French Tank Corps Officer Describes Rout

NEW YORK, Oct. 30—(AP)—Robert Gueiroard, officer of a French tank corps 'suicide squad," reached New York today after a roundabout trip from Europe by way of Africa and told of being trapped with his men by German tank divisions which ignored them in their haste to overrun France last May.

Lieut. Gueiroard was a student at Harvard University when his government ordered him up for service in November, 1939. He had just finished a course in Saumur Tnak School when the Germans broke through into Belgium.

As second in command of Groupe France, a motorized scouting unit, Gueiroard said his outfit reached the front just in time to meet the French army pouring southward in disorder.

Fighting a rear-guard action, his men held bridgeheads on the north bank of the Seine for four days. They were the only French fighting unit in Rouen, a city of 200,000.

They were forced to retreat when French engineers, without warning Groupe France, blew up the bridges and destroyed the equipment of Guiroard's unit which was crossing at the time. Gueiroard himself was hurled 30 feet by one blast, he said.

Their numbers decimated, and armed with only rifles and light machine guns, the men tried to hide in bushes during one day while seemingly endless columns of German tanks, gun carriers and trucks roared by them on two sides.

The band finally made a break through an opening in the German column. Some got through—many were cut down by fire from speeding German tanks. When they had fought their way clear of the trap, only 70 of the unit's 250 men were left; only three of their eight officers.

"The Secret Of Dr. Kildare"

THIRD IN POPULAR SERIES SHOWING AT CAPITOL SUMMERSIDE

The mid week attraction at the Capitol Theatre, Summerside, is another of the popular series of Dr. Kildare, in "The Secret of Dr. Kildare", Lew Ayres and Lionel Barrymore are again teamed for this production. Ayres as Dr. Jimmy Kildare and Lionel Barrymore as the veteran Dr. Gillespie. Helen Gilbert as the mystery patient is wonderful; and playing another difficult part as Sara Haden the fanatical nurse.

Lionel Atwell takes the part of the mystery patients millionaire father. Among those who continue the characterizations of earlier pictures in the series are Nat Pendleton as the two-fisted amouance driver, Laraine Day as the attractive nurse, Samuel S. Hinds and Emma Dunn as Lew Ayres parents, Walter Kingsford as the hospital superintendent, Grant Mitchell, Alma Kruger, Robert Kent and Marie Blake, the wise-cracking telephone operator.

A Medical Miracle

Based on the popular story by Max Brand, the picture shows many interesting modern medical discoveries as sidelines to the central plot. Barrymore demonstrates the use of Prostygmin in a strange case of paralysis, a seeming miracle, in one dramatic highlight. A scientific apparatus, one of the latest miracles of science, is seen on the screen for the first time. Many comedy episodes, such as Barrymore's game of "craps" with George Reed, playing his servant, enliven the thrills and heart interest.

Harold S. Bucquet, who directed "On Borrowed Time," piloted the production.

British Fly Over Sand Storm, Bomb Italians

CAIRO, Egypt, Oct. 30—(AP)—Flying high above a sandstorm over the western desert, Royal Air Force planes yesterday bombed numerous Libyan bases, demolishing buildings at El Gubba, starting two large fires at Gazala and damaging the barracks at the Tobruk naval base, an R.A.F. communique announced today.

Not all of the damage apparently inflicted could be seen, the R.A.F. noted, because of the blowing sand and a heavy ground haze.

Numerous raids and reconnaissance flights were made, the R. A. F. communique said. It listed as objectives Italian-held posts at Derna, Bomba, Tmimi, Gazala, El Gubba, Tobruk, El Adem, Menastir and Salum. The last-named town is in Egypt.

At Derna, the communique said, high explosives fell very close to a number of ships in the harbor "causing in all probability considerable damage."

A large fire was started at the landing field at Salum, and bombs fell among Italian planes at Menastir, the communique said.

Assab in Eritrea was raided again.

ago by the conquering Ali Pasha, "Lion of Janina," but here, too, no considerable gains were reported.

(Reports reaching Sofia from the Bulgarian-Greek frontier said still another Italian force attacking across northern Greece had driven 30 miles toward Salonika, so-called key port to the southern Balkans.)

Greek advance guards withdrew slowly from the immediate vicinity of the frontier to their main defences in the fortified Metaxas line, some distance back, in accordance with prearranged plans, neutral military observers said. The Italians were said to be far from this line.

