came to Summerside to live 65 years ago. Here he followed the sea for a number of years, but when the ships that were built in the shipyards at Summerside at that time. He retired from active life on the sea at 42 years of age, but always took a great interest in the merchant shipping and in 1920 purchased in partnership with Capt. John E. Campbell, the three masted schooner "Fantomian" which was built in 1917 in Nova Scotia. The ship was wrecked in a terrific gale four years afterwards when on a trip to Barbados.
 Capt. Allen in his early days in Summerside took an active interest in civic affairs and had served on the police force also on the fire brigade and as town councillor. In the early days of Summerside Capt. Allen owned a very fine hotel called the Strathcona, which was a very imposing building with three stories and plate glass windows. This hotel was burned in the great fire of 1908. They then took over the Victoria Hotel which was on the site of the Prince County Hospital. They remained there until 1908, when they took up residence at "Fernwood" a lovely home on Summer St. and have resided there ever since.
 In 1909 Capt. Allen went into the fox business with the late Dr. Alexander C. Saunders, now Mr. Justice Saunders, their ranch situated near St. Eleonors was (christened St. Patrick in 1910 by Princess Patricia when she visited Summerside with her father, the late Duke of Connaught. Capt. Allen's venture in the fox business was very successful. He was also associated with the late John Grady in the coal business which was also a success.
 Capt. Allen retired from active business about 20 years ago and had since enjoyed a well earned rest. He was a man of pleasing personality, a delightful conversationalist and could tell many interesting yarns of his experiences in distant lands. He was a member of the Masonic Lodge and the United Church. He was devoted to his family and had the pleasure of having all his children near him and lived to see his grandchild, Mrs. W. H. MacNeill and who always delighted to be in his company.
 He leaves his devoted partner who had lived until August would have shared with him their 65th wedding anniversary, two sons, W. A. Allen, postmaster at Summerside and Dr. H. S. Allen, dentist, also of Summerside; both sons having served in the first great war, and one daughter, Mrs. W. H. MacNeill of Summerside. Capt. Allen was the last surviving member of a family of thirteen. To his widow and family the Guardian extends sincere sympathy.
 The funeral will take place on Thursday at two o'clock from his late residence under Masonic auspices.—S.

WAS WELL KNOWN HERE—Word has been received by friends in Summerside of the death recently in New York City, of Mrs. Smith, wife of Dr. W. H. Smith, a former pastor of the S' Side Presbyterian Church. Both Dr. and Mrs. Smith were well known in S' Side and will be fondly remembered by their many friends.—S.
FUNERAL SERVICES—The funeral services for Mrs. F. C. Galt were held on Monday morning from her late residence to St. Paul Church. The funeral Mass was celebrated by Rev. Fr. MacNeil, R. Rev. Major G. J. MacNeil saying the final rites at the grave. The pallbearers were Messrs. W. B. MacNeill, D. F. MacNeil, John Gallant, Fidele T. Galt, Mackey Gallant and Sgt. Allen.—S.
FORTY HOURS—The Forty Hours service for St. Peter's Church on Monday morning with the Mass of Exposition at nine o'clock. Rev. J. MacDonald was the celebrant. The priests from the neighboring parishes assisted with the Confiteors. On Tuesday the Mass of Exposition was celebrated by Rev. F. X. Gallant at 7.30. The Forty Hours will close with the Mass of Exposition this morning at 7.30 o'clock. The altar was beautifully decorated with colored lights. Very large congregations attended during the service.—S.
Mrs. Crawford Picketts and Miss May Walker both of Kelvin Prince Edward Island, are visiting relatives at Halifax and Springside, Nova Scotia.

LOBSTER NEWBURG
 1 1/2 cups cooked (canned) lobster cut small
 1 tablespoon butter
 1/2 teaspoon flour
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 Dash of paprika
 1/2 cup coffee cream
 1/2 egg yolks
 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
 1/2 tablespoon minced pimento
 Method: Melt the butter in the top part of a double boiler and the lobster and cook for about five minutes. Add the flour and mix well, then add the salt and paprika. Add the cream gradually, cooking, stirring constantly, until it begins to thicken. Now add the egg yolks that have been well beaten and cook for one minute longer. Lastly add the pimento and cream. Serve this hot. This recipe for six. You can extend the recipe by doubling the butter, cream and seasonings.
 The chicken shortcake is made with creamed chicken. The sauce should be well-flavored. A little chopped pimento would be good instead of providing not only the fragrance, but a certain power biscuits.
 Beet marrow is a smooth frozen and further requires none of your precious sugar aliment as it detaches for its sweetening on melted

