Appreciation

Mr. H. S. Cannon, St. Eleanors, has received the following letter of thanks from Little Woody, Sask.:—

Dear Sir: I received your bag of potatoes about the 16th, Dec. and I must say they are specially good potatoes hence the reason you've been so long in hearing from us. We had quite a few meals off them and they were so good tasting white and dry, I said to my husband we would put the rest of them aside to plant in the garden in spring as our seed doesn't seem to give good results little in quality or quantity. Today however I thought I would like a good potato and judge my surprise when I put my hand on the small parcel and carrots too, I had no idea there was anything in the sack but potatoes, so I sure was sorry I hadn't looked sooner, after you folks so kindly sending of your own supplies. I hope you didn't leave yourselves short but believe us we are very grateful for the help so generously given and I sincerely thank all donors. I had another sack out of the same car. It was partly frozen. There was nothing to tell who it was from but the potatoes were good quality too, so I hope my thanks will reach the donor also. The small toque and mitts are just right for my granddaughter who is 14 months old and they came in handy all right. Thanks very much for every thing. This has been the worst year we've had in 10 years. We had no crops of any kind, not even weeds as the army worms cleaned up every vestige of green. Russian thistle and all —we came from Scotland in 1926. That was the only year we had any croy .70. acres. The rest of the crops since have been failures. I'm just wondering if it will be the same this year. There's more snow certainly but it always runs into the creeks when the thaw comes and does little good.

I hope you folks are more fortunate. Your soil is different anyway. Ours is so much blown, its hard to say what it is—part alkaline gumbo and clay, just a mixture but good wheat soil if it got a chance to crop. It's so badly blown now it may be several years before it will grow good crops again.

Hoping you'll forgive the delay in letting you know I got the sack of potatoes, in good condition and the carrots are also a treat. When one has no garden of their own they can appreciate anything thats any use. Thanking you and yours again and hoping you may be rewarded some day for the gifts so kindly given. Kind regards from

Yours Sincerely
MRS. JOHN HENRY

P. S.—We would be very glad to hear what kind of a place Prince Edward Island is and if there's good small farm holdings or home steading and where its location is. It is anywhere near British Columbia. We've never been from this district so know little or nothing of Canada at all and my husband is meaning to leave here if there's no crop again. We had to put away all our stock except one cow a few hens and six horses and we may lose most of the horses yet, the feed is very poor and they wont eat it and they are more like living skeltons than the horses we had a few years ago. Time will tell. —N. H.

United States Nazis Taboo To Germans

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28—(AP)—Germany has ordered its citizens in the United States to refrain from joining the American Nazi organizations, the German Embasy said today.

This was described semi-officially as a move to keep German citizens from taking any part in American politics. German Ambassador Hans Dieckhoff called on State Secretary Hull and told him the German Government had issued the following statement:

"On account of numerous inquiries being received from German citizens living in the United States, the German Government reiterates that German citizens must not belong to the Amerika-Deutsch Volksbund or to possible substitute organizations of that kind. German citizens who in ignorance of this standing order have become members of the Amerika-Deutsche Volksbund or the so-called prospective citizens league must resign from these organizations at once."

Well Known Farming Experimenter Passes

CANNING, March2—One of the brightest minds in the agricultural life of the province, Johan Gottlieb Schaad, died at his home in Woodside on Wednesday at the comparatively early age of 38, succumbing to pneumonia he developed two weeks ago.

Mr. Schaad formerly resided at York, P.E.I. and was attached to the Dominion Experimental Farm in Charlottetown.

A Russian-born German he left his homeland in the wheat belt of the Ukraine with his wife, also of German extraction, to come to P.E.Island twelve years ago, moving to N. S. about five years ago. He worked for a time at the Beach Hill Farm near Truro, and later with George A. Chase at Port Williams. But always he sought to advance a theory he brought to his adopted land that lupin, a valuable cattle food, could be grown profitably in Nova Scotia. Finally he rented a farm area at Woodside and devoted himself entirely to the job of finding the best ways and means to produce seeds.

Last month at the Nova Scotia Farmers' Association Convention at Halifax, evidence of th interest that Mr. Schaad's experimentation was causing was apparent when the following resolution was passed:

"Whereas the paper on Sweet Lupins, Saradella and Winter Rye given by J. G. Schaad of Woodside, King's Co., was received with considerable interest to the delegates. ....

Be it resolved that the Association ask the Nova Scotia Department of Agriculture to gather all the information they can get on this subject in order that they might determine the desirability of recommending the use of these crops by the farmers of Nova Scotia, and if found desirable supply these findings in the form of a bulletin in order that these crops may have such publicity as they deserve before the 1938 seeding time."

WELL EDUCATED

Mr. Schaad received advanced agricultural training in his native land. He was a graduate of the Hohenheimer Agricultural College in Germany. Lupin, which is grown in Germany for cattle fodder, enables the farmer to provide his cows with green feed rich in protein. With it a flow of milk can be maintained without the necessity of buying any milk feed. Another of his innovations to Nova Scotia is the use of Saradella (bird's foot). It is an acid soil crop, and one which, in Mr. Schaad's opinion was destined to be the annual pasture plant for the dairy farmers of Nova Scotia.

Today two funeral services marked the passing of this modern agricultural pioneer. The first service was held from the Trinity United church with Rev. K.G. Sullivan officiating, the second was conducted by Rev. Mr. Ebah, who ministers to the German Colony near Aylesford. With many out of town visitors in attendance, interment was made in Hillaton cemetery. He is survived by his widow and three sons, aged eight, four and two years.

Farmers throughout th province will be deeply grieved to learn of his death. The wholesale production of lupin would mean much for many dairy farmers. It could not be learned immediately if the Nova Scotia Farmers' Association would take further steps in advancing their investigation into the value of lupin.

RESCUED ALE AND PORTER

FORT ERIE, Ont., March 1— Two kittens in trouble required international co-operation before they could be rescued. Cecil Opie, Canadian National Railways checker, heard plaintive cries from within a box car, grain laden, which had arrived from St. Louis. The car being in bond, it was necessary to obtain authorization of United States customs officials to break the seals and open the doors. Permission being given, the doors were opened and officials found two scraggy kittens. They were fed, adopted and named Ale and Porter because thir first feast of milk was served from an ash tray advertizing there brewery products
