The Right Drink for Outdoor Boys!

Active, growing children need the concentrated nutriment of prime lean beef which Oxo provides in readily assimilable form. It gives them a reserve of strength and stamina. Serve Oxo as bouillon after school and play. Add it to the children's gravies, stews and hashes, and see them grow strong and sturdy.

POWNAW

Mr. Elmer Jones who spent the last few years in Western Canada has returned to his home in Pownaw. Mrs. Jones will join him later.

The "Snowbird" driven and owned by Mr. Cyril Jones made a trip to Charlottetown Monday night during the big storm and returned with some daily mail. This reminds one of a remark made by a gentleman of a near-by district, "I'll do, 'I'll do," and it surely does go where nothing else will, and what it can do is wonderful.

The many friends of Mrs. Ilet Richards, Mt. Mellick, will be sorry to learn of her serious illness.

On Thursday evening the W. M. S. and prayer service met in conjunction at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Johnson, Pownaw Village. A goodly number of members were present also a number of neighbours and other interested friends and a profitable time of christian fellowship was enjoyed by all. After the religious exercises were brought to a close a delightful sing song was enjoyed. A pleasing feature at this time was the serving of a delightful lunch which the Baptist ladies of Alexandra know how to serve. Prior to their departure Mr. Earl Jenkins in a few appropriate words said "We are tonight celebrating the sixtieth anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Judson's wedding day, which falls on Feb. 13th. Then Mrs. Boswell Jenkins on behalf of the friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Judson presented them with a substantial sum of money. Mr. Judson fittingly replied. After a few brief remarks by others and the singing of "Blest Be the Tie That Binds" and Benediction by the pastor a pleasant evening closed.

Many of her Island friends will read with regret of the passing of Mrs. Marion Dingman of Calgary, Alta. The deceased was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John F. MacLeod, Ulge, and sister of Mrs. Nathaniel Gage of Pownaw and Mrs. Colin Bruce, Vernon River, P. E. I. also Mrs. K. M. Jenkins, New Glasgow, N. S. Mrs. Clarence MacLeod, Dorchester, Mass.; Mrs. Leslie Walker Fernie, B. C., Argaret Isabelle, teacher in Vancouver. The following are the brothers: Jack, Will and Alex. of Athabasca, Alta, and Sandy Crystal City, Man.

There are also left to mourn their irreparable loss four children in the teaching profession and three sons, Jeffery, Harold and Orwell, the latter being named after the old home on P. E. I. To the bereaved we offer sincere sympathy.

The Misses Helen Peters and Lona Herman spent Sunday afternoon with Miss Rheta Gay.

Mr. Harold Smith has just returned from Toronto, where he was, in the interests of the Sun Life Insurance business.

The Misses Winnie and Ila Robertson, Birch Hill were visitors in Pownaw on Sunday.

Mrs. oBewell Jenkins, Cross oads, is spending her holidays very pleasantly in Kingsboro and Red Point.

Mr. Albert Bruce, Waterside, spent the week end in Birch Hill.

The present thaw has made the roads here almost impassable. The pitches are so numerous and so deep there is danger of staying in them. No doubt we will soon have a snow storm which will make us forget the dugouts.

PETERS ROAD AND VICINITY

Since the recent storm and consequent snow blockade in eastern Canada, the prevailing winds have continued steadily from the N. E. This particular wind has the reputation of being akin to the one that put Jonah in the doldrums as he awaited the fate of the great city—Ninevah.

Mrs. Lyle Beaton who has been visiting at the home of her relatives Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Beaton, Peters Road, has returned to her home at Halifax, N. S.

Mr. Vernon Beaton, now resident in St. Catharines, Ont, is spending a few days at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Beaton, Peters Road. Mr. Beaton expected to be home in time to attend the funeral of his grandfather, the late Neil B. Johnston, but on account of the slow travelling was unable to do so. He holds a good position in St. Catharines, with the J. S. Porter Co., Pier and Trestle construction.

Miss Hazel Johnston, of Malden, Mass, arrived at her home Peters Road on the occasion of the illness and death of her father, Mr. Neil B. Johnston.

Mrs. Stanley Sutherland of Toronto is now spending her vacation at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Butler, Peters Road.

Mr. George A. Macdonald, Peters cad, has installed an up-to-date Radio in his residence. This is truly an age of wonderful achievement, when the thought of peoples remote by distance are assembled within your hearing, and the whole world made kin—religiously, scientifically, and industrially—and the end is not yet.

The existing "depression" is indeed a world-wide one extending to climes far removed from our fair Dominion. One hears of the toppling over of the man-made citadels of commerce, a changed situation in the world of trade. The dawn of a new era which had failed to obtain at the close of the Great World War has now descended upon the nations—rates are down. Retrenchment is now the watchword for a time.

The resolutions and suggestions given in the Annual Meeting of the Egg and Poultry Association may seem at first difficult of solution, but I believe they may be carried out if the patrons are willing to assist.

Canadian Trade Mission At The Port Of Spain

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad, March 4.—Spending a day in Port of Spain, their last call before touching the South American continent, the large Canadian good will and trade mission to South America was tendered a reception by the Port of Spain Chamber of Commerce today. The increasing trade between Canada and Trinidad, and the interests of both within the Empire, were dealt with by several speakers in the course of the cordial discussions.