Middle East May
 There are reports from fairly reliable sources that the Nazis are massing 40,000 parachute troops in Crete to be dropped in the rear of the British 8th army in Libya and possibly in Alexandria, Cairo, and along the Canal itself.
 Loss of Egypt and the Suez Canal, which would mean that the British Navy might be placed in an untenable position in the eastern Mediterranean, would be a major disaster.
 Rommel, despite the successes of British aircraft, submarines, and warships in destroying 60 per cent of all the enemy convoys running from Italy to Libya, nevertheless is believed to have stored up huge reserves of men and supplies that might enable him to push an offensive as far as the Suez Canal.
 Naz bombers, too, might succeed in blasting the single desert highway linking the naval base Alexandria with Salum, and the only railroad between Alexandria and Matruh.
 Should that happen, the British army commander in chief, Gen. Sir Claude Auchinleck, would have to throw his full force to the aid of the British army in the desert.
 British military leaders however, not overlooking the possibility of a two-way Nazi thrust from Libya and through Turkey, are tenaciously holding to strategic positions in the western desert and getting ready to meet the full force of Nazi land and air blast should it come. The possibility, too, is not excluded that Britain may get the jump on the axis and start her own offensive before the enemy is ready to throw his full power into a drive toward the Suez Canal.
 Turkey is a question mark. Most British army, navy and Air Force chiefs express belief that she will continue to stand firmly by Britain and fight to the last man if the Nazis and Bulgarians start a southward push.

German sub meeting up with this would probably be scared all the way to Helgoland and back. A sleek-covered U. S. sailor keeps watch on convoy duty in the North Atlantic. Official Navy photo shows him wearing a mask to protect his face against biting gales.

LEG BEAUTY CALLS FOR PROTECTION
 Now that wintry blasts are blowing, our legs need more protection than a thin whiff of silk or nylon. Pat vanishing cream over the legs before going out, to serve as a protection against sharp winds. Try giving your legs a vanishing cream minute mask, if they are chapped and rough—leave it on just a minute. When you tissue it off, you'll note that tiny bits of roughened skin go with it, leaving soft and silky smooth. That's grand stocking insurance these days. In every snag is extra-expensive.

 silent enemy, Russia, on the north. Other possibilities, such as an eastward thrust at Hawaii or along the northern rim of the Pacific against Alaska and Canada, doubtless have been studied but probably have been marked for another stage. The signs point to Australia. The other two adventures are recommended by powerful lobbies and probably also by urgent arguments from Hitler, but they are fighting for their national life as well as booty, must, it appears, put Australia first.
 Australia is the base where the American-British counter-offensive can be prepared.
 Japanese landings on New Guinea already has begun. In fact it began six weeks back when the Japanese seized Rabaul on New Britain, a scant 500 miles from the Australian mainland. It moved forward another 100 miles with the seizure of Timor.
 The bombings of Darwin and other Australian points were part of the period of feeling out and softening up.
 The defenses can only conjecture at the part of Australia's 12,210-mile coastline on which the blow will fall.
 For the first time Japan's lines of communications will be almost as extended as those of her major foes. And she will be entering a battlefield in which the might of the world's greatest industrial power, the United States, at last can be brought to bear.

QUEEN'S CANADIAN FUND DONATIONS
 Repeated bombing raids on British ports and the industrial midlands has attracted fresh attention to the plight of the many thousands of civilians in Great Britain who are harried from shelter to shelter and finally driven into the open country by successive raids. Eventually places of relative security, but their belongings of all kinds are destroyed. The task of emergency feeding alone is difficult. The task of setting them up once more with some quantity of clothing and bedding is much more difficult.
 To meet these enormous needs, funds have been started in various parts of the world. Her Majesty use of her name in connection with the Dominion campaign, which is officially known as "The Queen's Canadian Fund for Air Raid Victims."
 Every dollar contributed to the Queen's Canadian Fund goes without deduction to the Lord Mayor of London for distribution to the homeless and needy.
 Contributions from this Province should be forwarded to the Royal Trust Company, Charlottetown, which reports the following receipts to date:
 Received recently—
 Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hill, Charlottetown, $30.00.
 Total to date, $4,517.06.

