 ENJOYABLE GATHERING—As a sequel to the Scottish concert which was held in the Oddfellows Hall, Montague, on Thursday evening, Jan. 24th, under the auspices of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, and which was pronounced the best ever held in these parts, the members of the choir of this church and others whose kindness in taking part in the concert was greatly appreciated, gathered at the home of one of the Montague parishioners on Wednesday, Jan. 30th, to while away a pleasant evening and to share that spirit of conviviality which is ever found within the sacred precincts of the church. The evening was a most enjoyable one. Owing to the extreme cold, a large number of members were unable to attend, including those from the country who had to drive any distance, however, the usual procedure incident to an occasion of this sort was fully carried out and a most enjoyable evening was spent. A beautifully rendered solo by the new pastor, the Rev. Mr. Hughes, who was present for a short while, and who possesses a voice of impressive range and sweetness, lent a decided lustre to the occasion, as did also a Gaelic song. A delicious luncheon was served. At a reasonable hour when affairs of such an uplifting nature as this one invariably draw to a close, those doubtless sharing the sentiments of the Psalmist inasmuch that it were good to have been present.

Sees Wonderful Possibilities in Canada's Northland
 The life of hardship and privation of the old-time prospector, immortalized in the "sour-dough" ballads of Robert Service, is fast becoming a tradition in the far Canadian North-west. It is still a "hard" country, where grit and perseverance are essential virtues, but the vast expansion of mining activities, the development of air transportation and the introduction of such conveniences as wireless and the radio, have effected a tremendous change in the country in recent years. So reports Mr. Ulrich, president of the Federal Government's Arctic Council, in a report issued last week. Mr. Arsenault, Summerdale, and nephew of Mr. Justice A. E. Arsenault, who is vacationing here after his experience in the Northwest extending back to 1921.

DESCRIBES BATTLE WITH FLAMES AT SEA
 Captain of Tanker Valverde Gives Vivid Account of Near Tragedy.
 (C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) HAMILTON, Bermuda, Feb. 1.—(C. P. Cable)—A dramatic battle with flames at sea while a gallery of man-eating sharks waited after day for the retreat of British mariners who never retreated was described here tonight by Captain T. C. Thomas after the disabled tanker Valverde had been towed in harbor by two naval tugs. "It would have been bad if we had been forced to take to the sea," declared the British skipper. "We could see nothing but sharks around us—waiting and increasing in numbers daily as fire threatened the ship."
 Lifeboats Burned
 "We had only one lifeboat that could be used. The other four went up in flames as the flames gutted the engine-room and after part of the poop deck."
 Third engineer R. Taylor was burned to death and fifth engineer J. Mann was badly injured shortly after the tanker was towed to harbor. On duty when the fire was reported, the patrol dished out of the engine room into a wall of flame.
 "Sweeping through the engine-room the flames pushed out over a funnel and spread aft as if blown by an acetylene torch," said Captain Thomas.

Non - Aggression Pacts Favored By Poland
 (C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) WARSAW, Feb. 1.—Foreign Minister Joseph Beck today extolled the Franco-Italian projects for European non-aggression pacts safeguarding Austrian independence and the Danubian frontiers. He said they were "in line with Poland's traditional policies."
 Speaking before the diet, he refrained from committing Poland definitely to accept plans recently drafted by Premier Benito Mussolini and Foreign Minister Pierre Laval of France at Rome, but emphasized Poland's keen interest in the proposed "Eastern Locarno."

