The Stars Say--

By Genevieve Kemble

For Tuesday, November 9

A SUDDEN uprising in the affairs may prove thrilling, exciting and of radical and far-reaching scope in bringing about desired change, new ambitions, hopes and wishes. This unforeseen incident could plunge the energies, initiative and abilities into new highs of pleasure and accomplishment, with personal aims and aspirations sharing in these surprising attainments. Public recognition is probable. But all matters may prove romantic and should be developed with best, integrity and concentrated energies.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, may look for a period of change, fresh fields of operation, new contacts and associations all heightened by the element of romance, strange experiences and a need of accomplishment and recognition, spectacular, breath-taking and perhaps revolutionary or radical in scope. With energetic and zealous enthusiasm, many deeply rooted and desired aspirations and goals may be dramatically fulfilled. Personal, romantic, financial and creative aims should be pushed with unabated drive, for the most dynamic performance and inner joy.

A child born on this day is boundlessly equipped for a romantic, adventurous and romantic career, with many changes, honors and highly creative urges finding rich returns and unexpected happiness.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: My mother disapproves of my using lipstick at my age, which is 13 years. She thinks I should wait until I am at the end of the eighth grade or the first year in high school. But I want to use it now. What should I do?

TERESA

ANSWER: Well, Teresa, you know 13 is a very special age. It is just when you are passing from childhood into girlhood and when you are as lovely and fresh as a flower, and it does seem a pity for you to paint your mouth up with a lot of red paint when your natural mouth is a pink rosebud.

But, still and all, it doesn't seem to me that it matters, and if all the other girls of your age are using lipstick and it makes you feel sort of left out if you don't use it, why, I think your mother should withdraw her objections.

But one thing you should do. Get your mother to take you to a beauty shop, and have one of the operators teach you how to put on your lipstick artistically, instead of dabbing it on hit or miss, as most young girls do.

RETURN HOME.—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Smith and daughter, Miss Beatrice of Albany, P. E. Island, who motored here and spent a few days with relatives and friends, left Tuesday afternoon on return to their home on the island, making the trip via Borden-Tormentine route.—New Glasgow News.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS.—A very pleasant evening was enjoyed Thursday by members of Empire Lodge Number 19 when with their wives, lady friends and invited guests, they danced to the delightful music of Johnnie Sterns and his Brightons. More than passing mention should be made of this fine band composed of young men for whom the future appears to hold great promise in the musical world. A pleasing feature in the evening's entertainment was a presentation made to four newlywed members. Past Chancellor Thomas White presented the gifts and his jovial remarks and advice to the participating couples caused merriment among those present. The recipients were as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lord, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Young, Mr. and Mrs. Duncan MacPherson, and Mr. and Mrs. Keith Henry. Luncheon was served by the members of the entertainment committee. This was the first of a series of monthly functions that the lodge will hold for the entertainment of its members and their guests.

SURPRISE SHOWER.—A surprise shower was held at the home of Mrs. Allison Carter, 76 Rochford Street, Charlottetown, on Thursday evening for Miss Jessie Lord in honor of her approaching marriage. A beautifully decorated chair was prepared for the bride-to-be and gifts were presented to her to be opened personally with the request that all knots and bows be untied when unwrapped. Miss Lord found when unwrapped, Miss Lord found gifts of china, linen, towels, pictures and pyrex with many a cheery verse attached for which she thanked each individually for their kindness and gifts. Dainty refreshments were served by the young ladies. The remainder of the evening was spent in playing games and all departed to their homes after wishing Jessie many happy years of wedded life.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER.—A miscellaneous shower was held in the Tryon Hall on Friday evening, October 30th, for Miss Jessie Lord in honor of her approaching marriage. The seat of honor was gaily decorated with pink and white streamers while overhead hung a large wedding bell. After the friends had gathered and played cards, Miss Freda Howatt escorted the bride-to-be to her seat. The gifts were opened by Mrs. Sheldon Howatt and Mrs. Paul Dawson and verses read by Miss Freda Howatt who passed them to the bride to be after which Miss Dawson placed them on the table and all joined in singing "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows." Jessie thanked all for remembering her on this happy occasion. The gifts consisted of silver, pyrex, china, linen, Alladin lamp, parlor mirror, kitchen utensils and envelopes of money. Refreshments were served by the ladies and after bouncing Jessie and wishing her happy years of wedded life all dispersed to their homes.