The party later visited the agricultural show, while official members of the delegation were tendered a luncheon by Sir Alfred Claud Hollis Governor of Trinidad and Tobago. Leaving this evening on board their steamer the Prince Robert, the Canadians will not stop before reaching Pernambuco, Brazil, on Saturday.

The belief that an increase in scientific agricultural methods in Trinidad and Tobago would result in an increase in the island's purchasing power was expressed by Fred Grant, chairman of the Port of Spain Chamber of Commerce. He described the steamship service instituted by the Canadian National Steamship as a monument of goodwill.

The islands would have a larger exhibit at the Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto, Ont., next Autumn, Mr Grant promised. He also prophesied that a West Indies trade commissioner would be established in Canada by the end of the year.

Brothers Together

"We are brothers together, by trade and interest," said Sir George Perley, representing the Canadian Government. He agreed the inauguration of the steamship service was an imperial gesture and lauded the Canadian enterprises that have been established in Trinidad.

Col. J. H. Woods, of Calgary, President of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, expressed the joint imperial aspirations of Canada and the West Indies, and invited the West Indies Chamber of Commerce to attend the convention of Canadian Chamber at Regina, Sask., next September.

President Huggins, of the West Indies Chamber deprecated the traditional free trade policy of England, declaring his belief that inter-imperial trade was a better policy.

Elmer Davis, of Kingston, President of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, wound up the discussion with the statement that the time has arrived for closer relationships between Canada and the West Indies.

BANDIT HELPS SICK VICTIM

SEATTLE, Mar. 4.—Polite and considerate while binding his victims, a bandit even administered aid to W. E. Dightman when the excitement of the holdup caused Dightman to have a heart attack. The intruder had tied Dightman and his wife to chairs in their home, and he gave his victim medicine when the heart attack became evident.

THE CALL OF THE WEST

Did you ever stand out on the prairies, The great open spaces to greet— Where the sky on the distant horizon Arcs down to be kissed by the wheat?

Were your cheeks ever kissed by the zephyrs, That fan golden wheat in the breeze Till it waves and it rolls like the ocean With rhythm and charm on its waterless seas?

Did you ever gaze out in the silence Beneath God's blue canopy high— Where the moonlight revealed in the distance The Rockies, outlined in the sky?

Was your soul ever thrilled in that vastness, And your heart leaped enthralled in your breast— As you thanked the great God in His heavens For creating the wilds and the plains of the west?

Out there, you're alone, yes alone— but together, With the friends of the Northland, so rare— With the coyote, the 'gofer' and badger The pheasant, wild turkey and hare.

Yes, together, we stand in the silence As it blows from the cold Arctic circle Of icebergs and snow—and the Northern Lights glare.

What mysteries are wrapped in the Northland, From the Red River's head to the sea that is cold— And dashes its foam on the rocks of Alaska As men trailed the Yukon in search of its gold.

Weird phantoms are trailing the crags of the mountains— Silently marching to Dawson—in death— For their bodies were frozen—their spirits departed— As the gold siren called, and is calling them yet.

SEATTLE, Mar. 4.—Polite and considerate while binding his victims, a bandit even administered aid to W. E. Dightman when the excitement of the holdup caused Dightman to have a heart attack. George Arliss' "Old English" Thrills Crowd

Yesterdays audiences at the Prince Edward Theatre enthusiastically applauded George Arliss in his latest and possibly his most brilliant characterization, "Old English."

Those who have followed the career of this superb actor, and who has net, will remember many varying and always memorable portrayals—Pagani, the Devil, Professor Goodwillie, Disraeli, the Rajah of Rukh, and now last and most complex of all, Sylvanus Heithorpe in "Old English."

The John Galsworthy play from which "Old English" is adapted, gives a clever and intensely human story to begin with. Alfred E. Green who directed "Disraeli" and the "Green Goddess" directs, and George Arliss puts into the part all the experience gained in the long climb "Up the Years From Bloomsbury"—as he styles his recently published autobiography.

"Old English" is the nickname of an aged, wily, beef-eating, wine-guzzling loveable old rascal, who, in order to benefit a grand-daughter, goes into some rather shady operations with startling results. The support is excellent with Mr. Arliss dominant in a performance which everyone who cares for great acting should see.

THE SWALLOW

Written for Save the Birds Column

On lightning wings he takes his flight Thro' air's illimitable space; Now to the left, now to the right He darts, with ease and grace.

With wings outspread, he rises high Above the towering mountain tops Then, like meteor from the sky, As suddenly he drops.

In playful mode, now skims the earth, Then, frolics o'er the raging deep, On tireless wings, he seeks new mirth, Till night, brings rest and sleep.

Laurie and Ronnie, brothers of eight and six respectively, were in the habit of saving a part of their supper for consumption the next morning, and in accordance with this custom, two small cakes had been placed in the pantry for them. The following morning Ronnie, being first up, and hungry, went to the pantry. He found only one cake and a large piece had been bitten out of that. Full of wrath, he went upstairs and roused his brother. "Laurie," he demanded, "I want to know who took that big bite out of my cake. "I did" sleepily answered Laurie. "What did you do that for?" "Well, when I tasted it I found it was your cake, and so I ate the other one!"
