In Memoriam

JOHN F. LAVIE

On Thursday, April 10th, Mr. John F. Lavie passed away at his home in Souris after a comparatively short illness. Mr. Lavie was born in Souris on October 29, 1871.

In his earlier years Mr. Lavie held a responsible position with a Pledriver concern in Boston, and worked on many wharves and bridges in and around that City. During his stay in Boston he met and married Martha Cantwell, formerly of Charlottetown. This was a marriage of which they could justly be proud; such harmony, consideration and co-operation as existed between these two people was a fine example of a successful marriage. After returning to Souris to care for his aging parents, he was employed by Matthew & McLean for thirty-five years as boss lobster packer. In which field he was unsurpassed. He was also owner and operator of a thriving tinmith business and there is probably no one on the East end of the Island who has not at one time or another visited Jack in his shop.

Mr. Lavie was a faithful member of St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church. Father J. A. Murphy, Rector of the Church visited him regularly during his illness and his visits were a great source of comfort.

As a Citizen and neighbour, Mr. Lavie was outstanding for his public spiritedness and his generosity in contributing his time and ability to any worth-while project.

He is survived by his wife and seven children: Harold of Dorchester, Mass.; Mrs. Clarence Dolron of Jamaica Plain, Mass.; Mrs. Ralph Creemer of Palmouth, Mass.; Mrs. Percy Clinton of Souris, Mass.; Mrs. Joseph Slatery of Halifax, N. S.; and Mrs. Gregory Dolron of Brockville, Ont. One son, William predeceased him in 1938.

The funeral was held on Saturday morning with a Requiem High Mass sung by Father J. A. Murphy. The pall bearers were: Mr. Michael Fitzpatrick, Mr. Vernon Fraser, Mr. George Campbell, Mr. Sterling Gillespie, Mr. J. Peter McPhee and Mr. Alex McDonald.

MONTREAL, May 5 — (CP) — Paul Nite, alias Ned, 22, surrendered to Provincial Police here today after being sought for questioning in connection with the $85,000 robbery at the St. Hyacinthe, Que., plant of Theodore Phoenix Flour Mills Limited two weeks ago.

Two other men, Leopold Lambert and Peter Stephanoff, were arrested in connection with the robbery in Windsor, Ont., last week and pleaded not guilty at their arraignment at St. Hyacinthe.

The three men were released on bail a short time before the trial of the St. Hyacinthe theft pending their trial on a charge of committing a $75,000 robbery at a New Cascadia, Que., bank last summer.

14 at Sacred Heart Hospital and two at Allenborough General since March 1. All the victims were less than one year old, most of them only days or weeks, he added.

A Sacred Heart Hospital official, declining use of his name, said there had been 10 deaths at the hospital since March 15 when seven infants all of gastro-enteritis were admitted from other hospitals in the Lehigh Valley community.

Temple, which had sent out a call for rush shipments of the new drug streptomycin, said today that adequate supplies had been received but doctors declined to express an opinion on whether it will be proved effective against the disease.

PHILADELPHIA, May 5 — (AP) — Twenty infant deaths since March 1 were blamed today on an outbreak at Allenborough, Pa., of a mysterious form of diarrhoea from which doctors say there is no known cure.

However, Temple University Hospital, where 13 sufferers from gastro-enteritis have been brought from the eastern Pennsylvania city, said a special staff of doctors and nurses working in an isolated ward apparently are making progress in their battle. All of the children were reported in "good" condition and the hospital said the prospect of additional fatalities was "considerably lightened."

Four children died here during the week-end, all from a group of 17 babies brought to Temple hospital after Sacred Heart Hospital at Allenborough ordered its maternity ward closed and evacuated.

Dr. Frederick R. Bausch, Allenborough health officer, said his records of gastro-enteritis deaths showed,

CROP REPORT

WINNIPEG, May 5—Seeding is delayed over the whole prairie area this year, due to unseasonable cold weather and extremely good moisture conditions. It will not become general for another ten days to two weeks. Reports indicate there will be a slight decrease in what acreage with a corresponding small increase in acreage sown to coarse grains. Livestock appears to have wintered well over the whole area in spite of the severe winter. Farm labor and machinery are sufficient to put in this year's crop, according to the first weekly crop report of the Department of Agriculture of the Canadian National Railways.

Very little seeding has been done so far in Southern Manitoba due to the unseasonably cold weather in April. The land is still quite wet and it is expected to be another week to ten days before seeding becomes general. Reports are insufficient to give a good picture of the increases or decreases to be expected in different crop acreages for the coming season. No seeding has been done in Northern Manitoba and indications are that it will be ten days to two weeks before much work is done on the land. The supply of farm labor for the most part is quite adequate. The farm machinery situation is better than that last year but there is still a big demand for new equipment.

There are reports of isolated seeding in Southern Saskatchewan but it will not become general for another ten days to two weeks. Moisture conditions in the whole area are excellent. Indications are for a 10 to 15 per cent decrease in wheat production with a corresponding increase in coarse grain production. Moisture conditions are good in Central Saskatchewan, and in most places the land is too wet to allow seeding to become general for another ten days.

In Northern Saskatchewan seeding will not become general till about the 15th of May. Moisture conditions are good. Little change is expected in the wheat acreage but a slight increase is expected in coarse grain productions at the expense of summerfallow acreage.

Southern Alberta reports indicate that it will be a week to ten days before the seeding is general, largely due to wet ground. A decrease of 5 to 15 per cent in wheat acreage is indicated with a corresponding increase in coarse grain. Some shortages of farm help and machinery are reported from the southwest part of the province. Moisture conditions are very good in the Edmonton area. Wet land is holding up seeding, which will be from one to two weeks later than last year. The supply of machinery appears good with the exception of tractors are in short supply.

Northern Alberta reports indicate that moisture conditions are very good. There are scattered reports of seeding and it is expected to become general by the beginning of next week. Wheat and oat acreages will be about the same, but a heavy increase in coarse grain is expected on the new breaking.
