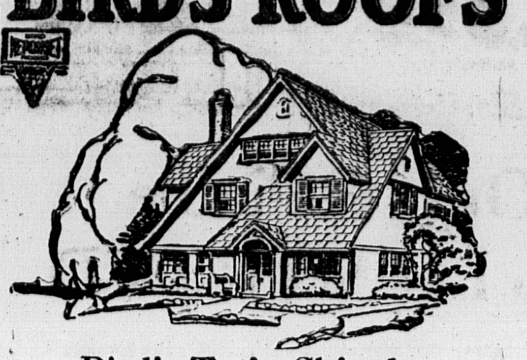
BIRD'S ROOFS



Bird's Twin Shingles Please the Pocket Book as Well as the Eye

Bird's Neponset Twin Shingles are attractive in appearance and give the look of prosperity to the residence, bungalow or cottage.

These shingles measure 12¾ in. long x 20 in. wide, and when applied the entire roof surface is covered with three layers of material—self-spacing—two shingles in one—can be laid rapidly with a saving of time, labor and nails. Made of the same materials as Bird's Paroid Roofing.

Bird's Canadian Twin Shingles

Made from similar materials as Bird's Neponset Twins, but measure 20 ins. by 10 ins., less material, therefore less cost. Slate surfaced, red or green.

Drop in and let's get down to figures. We will gladly show you that it is to your advantage to roof with Bird's Twin Shingles.

American Swims English Channel

(Canadian Press)

DOVER, Aug. 7.—Observers who were in the boat that accompanied Henry Sullivan on his swim across the channel, say that the American athlete showed a marvellous degree of dogged determination in the final stages of the long grind. He had the misfortune to meet one strong tide, which delayed his time to a great extent. When he touched bottom safely on French shore he staggered as though intoxicated, but when he was offered help from a boat he declined and staggered ashore. He was awarded the prize offered of £1,000.

BUSINESS GOOD—On the way to the convention of the Retail Merchants Association, Mr. W. A. Stewart, of Charlottetown, stated to The Transcript that business had been picking up for some time in the Island Province. This was due in part to the large number of tourists who had come from the United States for the summer months. "No decline is expected in business circles," he went on to say, "as the lobster fishing and the fisheries in general have been beyond expectations. The farmers report that the crops will be good and no trouble is expected in harvesting them. We are looking forward to a good fall and winter business." —Moncton Transcript.

Fluctuating Mark Causes Serious Unrest In Germany

(Canadian Press)

BERLIN, Aug. 7.—Utter confusion prevailed in the retail situation in all lines in Greater Berlin today due to the continued plunging of the mark and the consequent rise of the dollar.

While the food situation continues to show a chronic shortage in ordinary staples hourly rises of prices caused by the fluctuating of the mark are projecting a new and serious element into the situation.

As the retailers are withdrawing their wares from sale whenever the customers refuse to pay prices based on the gold mark or the dollar units, many shops have already shut down, barricaded their doors and emptied their windows of all displays.

Once the Government succeeds in putting its reform measures into practical operation, private trade and commerce are expected to adapt themselves to the new order, thus completing the job of permanently jettisoning the paper mark.

The Government virtually has abandoned all further attempts to "peg" the mark, or save it from the abysmal plunge and proposes to make the recently floated international gold loans the crux of the new national currency.

::Its Quality Sells It.—The fact that so many thousands of intelligent people continue to use Dr Thomas Eclectric Oil speaks volumes for its healing efficiency. Ever since it was first introduced it has grown steadily in public favor owing entirely to its manifold usefulness in relieving and healing sickness. As a specific for cuts burns, scalds, and various inflammatory pains its record is beyond reproach.

President Coolidge To Carry Out Policies Of Harding

WASHINGTON, August 7.—The statement by President Coolidge that it would be his purpose to carry out the policies of President Harding was accepted by official Washington as confirmation of the belief held here that there would be no radical changes in governmental activities under the new administration of affairs. Mr. Coolidge throughout his service as Vice-President, has been looked upon as a follower of and believer in the conservative policies which President Harding advocated and some have contended that he was even less susceptible to the counsel of those who preached the more radical doctrines.

Where the international problems are concerned, Mr. Coolidge has shown in his public utterances that he is not an "isolationist" and that his mind turns towards the proposal for American participation in a world court as advocated by President Harding and Secretary Hughes. In connection with domestic problems, he is a staunch advocate of the Republican tariff and an opponent of radical tax legislation of the kind sought by the radical forces in the party which would restore the excess profits taxes and place other tax burdens on the business interests of the nation. There is every reason to believe, therefore, that no severe upheaval will occur so far as the White House is concerned during the nineteen months before the next inauguration.

The attitude which President Coolidge will take toward demands for a special session of Congress, to give relief to the agricultural districts, and to provide for Government intervention in the event that amicable agreement is not reached in the anthracite coal mining districts is a question of large interest which was much discussed here today.

There apparently is reason to expect that Mr. Coolidge will elect to follow the policy of President Harding and Secretary of State Hughes in the attitude to be taken by this Government toward the Ruhr settlement. Mr. Coolidge has said comparatively little regarding international relations in his public addresses, but he has on several occasions indicated his desire to see American foreign commerce built up. For this reason, he naturally disires to see conditions return to normal in Central Europe, and while it is not believed he would be willing to attempt any drastic role in an effort at effecting a settlement in the Ruhr, he certainly wishes to see the question settled and doubtless would be willing to co-operate within certain limits.

The so-called "open door" policy or doctrine of equal opportunity is understood to have the support of President Coolidge, and it is expected that under his administration Mr. Hughes would be permitted to continue his fight for the "open door" particularly in the mandated territories. In a like manner, the new President probably will make no attempt to interfere in the negotiations now in progress looking to a new commercial treaty with Turkey, particularly since these negotiations have already progressed a considerable distance and there is apparently nothing in the attitude taken by Mr. Hughes which is at variance with the known policies of Mr. Coolidge.

Canoe Building Concerns Amalgamate

(Canadian Press)

FREDERICTON, N. B., Aug. 7.—The consummation of a merger of the largest canoe building plants in Canada has been revealed in a request to the city council to have a lease on the site of the factory of the Chestnut Canoe Company the biggest plant of its kind in the British empire given to the new controlling company to be known as the Canadian Water Craft Company Limited.

The Chestnut Canoe Company and the Peterboro Canoe Company Limited have been merged into the new company which has been incorporated under the Dominion charter with an authorized capitalization of $1,000.00.

Marriage Tangle Very Involved

PARIS, Aug. 7.—The world's most involved marriage tangle has just been heard, but not solved by the French courts.

Mrs. Legion, in 1914 married a Colonel H. of the English army, and became the bride in 1914, while still living in England of a Frenchman Monsieur A. Monsieur A. in 1919 took a second wife in France, and when the first wife started divorce proceedings he presented the defence that the woman he wed in 1914 was still the wife of Colonel H.

The plaintiff responded that as Colonel H., when he married her in 1914, already had a wife, their marriage was invalid; consequently she was the legal wife of Monsieur A.

To this Monsieur A. replied that the woman he married in 1914 represented herself as a widow, and this deceit annulled the contract.

The Court of Appeals refused the plea of Monsieur A., and declared, moreover, that by an interpretation of English law the state of marriage never existed between the plaintiff and Colonel H. The court consequently granted the plaintiff a divorce.

The Chamber of Revision Court of Cassation rejected the appeal of Monsieur A. regarding the divorce, but he still has hope it may listen more favorably to his contention of the illegality of the marriage.
