CLYDE RIVER CONCERT

In Clyde River Hall, on March 28th, 1910, there assembled quite a number of the residents of that place of different political and religious faiths for the purpose of having a good time. There were quite a number of invited guests present. The meeting was called to order by appointing Boyd Livingston to the chair. First on the program was a chorus "The Maple Leaf Forever;" next gramaphone selections by Kentford Scott; Address, W. F. Fraser; song, W, D. Shaw; encored; reading, Kate McLean, encored; recitation, Annie McDonald; reading, Lulu Scott; recitation, Muriel McMillan, encored; recitation, Heber McLean; song, Daniel and Annie McDonald, encored and responded to with a Gaelic Song; duet by Katie and Ianie McDonald, encored; song, Walter Shaw, encored; recitation, Colin McPhail; reading, W. F. Fraser; gramaphone music. The selections were of a high order and all those who took part acquitted themselves notably. If special mention might be made where all did so well Miss M. McMillan as an elocutionest will be heard from later. After this part of the program was ended the ladies of Clyde River excelled themselves in the sumptious dainty and abundant spread of good things they provided to satisfy the wants of the inner man. There were about fifty partook of supper, and about sixty dollars was collected for a most worthy cause. While supper was in progress Miss Lulu Scott produced beautiful music on the organ. After a hearty vote of thanks was tendered to those who took an active part in making the social a success and to the ladies in particular for their most interesting number on the program, it was unanimously decided that this was the most pleasant evening spent on the Clyde. After singing the National Anthem with patriotic vigor they dispersed to their several homes about midnight.

PRESENTATION TO REV. AND MRS. PIERCE

On the evening of March 25th the congregation of Pleasant Valley Methodist Church, met at the Parsonage, where a very enjoyable time was spent. At nine o'clock the company sat down to a bountifully spread table after which Geo Mallett took the chair and the following address was read by Thos Bertram in a very appropriate manner. "To Rev. Mr. Pierce and Mrs Pierce: We, your friends have assembled here this evening to express our gratitude and good will to you for the years you have so faithfully laboured among us. We take much pleasure in conveying to you the expressions of our united love. We have found you unselfish, thoughtful and benevolent, you have merited the esteem and affection of all by your faithful work on circuit and will always be remembered by us. Please except this purse, not on account of its intrinsic value, but as a small token of our esteem. May your lives be long and prosperous is the sincere wish of your many friends." Mr Pierce in a few well chosen remarks then thanked the congregation for their kindness, after which all returned homeward feeling that the evening was well spent. Patriot please copy.

RATES ON FLOUR REDUCED

WASHINGTON, March 30—The inter-state commerce commission today ordered the lake and rail rates on flour from Minneapolis to New York city and the Antlantic seaboard reduced from 23 cents a 100 pounds to 21½ cents, beginning May 10.

This decides the famous case of the northwestern millers against the twenty-nine rail and lake lines in favor of the millers. The new schedule of rates is ordered to be effective for two years from the date it goes into effect.

REGULATING AUTOMOBILES.

Sir,—Your late editorials on automobiles are so different from the usual course of The Guardian, that I am at a loss to account for the change. You must see, that whether it is named repeal, regulation, or licence, the practical effects are the same. ...If the object is to promote sport and speeding of autos; let it be regulated as horse racing is regulated by providing a track of their own. If it is proposed to use autos for travelling on the public road and streets I venture to predict that the disreputable class will be in a large majority. Gentlemen who respect themselves, and regard the rights of others, will patronise our livery stables. But in the estimation of The Guardian the interests of men who may have invested their all in a livery outfit, the mechanic whose living depends on making and repairing those outfits, the raisers of horses, and the safety of the travelling public, are not equal to the grievance of those few who are prevented from causing annoyance on our roads and streets. ...

I know that many women will prefer to sell to dealers at home at lower prices, rather than risk the danger of meeting autos on the roads and streets. Those who venture to run the blockade will then control prices which the people of Charlottetown must pay. The penalties attached to that ready made document are more apparent than real. ...Men able to pay will not be found among offenders. The trouble will come from those who can raise money enough to hire an auto, and a supply of liquor. Having nothing to lose, they can afford to be reckless. Their constituents will do well to notice the treatment of this matter by members of Parliament which I regard as an attempt to deceive the public.

