Scout News and Notices

Brother Scouts—The following Wolf Cubs of 8th Ch'town (Trinity United) have been awarded their "First Stars"—Doug. Forsythe, Don Wonnacott, Ivo Oudmore, Don Crockett, Melville Brown, Brian Cudmore and Tom Notling. The Scouts of this group were visited recently by Lt. Col. G. Elliot Pull one of the Group Committee. Several of the Scouts are getting along well with Semaphor. Sorry to hear that Asst. Scout Master Richard Matheson has been ill with measles. Hope he will soon return to the troop. A hike was organized last Saturday several of the Scouts trying the fire lighting test; two were successful in passing. There was a lot of fun, cooking steak on the end of a stick. Some of the Scouts are still picking their teeth.

At a meeting of 1st Ch'town Pack (Basilia) held on Friday 28th, Feb. Gerard Rouch, Dennis Dowling and Jackie Binns were invited as Tenderpads. Cubs are now working on "First Star" tests. All Cubs were present except Teddy Bradley who was on the sick list.

A meeting of the Executive Council of the Provincial Association was held recently. Matters relating to the waters of Leaders, organization and expansion were discussed.

Scout Master W. J. Phillips of 1st Alberton and Scout Master E. Freeman of 1st Kensington were recent visitors to Charlottetown.

We understand that Scout Master A. G. Crowe of 1st Bedouque is shortly to be transferred to New Glasgow, N. S. He will be greatly missed in Scouting, as in other walks of life.

We congratulate Scout Bruce Adams 7th Ch'town (St. Paul's) on his pluck and presence of mind in rescuing a little girl from the icy waters of Government Pond. As the incident took place early in the winter, and has just been brought to our notice, we cannot obtain the particulars. If this comes to the notice of the child's parents they are asked to communicate with W. Warren, 17 Sydney Street.

Is your troop as large as it might be? Ask your Scout Master if there is room for expansion. There may be some boys in your community just waiting for someone to ask them to be Scouts.

How often have you thought of "The Promise" since you were invested? A suggestion—Let every Scout, each morning in the privacy of his own room, recite in the approved manner, standing "The Promise," and ask that he may be enabled to keep it.

We are glad to note that Mr. Rupert McNeill has been appointed Scout Master of 1st O'Leary, with Mr. Cecil Caruthers as Asst. Scout Master. We extend a hearty welcome to these gentlemen and hope they and the boys of the troop may find in Scouting, great happiness and satisfaction.

Paulist Father Addresses Club

The Catholic Collegiate Club was signally honored on March 6th to have as its speaker the Reverend Thomas McMahon, C.S.P., who is delivering the Lenten sermons at St. Dunstan's Basilica. Father McMahon took as his subject, "The heritage of true faith." The reverend speaker ably compared the Catholic faith to a seed implanted at birth, a seed which if carefully nurtured would grow into a beautiful character. Father McMahon urged the students to study the truths of their religion. He advised joining the lending library of Father Conway of the Paulist Fathers, the originator of the famous Question Box. The President of the Club, Mr. Waltham Gaudet, the Chaplain of the Club, Reverend Father McGee and the convener of education for the Catholic Women's League, Mrs. F. Murray all spoke briefly and expressed thanks on behalf of the students.

Draft Of B. N. A. Bill In Preparation

MONTREAL, March 6—Early in the course of the Quebec session the draft bill providing for the amending of the British North America Act by Canadian authority alone will be laid before the members, said Premier Taschereau who was here on his return from Ottawa where he took part in the conference dealing with constitutional amendments. Proceedings have reached a stage, said the Premier, that instructions have been given to prepare the draft bill. When this is done, and it is approved by the interprovincial conference called to study it, the draft will be sent to all the Legislatures in Canada to be discussed. When this has been done the various Legislatures will send the draft back to Ottawa with endorsement, or with suggestions for changes and the next step will be for the federal Parliament to take action.

The Premier pointed out that there was still the British Government and the British Parliament to be consulted, but the opinion of Ottawa, he added, appeared to be that there would be no opposition in the Mother Country if it was found that it was the general Canadian will that change should come about. Asked as to whether the consent of all the provinces would have to be unanimous, Mr. Taschereau answered in the affirmative as regards consent would not be required in other matters. Where unanimous consent was stipulated, and could not be secured, the federal Government would not proceed in respect to such matters.

WITNESSES

counsel Lambert, witness told of his first visit to the Bannister home where he quizzed the accused. "The accused was in bed, I think. I did not threaten him. I told him he knew what happened at Pacific Junction. I gave him no warning. The information I got from Arthur Bannister was the result of questioning."

Again defense counsel Lambert objected to the admission of the lad's statement to police. Chief Justice Barry—"I think the statement is admissible and I shall allow it, subject to Mr. Lambert's objection."

Constable Kent: "Arthur told me he had been to Lakes Thursday but denied being at Lakes Sunday (night of the tragedy). He told me he went to bed at 7:30 that night. I wrote his statement down, read it to him, and he signed it."

Cross-examined by Mr. Lambert, witness admitted that he had heard of two tramps jumping from a freight train at Napdogan the night of the tragedy. "The report was investigated," he told the defense attorney.

Mr. Lambert later asked if any attempt had been made to ascertain if Philip Lake was still living. "I have not," replied the constable.

"Has anybody else?" questioned the defense lawyer. "Not to my knowledge," stated the witness.

Sergeant B. G. Peters, the next witness, gave similar evidence on the finding of the bodies. Two gold teeth taken from the dead man's body were admitted as evidence without objection from Mr. Lambert.

Alberton Rink 2nd In 'speil

(C.P. By Guardian's Special Wire) TORONTO, March 6—Alberta today squeezed out an 8-5 victory against New Brunswick and won second place in the Canadian curling championship. It was a playoff attraction that followed Manitoba's title-winning round last night, 11-9 against the same New Brunswick rink.

After the regular nine rounds were completed New Brunswick was left in a tie for runner-up position with Alberta and the playoff this afternoon sent Skip "Red" Shivers rink from Campbellton further down the ladder. The Macdonald's Ken Tankard was presented to Brian Watson's Winnipeg rink after today's match. Each member of the new championship quartet received silverware. Leopold Macaulay, M. L. A. made the presentation to Watson.