JAPANESE In Memoriam
 Ten days after the capitulation, while wounded still were being collected from the hills, the Japanese were refusing permission for the burial of the dead.
 The women, both Asiatic and European, were raped and murdered and that entire Chinese district was declared a brothel regardless of the status of the inhabitants. (The same thing happened at Nanking, where thousands of women were outraged and killed and other thousands of the inhabitants slain during the burning and pillage of the Chinese city.)
 All the garrison survivors (by Japanese count 5,072 Britons; 1,689 Canadians; 3,929 Indians and 337 others) were herded into a camp of wretched huts without doors, windows, light or sanitation, and by the end of January there were 150 cases of dysentery, but no drugs or medical supplies, and the dead had to be buried in a corner of the camp.
 Guards are Calous
 "The Japanese guards are utterly callous and the repeated requests of Gen. Malby, the general officer commanding, for an interview with the Japanese commander have been curtly refused." Mr. Eden said.
 "This presumably means that the Japanese high command have connived at the conduct of their forces."
 Civilian European residents, some of them seriously ill, have been interned and fed on a little rice, water and food scraps.
 The Japanese have refused to permit visits to the prisoners, either by a Red Cross representative or an agent of the protecting power and have ordered all foreign consuls out of all occupied territories.
 "It is clear that the treatment of prisoners and civilians will not bear independent investigation, although conditions may have improved slightly by now, Mr. Eden said."
 In the House of Lords the Colonial Secretary, Lord Cranborne, agreed to look into a suggestion that Russia be asked to accept good offices at Tokyo for the relief of Hong Kong's helpless people. Russia and Japan still are at peace.

MISS MARY MCCAUGHEY
 On Friday Feb. 6th the oldest remaining of the linking St. Joseph's parish at Kelly's Cross with the past was severed when God in His infinite wisdom called to her eternal reward the spirit of Miss Mary McCaughey in her 95 year old deceased lady was born in 1847 at Green Road and spent all her life in that place until five years ago when she came to live with her nephew and wife Mr. and Mrs. Peter Toole of South Melville and at whose home her death occurred. She was of a quiet unassuming disposition and during her long life performed many acts of kindness and endeared herself to hosts of friends both young and old. Being possessed of a good memory and endowed with more than average intelligence it was a pleasure to converse with her and glean some knowledge of the happenings of pioneer days. During the later years she had become blind but never was heard to murmur against her kindly and she readily accepted God's holy will in all things, being imbued with a strong unswerving Catholic Faith. Her pastor, Rev. W. A. Keeffe frequently visited her and was present to administer the last rites of the church she loved and served so faithfully. She leaves to mourn one sister Mrs. Fizza Trainor of Passmore St. Ch'wonn, while a brother, Mr. McCaughey preceded her by only a few months. She also leaves a large number of nephews and nieces by whom she is sincerely mourned. Her funeral took place Monday to St. Joseph's church, Kelly's Cross, and was well attended the pallbearers being, Emmet Gordon, Peter Greenan, John Toole, James D. Flood, Alfred Cameron and Pius McCaughey. After the requiem Mass was sung by Rev. Keeffe, her mortal remains were laid away in the nearby cemetery, there to wait the final resurrection, the officiating priest being read by the pastor. Funeral arrangements were under direction of F. J. Trainor of Tyrone Lot sixty-five.

ROBERT CHESTER WOOLNER
 Seldom has any community been more shocked and saddened than that of North Rustico and vicinity, when it was learned that Chester Woolner, had passed away at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Sterling Stewart of Cavendish on Feb. 15. The deceased, with Mrs. Woolner, had gone to spend a day or two with their daughter, where he was taken ill, and although his medical skill and tender nursing, did everything possible to restore to health, it was of no avail and on the above named date he bade farewell to the things of earth and his spirit took its flight to that better home where pain, sorrow and death can never come. The funeral which was very largely attended took place from his late residence on Wednesday, Feb. 18, his pastor Rev. Geo. Tilley conducting the very impressive service, and bearing warmest testimony of the fine Christian character of the deceased, as elder in the congregation and clerk of Session he will be sorely missed, but it is felt most keenly, where, as a loyal husband, a kind and loving father, his presence ever seemed a benediction. The hymns sung were, "Abide With Me," while Olat and Roy Stevenson, Herbert and Lowell Wyand rendered with much feeling, "The Old Rugged Cross," a special favorite with the deceased. Rev. Mr. Tilley spoke most fittingly from Prov. 13 22—"A good man leaveth an inheritance to his children's children. There are left to mourn besides a sorrowing widow, two sons, Roy D. and Robert Foster of North Rustico and four daughters, Mrs. Mervyn Bulman of New Glasgow, Mrs. Erskine MacMurdo of Kelvin, Mrs. Newton