THE HISTORT OF WEST DEVON.

The Guardian is indebted to James Grigg, West Devon, for the following bit of history:—

Sixty-four years ago we were favored with a remarkably early spring. Early in March the spring opened up. Rev. Mr. Wiggins sowed his wheat on the twenty-fifth day of March in St. Eleanors. Most of the crop was sowed and planted in April throughout the Island, and the result was abundant crops. The same year I visited Lot 10, a perfect wilderness. I thought it a good prospect to make myself a home, which I did by felling the first tree and clearing the land. In doing so, I destroyed a quantity of good lumber which I did not put much value on at the time. After a while we decided to give our settlement a name, and West Devon was the name chosen, because our pioneers were from Devonshire, England, viz., the late J. Ashton, late Wm. Nicholl, late Josiah Powe, late J. Moreshed, and myself. The only one left, although in my eighty-sixth year, I am still on the move and can do a little work. I am up to breakfast and can sleep well at night. Truly God has been good to me, for which I praise Him daily.

BIGAMIST TRIES TO END LIFE.

HAMILTON, Ont., March 30—William C. Nash, a bigamist sentenced here to seven years in Kingston Penitentiary, made two attempts to commit suicide. While being taken across the bridge that connects the cells and the police court, he nearly succeeded in throwing himself over the railing, but the guards seized him and led him forward to some stairs. They had no sooner released him than Nash flung himself forward and dropped half way down stairs. He was badly bruised.

Do You Suffer From Headaches?

There are few people who have never experienced a headache from one cause or another. It effects all ages and both sexes alike, but the female sex is naturally the more effected through the higher nervous development and more delicate organization of the system. Those also of a nervous temperament and studious or sedentary occupation are subject to it.

The presence of headache nearly always tells us that there is another disease which, although we may not be aware of it, is still exerting its baneful influence, and perhaps awaiting an opportunity to assert itself plainly.

Burdock Blood Bitters has, for years, been curing all kinds of headaches, and if you will only give it a trial we are sure it will do for you what it has done for thousands of others.

Headache and Constipation Cured.

Mrs. John Connors, Burlington, N.S., writes: "I have been troubled with headache and constipation for a long time. After trying different doctors' medicine a friend asked me to try Burdock Blood Bitters I find I am completely cured after having taken three bottles. I can safely recommend it to all."

REVIEW NOTICE.

"History of the Jumpers, or Shouting, Genuine and Spurious," is one of the revival books published by the Metropolitan Church Association of Waukesha, Wis. It is an extraordinary book. It is printed upon clear, white book paper and handsomely bound in fine, silk cloth covers. A decorative, white side stamp adorns the cover, and the title is also stamped in white upon the book. Fifteen full-page illustrations are used in the book and help to tell the story of religious demonstration. A portrait of Rev G. W. Henry, the author, also appears in the book.

The book contains authentic accounts of great revivals and revivalists; tells of remarkable answers to prayer and of Pentecostal days and nights when the power of God worked mightily and moved multitudes toward God and Heaven, causing hardened sinners to fall helpless under conviction while making light of prayers and testimonies. It describes meetings where Christians have shouted and mourners have cried and prayed until it seemed the heavens were rent and showers of grace descended and mocking multitudes were put to silence.

It has great doctrinal worth. It is founded upon the Scriptures from Genesis to Revelation. Its arguments are based upon the immutable Word of God, are driven through, as it were, and clinched and capped with forceful excerpts from the writings and experiences of the Wesleys, Christmas Evans, Benjamin Abbott, Cartwright, Finney, Edwards, and others. It relates revival incidents in Great Britain and in America and the experience of the author, Rev G. W. Henry, who gives among his reasons for writing the book, the three following:

First, he believed God called him to write it. Second, he loved to spread Scriptural holiness through the land. Third, he desired to bless the world with spiritual bread, and he adds, "We expect to give account in the Judgment for every word we have written. Our book is a child of prayer. Unceasingly have we prayed for the spirit's direction. * * * O! Lord, if the book please Thee, give it the wings of a carrier dove, and prepare its way to the firesides of thousands; and may it win many souls to Christ after we are dead. Amen!"

Such a book written with such a motive, by such a man, in that spirit of prayerful concern for the salvation of souls, will do good. God is answering the author's prayer.