United States Awaits Ruling On Gold Plant
 WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—Whether Norman C. Norman, a New York city jeweller, should receive $22.50 or $38.10 as interest on a $1,000,000 gold plant, Baltimore and Ohio Railway, will be argued by the Supreme Court of the United States, which resumes sittings Monday.
 The difference is not $16.60 but billions of dollars, and whether Mr. Norman will get $22.50 or $38.10 is a matter affecting many more persons than Mr. Norman. It affects the people of the United States and the markets of the world. For in passing on Mr. Norman's nominally simple case, the nation's highest court is called upon to rule valid or invalid the kernel of President Franklin D. Roosevelt's "new deal"—the devaluation of the United States dollar.
 A law case the Norman case calls for a showdown on the devalued dollar. The gold content of the dollar was reduced to 95 cents by the Roosevelt administration. But in bonds aggregating many billions of dollars, the new famous gold clause—a promise to pay interest in gold or its equivalent—should the court rule that this means gold, to put it simply, the nation's dollar and the United States itself—may be ruined. It will be in a quandary to pay it. The decision may not be a simple yes or no. There are many possibilities outside of the ruling of the gold clause; should the gold clause be upheld, the government may get around it by amendments to the constitution. The verdict, in informed circles, is confidently expected to be a split ruling, possibly 5 to 4 between the venerable Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, and his eight black-robed colleagues of the country's highest bench.
 Be that as it may, the government has used its highest guns in the fight against the appeal of the New York City jeweller from adverse decisions in lesser courts. The E. and O. high-priced attorneys have been backed by the Attorney-General of the United States, Homer S. Cummings, who told the impassive judges in argument last month the gold clause "is a squatter on the public domain."
 It is this way: "Private contracts may not fetter governmental action in the fields allotted to it by the constitution." If the gold clause were permitted to stand, he added, "we would have a proposition of having a constitutional power but being unable to exercise it because of the private contracts held by individuals."
 He said that progress towards an international agreement which would lay down in unequivocal language that in the matter of currency this country is denied no power that would prevent it from

YESTERDAY IN PARLIAMENT
BILL TO LIMIT INTEREST RATE
 (C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) OTTAWA, Feb. 1.—George Coote, United Farmer member for MacLeod introduced a bill in the House of Commons today to limit interest rates. The central interest rate would be limited to seven percent and the mortgage rate, 4 percent. Under the interest act as it stands, there is no limit, any interest rate being collectable that is mutually agreeable. The farm member introduced a similar bill last year.

P.)—A Dominion cheque for $23,320 in favour of Ontario, the Federal government's part of relief expenditures by the province, municipalities and townships, covering the period from April 1 to September, 1934, has been issued. It was stated in an order-in-council tabled today in the House of Commons by Minister of Finance Edgar N. Rhodes.
BILL TO AMEND RAILWAY ACT
 OTTAWA, Feb. 1.—(C. P.)—Notice of intention to introduce a bill to amend the railway act was given today in the House of Commons by A. W. Neill (Ind. Comox-Alberni).
 The purpose of the bill is to apply provisions of the railway act to water carriage of goods and passengers in the same way as the railway companies are subject to decisions of the board of railway commissioners.
 Under these provisions freight rates and passenger tariffs would have to be approved by the railway board which would have supervisory powers and points of call. It suggests merely that company operations as public utilities shall be subject to the same supervision as railways are now.

Third Reading Given British Shipping Bill
 (C. P. Cable by Guardian's Special Wire) LONDON, Feb. 1.—A bill providing a subsidy of $10,000,000 for tramp shipping was read today in the House of Commons, presided over by the Earl of Rotherham. It was stated that the subsidy should be utilized in an effort to secure greater employment of British vessels at the expense of foreign subsidized vessels.
 Mr. Rotherham told the House of Commons that the subsidy should not be dissipated by unreasonable competition amongst British ship-owners. He said the ship-owners should press foreign ship-owners to co-operate in order to obtain an adjustment of the supply of the world's shipping to the demand.
 J. P. Dick, national Liberal, rejoiced that the bill stopped the sale of ships to foreigners, a policy he described as "suicidal."

TRADING LIGHT ON NEW YORK MART
 (By Frank MacMillan, Associated Press Financial Writer) NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—The trading fraternity drew a little further into its shell today and appeared to hibernate, even though one eye may have been cocked toward Washington and the coming Supreme Court gold decision.
 The dribbling liquidation that came into stocks and commodities had more the appearance of cautious adjustment of positions pending a possible gold ruling Monday than of any real fear of its outcome.
 On the whole, however, declines were rather unimportant and there were plenty of plus signs in individual issues. The Associated Press averages for 60 stocks recorded 2 of a point at 36.6 cents. Turnover was restricted at 494,180 shares.
 A loss of nearly two points in Ford of Canada 6 was the principal change in the Canadian list. Ford A was up a fraction, Canadian Pacific, Hiram Walker, and Lake Shore improved fractionally while losses of similar proportions occurred in such issues as Dome Mines, International Nickel, McIntyre-Porcupine, Noranda and Hollinger.
 Reports of committees were then given and new committees appointed, namely, School Committee, Mrs. L. A. Ross, Mrs. F. J. Halliday, Mrs. Moore, Entertainment Committee, Mrs. F. J. Halliday and Mrs. P. Penny.
 Two questionnaires were discussed on "Public Health" and "Child Welfare," two more to be discussed at next meeting.