These observers expressed belief the Greeks could hold their main defences, commanding the narrow mountain passes which the Fascist legions must negotiate to offer a real threat to this kingdom.

No Air Activity

With the first Italian drive under way there virtually was no Fascist air activity reported yesterday and up to noon today. No raids were reported anywhere in Greece during the day and the only raid yesterday was said to have been on Ionnina, a city of 25,000 population.

(The Rome radio broadcast a virtual promise that Italy would refrain from bombing Athens so long as Rome is spared from aerial attack. The radio denied that the Greek capital had been raided.

(The Admiralty in London announced the British navy carrying aid to Greece, had mined approaches to ports on both the east and west coasts of Greece. The announcement said portions of the Gulf of Corinth and Patras had been mined and that a minefield had been sown in waters north of the Island of Crete, including the approach to Piraeus, port of Athens.

(The British information office in Ankara, Turkey, said British naval detachments had landed on Crete and the island of Cephalonia south of Corfu. London sources denied that troops had been landed on the Greek islands, and said they had no information about the naval landings.)

Information from usually reliable sources in the Dodecanese islands said some 500 Italian soldiers had been killed in a recent British naval bombardment of the Italian fortified island of Skarpanto.

(This attack may have been the one the Admiralty announced on Skarpanto by its Mediterranean fleet early in September. Another of the Dodecanese group, Stampalia, has been both shelled and bombed lately.)

Margaree Casualty List Is Revised

OTTAWA, Oct. 30—(CP)—Naval Service Headquarters tonight issued a revised list of casualties and survivors of the sinking of the Canadian destroyer Margaree, showing that one man previously reported missing and believed dead is safe in Britain, listing three additional casualties and reporting three additional survivors.

The revisions listed the total number of casualties reported in the Margaree disaster to 142 officers and men.

AB. F. Millan, previously reported missing after the Margaree went down following a collision Oct. 22 in the North Atlantic, did not sail aboard the destroyer and is still in the United Kingdom, the statement disclosed. His wife, Mrs. Mary R. Millan, lives in Victoria.

Millan's official number is 2711. He is a member of the Royal Navy.

The three men added to the original casualty list as missing are believed killed, with official number and next of kin, are:—

Leading Stoker H. Brockway, R. N., PKX-66783, (next of kin, unlisted, notified by British Admiralty.)

Leading Stoker G. F. Jaines, R.N., PKX-88543, (next of kin, unlisted, notified by British Admiralty.)

Signalman W. J. Reading, R.C.N., 3634, Mrs. H. Reading (mother) Bickle, Kent, Eng.

The three men added to the original survivor list, with official number and next of kin, are:—

Lieut. H. V. Gordon, R.N.V.R., (official number and next of kin unlisted, notified by British Admiralty.)

The guard had a special value in stiffening the ranks and in setting an example for the younger men. It could do certain work and release younger members of the Active Service Force for duties which especially suited them. "You are just as much in the army as if you were on the battlefield," he told the veterans.

He praised the work the commanding officer, Major R. H. Duvar and his associates were doing.

The Minister made a brief inspection of the bombing and gunnery school under construction at the Charlottetown airport before boarding a Canadian Airways plane for Moncton.

The Defence Minister was accompanied here by Col. A. A. Magee, executive assistant to the Minister, Major G. P. Morrison of the Adjutant-General's Department and Major G. E. Leighton, press liaison officer.

Is Pleased

MONCTON, N.B., Oct. 30—(CP)—"I am tremendously pleased with what I have seen during the present trip to the Maritimes," Defence Minister Ralston said today before entraining for Ottawa.

"We are driving ahead as hard as possible. The spirit of the men is particularly keen and the main thing seems to be for us to keep up to them with equipment and materials. If we do that our effort will be quite satisfactory."

Arriving here by plane in conclusion of a Maritime tour, the Defence Minister today inspected air developments at Charlottetown and Summerside, P.E.I., and Moncton. He also inspected the N.P.A.M. training camp at Charlottetown.

or to "the principle of collaboration."

"Means," he said, "will be discussed later."

This added nothing to the official announcement which followed the Petain-Hitler conference of last Friday. He disclosed that in return France will benefit thus:—

"In the near future the weight of suffering laid on our country can be lightened.