POST-NUPTIAL SHOWER.—An enjoyable evening was spent at "the Manse", New London, on Oct. 19, when a large number of the friends of Rev. Donald Campbell and Mrs. Campbell gathered to do them honor on the occasion of their recent marriage. The gathering was called to order by Mr. Arthur Stewart, who after a few remarks called first on the ladies. Mrs. Archie Campbell opened the gifts and Mrs. Elmer Paynter read the names and verses accompanying each and placed them on the table. Mr. Stewart then called on Mrs. Allan A. Campbell who read a nicely worded address, and Mr. and Mrs. Campbell were presented with a purse of money by Mr. Preston

Island Girl Weds in Halifax

WATSON—ROGERS

A graty full wedding took place in Bethany United Church, Ardale, recently when Rev. J. M. Fraser united in marriage Freda Grace daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Coleman Rogers of Prince Edward Island and Duncan Frederick son of D. G. Watson and the late Mrs. Watson of Halifax.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father who gave her in marriage. She wore a gray gabardine suit with navy blue accessories, a ruffled strand of pearls gift of the groom and her corsage was a white orchid. The bride was attended by Miss Edwina Lablanc who wore a powder blue suit with black accessories and a peach orchid corsage.

The bride's mother wore a navy blue crepe dress with black accessories and wore a corsage of deep pink carnations. Mrs. Reginald Piercy, church organist, played the wedding music. A reception was held at the home of the groom's sister Mrs. M. M. Brown. The rooms were decorated in pink and white. The brides table was centered with a three tier wedding cake flanked with lighted tapers in silver candelabra. The toast to the bride was proposed by Roy Moore.

Mr. and Mrs. Watson left on a trip to Prince Edward Island where they were guests at the brides home. A party was held in their honour. They were the recipients of many useful gifts, also money. Mr. and Mrs. Watson will reside in Halifax where the groom is employed with the Canadian National Railways.

The out of town guests were Mrs. Howard Perry of St. Eleanor's, aunt of the bride and Mr. Wheeler uncle of the bride who is at present home from New Zealand.

Winnipeg Trucker Hanged Friday

WINNIPEG, Nov. 6—(CP)—His last thoughts of his son who was to become an orphan, Clarence Richardson, 35-year-old Winnipeg trucker, went to the gallows at 1:18 A.M. today at Headingly jail for the hammer murder Jan. 2 of Mrs. Ann Varty, 25. He was pronounced dead at 1:28 A.M.

While a United Church minister repeated the Lord's Prayer, Richardson stood unsupported as the hangman adjusted the noose. He made no statement before the trap was sprung.

"His last thoughts were of his little son," said the clergyman, Rev. H. S. Dodgson, pastor of a Winnipeg suburban church. "He was reconciled to death and gave me a message to his family."

Richardson at first refused to see Mr. Dodgson. But as the death hour approached he relented. Ten minutes before he was due to walk to the gallows, he called for the jail padre. He then went over his confession of the hammer slaying of attractive Mrs. Varty and expressed hope for his boy's future.

Mrs. Richardson died from a brain hemorrhage 10 days after Richardson was sentenced June 1.

Richardson was arrested 36 hours after Mrs. Varty, mother of three was found partially concealed in a snow drift on Winnipeg's outskirts. Her skull was crushed by blows from a ball-peen hammer found nearby.

Debate Where Poll Makers Went Wrong

By Howard W. Blacketer
Associated Press Science Editor
PRINCETON, N. J. Nov. 6—(AP)—The main reason the poll-takers went wrong was their failure to predict accurately the number who would vote, Dr. Hadley Cantrill of Princeton University said today.

He defended the polls and said the difficulty of predicting the total vote will some day be solved by science.

Dr. Cantrill is professor of psychology and director of the Office of Public Opinion Research at Princeton. This office has no connection with any election polls. It has been making scientific studies for years, advising mainly Government agencies and civic organizations, and counselling on difficulties that have risen in opinion polls.

"The accuracy of polls," he said, "is to be judged in terms of their percentage point error. A poll could be two per cent off and still not predict the winner."

"Since all the major polls failed to call the turn this year, they are being compared to the Literary Digest."

"This is absurd. The Digest's error was around 19 per cent, whereas Gallup's average error, for example, appears to be less than three per cent on the four candidates he predicted, and about 4-12 per cent on the two major party candidates."

"My guess is that when the reasons for the error are discovered they will be found to have been due chiefly to the inability of polls so far to predict the turnout accurately."

"The elections seem to indicate also all else that the working people are now more politically self-conscious than they ever have been..."
