

She Coughed Night and Day Could Not Sleep

Mrs. Leonard Hayward, Victoria Corner, N.B., writes: "Last fall I took an awful cold which I caught while driving in an open car on a cold day."

"I coughed night and day, could not sleep at night, and my eyes ran water so that I could hardly see a thing."

"My husband got me a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup and before I had taken the whole of it my cold had disappeared."

"Dr. Wood's" has been on the market for the past 39 years; price $5c. a bottle, large family size 60c.; put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

When she opened her eyes she was in her own bed. Don was bending over her. His face was anxious and strained. "Are you better, Sonia?" "Yes, only I feel so queer and heavy, as if I'd sunk through the bed."

He sat beside her and stroked her hand. "Forgive me if I've seemed unkind, I haven't intended to be." She closed her eyes. "I want to do whatever is best for you, dear. And I'm not going to fling you back into Crane's arms if he isn't going to marry you."

"Well, he isn't," she sighed. Two slow tears forced themselves down her cheeks. She brushed them away. "I don't want to care about him. He isn't half the man you are. But it doesn't seem to matter whether he is or not. I simply can't bear to know I have to walk off and leave him to marry another girl."

"What could you do by staying?" "He has said many times he won't marry her. I don't believe he will as long as I'm free."

"But you're not free, Sonia." Her eyes closed again. After a time he said, sadly, "My dear, I'm going to Berlin alone. I can't see my way to taking you with me, but I am not releasing you from your contract."

She looked up, joy streaming over her features. "You don't want me to go?" "No. It would be torture for both of us."

"You're right," she babbled. "It was all a mistake, wasn't it? You're wonderful, Don, to let me out of it."

"Just a moment," he interrupted. "I'm not going to take you with me, but I am not releasing you from your contract."

Her face darkened. "What do you mean?" "I shall leave you here on only one condition. That is, you must leave Chicago at once and go home."

"Oh, I can't go back to Muncie." "You have no choice," he said firmly. "Otherwise I shall have to keep to our original plan. The temptations and complications which you admitted to me on Monday are no less real to-day. I promised to save you from them. I do not wish to force you to remain with me. But I shall require you to leave Chicago. If Crane really loves you he won't forget you in a few months."

Disappointment clouded her face. "And when I return," he continued, "if you wish your freedom, I shall have our marriage annulled. I suppose I should be grateful to you."

"I don't want your gratitude. But I do insist that you spend the next four months with your parents." Almost timidly she seized his hand.

"I'm awfully sorry for all the trouble I've caused you." "It was the first time that was hard," he agreed. "I will see you there the next night before you go." (To Be Continued.)

herself humming as she dressed. The world seemed normal again. Bright and sunny and friendly. She was conscious of a rising sense of adventure. How foolish she had been to think that, on account of the accident, she was done with thrills!

When she was dressed Don came to the door. His eyes looked as if he had not slept. But he smiled as he said, "You seem very happy."

"I am, thanks to you." He was silent for a moment, then announced matter-of-factly, "I'm off for New York to-night. I shall write my mother and try to explain. But I'd rather not see her for awhile. The truth is she would see straight through my evasions. That is the last thing I want. While I'm gone, I can break it gradually."

"If only we hadn't told any one," sighed Sonia. "Yes. Well, we won't waste any time regretting. Can you arrange to go to Muncie to-night?"

"Oh, not to-night! I have a lot of things to do." His lips lightened. "I can trust you to go, Sonia?" "Of course. But it will take a couple of days or so. I will have to pack Maxine's things and resign at the office."

"You need not elaborate your reasons. I know you will need a little time. And you'll need some money. I deposited $500 for you yesterday."

"I shan't touch it." "As you please. It is deposited to your credit. If you do need it, I hope you'll feel free to use it. It obligates you in no way."

His voice was jaded. Her heart ached for him as if some one else had hurt him. She said, softly, "I can't use your money, Don. But I do appreciate that as well as everything else you've done for me."