"The plight of our prisoners (there are some 2,000,000 French prisoners of war) can be bettered.

"Occupational expenses (France now must pay Germany more than $8,000,000 a day for German occupation) can be lightened."

"The line of demarcation (between occupied and unoccupied France) can be rendered less rigid."

"Administration and feeding of the territory can be facilitated."

The Marshal said he accepted Hitler's invitation to confer of his own free will and that "this policy is mine; my ministers are responsible only to me."

(This appeared to be an oblique reference to vice-premier Pierre Laval, who initiated the negotiations with the Germans).

"It was with honor and to maintain the unity of France—the unity of 10 centuries—in the framework of the constructive activity of the new European order that I entered into the path of collaboration," he said.

The armistice under which France survives, Petain said, is not a final peace, and France is controlled by a conqueror.

"At least," he said, "our sovereignty remains. "This sovereignty demands defence of our soil, the stamping out of differences of opinion, and the reduction of dissidence in our colonies."

To Concentrate On U.S. Designs In Air Craft

(By Devon Francis, Associated Press Aviation Editor)

NEW YORK, Oct. 30—(AP)—A decision by the Canadian Government to concentrate all Dominion aircraft production on planes of United States design, which might have far-reaching effects on defence of the western hemisphere, was reported in United States aviation circles this week.

The plan, broached to at least two United States airplane plants, looks toward the gradual abandonment of British-design machines.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of calomel but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

that the vessel was nine days overdue.

While the Navy messages did not say the men were "presumed lost" it was indicated naval authorities feared the worst for the crew of the vessel which last June captured the Italian freighter Capo Noli in the St. Lawrence River.

There has been nothing to indicate her fate. But the Navy statement emphasized the stormy weather in the area where the Bras d'Or was operating.

The Bras d'Or left Clark City, Que., Oct. 18. She was last seen in the Gaspe Passage the next day, steaming through a snow storm.

No communication has been received since but naval ships as a rule don't send messages in wartime. However, when the vessel failed to arrive at its destination, alarm was felt and as the days slipped by with no report it was decided she had met with a mishap.

Weather conditions in the area which the ship was to sail were described by naval headquarters as mose severe. There were heavy gales and snow.

"The search will continue until the vessel is found or until it is considered that hope should be abandoned," naval headquarters stated.

The only official statement on the subject was made last June by Hon. Charles D. Howe, then Minister of Munitions, in the House of Commons.

The Magazine "Aviation" this month estimated 17,000 persons are employed now in all fields of Canadian aircraft production, exclusive of an assembly company working on British war orders. By 1941, it said, 360 warplanes a month will be coming from Canada's plants.

Willkie Turns Guns On Two Ambassadors

ABOARD WILLKIE TRAIN EN ROUTE TO BALTIMORE, Oct. 30 —(AP) —Wendell L. Willkie asserted today that two American ambassadors are back in the United States "making cheap political speeches" and "like candidates for constable, seeking to have their jobs retained."

The Republican presidential nominee told a station audience in Clarksburg, W. Va., that New Dealers are contending the only question involved in the campaign is foreign policy "and that by some black magic this one man (President Roosevelt) understands foreign affairs better than anyone else."

"This is the most critical period in European history," Willkie continued "and this man who is supposed to be so interested in foreign affairs has only one ambassador on the job today in the four principal countries of Europe, and that is in Moscow.

"The ambassador to England, to the Court of St. James and the ambassador to France are back here making cheap political speeches to retain their jobs, like any other political hirelings

"You have a man who stands and says: 'I understand international affairs. I have nothing but your interest at heart. I have to engage in military inspection trips. My campaign trips are interfered with because I have to call up my secretary of state a dozen times a day.'

"He must have to call up the Secretary of State, because he couldn't call up the ambassadors. They are not on the job. They are like candidates for constable, seeking to have their jobs retained."

Willkie, stopping on his way to Baltimore for a major address tonight, told his Clarksburg listeners that President Roosevelt had said in the 1932 campaign that he still retained his sense of humor and his sense of proportion.

"The sense of humor has gone," Willkie asserted.

"Surely in this year 1940 we do not want to begin the doctrine of the permanent ruler in these United States."

During a stop at Grafton, W. Va., Willkie said that while the United States has a stake in affairs abroad, "I want to look, when I am in Washington, toward the mid-continent rather than always across the seas."