He turned away. "Do you wish to remain at this hotel?" "No," she answered, practically. "I'm going back to the apartment. The rent there is paid until the end of the month."

"But won't you be nervous?" "Not now. I seem to be all over it. Isn't it queer? I'm not a bit afraid to go back."

"It was the first time that was hard," he agreed. "I will see you there the next night before you go." (To Be Continued.)

Women, Your Manifold Duties Requires Strength

St. Catharines, Ont.—"During my early married life Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription helped me as a tonic and nerve. I had become all run-down, my nerves were all upset, I could not sleep, and was weak and miserable. I was advised by my mother to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and it relieved me of the nervousness and made me a well, strong woman."

Since then I have always recommended it to weak women.—Mrs. M. F. Slack, All drugists, fluid or tablets. Write the Faculty of Dr. Pierce's Invalids Hotel in Buffalo, N.Y., if you feel the need of free advice. Ever tried Dr. Pierce's Pleasant (tax-active) Pills? 50 Pills for 50c.

IN MEMORIAM

MR. WILLIAM CONROY

Mr. Wm. Conroy, one of our best known citizens, passed away yesterday morning at his residence, Pownall Street, after a lingering illness of ten months.

Mr. Conroy was one of our most respected and upright business men, who started in the boot and shoe business many years ago in the store connected with his residence on Pownall St., afterwards moving to a larger stand on Sunnyside St. and later to Queen St. where he has been carrying on business for many years.

He was born in Gloucester, England, 77 years ago, and came to Charlottetown with his parents, when a child. The family later moved to Scurry, where he learned the trade of shoemaker, at which he was an expert. After eight years as salesman in some of the large retail shoe stores in Massa-

Do you feel like going back to bed?

AFTER YOU have dressed your children, fed them, and sent them off to school, do you feel like going back to bed? Do you shrink from your daily task of dish-washing and house-cleaning? Are you tired? Discouraged? Many women have found that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent tonic for that tired feeling. It builds up the appetite. It induces natural sleep. Read what these two women say about it.

GAINED 18 POUNDS Cleveland, Ohio: "After having my first baby I lost weight no matter what I did. I went down to 98 pounds. My neighbor told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it helped her very much, so I tried it. After taking four bottles I weigh 116 pounds. It has just done wonders for me and I can do my housework now without one bit of trouble." Mrs. M. Riessinger, 10,004 Nelson Avenue, Cleveland, Ohio.

NERVOUS SPELLS GONE St. Paul, Minn.: "I used to get nervous spells that would last a couple of days and were so bad that I was afraid in my own house in broad daylight. One day a little booklet was left on my porch and I read it through. I found a case similar to mine. I bought Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and have had fine results. Now housekeeping doesn't tire me." Mrs. Jack Lorberter, 704 Dellwood Place, St. Paul, Minnesota.

Our expert electrician, Fred Leard, has completed the lighting of the I.O.F. Hall here some time since, but Thursday night was the first time the public were able to give their opinion of the job and public opinion says it was an extra well done job. The hall, which is a large one, is upstairs, the Foresters' rooms being down, and has a seating capacity of three hundred.

Mrs. Alexander Martin has had the electric lights installed the past week in her home, by Mr. Leard, who, as soon as he has finished one job has another waiting for him, and Fred is always on the job.

A very neat and artistic piece of work was done by Mr. Daniel Birt, carriage-builder, in the painting, stripping and varnishing of a light sleigh he had repaired for one of his customers last week and would take the hand of an artist to compete with it.

A large number attended the "movies" in the hall last Thursday night, and, judging by the crowd Mr. Yeo's "Movies" need no advertising.

Services were held in the Presbyterian Church on Sunday last at eleven o'clock a.m., conducted by Mr. H. A. Yeo, Student-Pastor.

Services were held in the United Church at the usual hour of eleven a.m., and seven p.m., conducted by the pastor, Rev. M. K. Charman.
