

THE CHARLOTTETOWN GUARDIAN WEDNESDAY, JULY 12, 1911

"A PRINCE OF CANADA."

C. Frederick Hamilton of Ottawa, in a recent issue of United Empire, the organ of the Royal Canadian Institute, has a paper entitled A Prince of Canada. The article was no doubt suggested by the appointment of the Duke of Connaught as Governor General of the Dominion. And Mr. Hamilton thinks that after having a royal duke at the head of the Dominion we cannot very well have as his successor any one of less exalted birth. Hence the idea that a Prince of the blood royal shall always occupy that station.

He would have the Duke of Connaught reappointed at the end of his term and so on until the office should at length broaden down to a life appointment. It is well enough to have such a suggestion thrown out for discussion merely, at any time. If it were put forward as a proposal to be at once adopted we should perhaps be better prepared to decide upon its merits five years hence than now—at the end rather than the beginning of the coming viceregal term.

But there are many things to be considered before such a new departure should be made. The appointment of a Prince as Governor General is in the nature of an experiment. At best it can hardly succeed better than such appointments from the nobility as we have had in the past. There is the bare possibility that it may not succeed so well, and in that case it would prove embarrassing alike to the people of Canada and to the Sovereign. Wherefore, also, the five years term may be safer, Prince or no Prince, than a life appointment.

Again, if one Dominion is to have a Prince at its head, the other Dominions may claim like honor and distinction, and the time may come, as Dominions multiply, that there shall not be Princes enough to go around the far-flung circle. For these and other reasons the people of Canada, who are very loyal, but after all quite democratic monarchists, will perhaps prefer to go on as we have been going, with a five year term for our Chief Magistrate, not very regardless whether he be a Prince or an Earl, and always looking beyond him to the Sovereign and the throne as the chief bond which binds the widespread Empire together.

THE OLD SHIPS AND THE NEW.

An interesting article in the Canadian Century gives in graphic form some comparisons between the Santa Maria, Columbus's largest vessel, and the White Star steamship Olympic. The caravel which brought Columbus to America when he made the discovery of the New World may be taken as a specimen of the finest shipbuilding of that time. It was a vessel of 233 tons, rigged with three masts and a bowsprit. Its extreme length from tip to tip of the overhanging fore-castle and poop was 93 feet.

Compare this with the White Star Leviathan of 60,000 tons. It would require a fleet of 257 Santa Marias to equal the tonnage of the big modern steamship. The length of the Santa Maria was barely equal to the breadth of the Olympic and could be square across her deck without projecting on either side. Placed in dock side by side with their keels at the same level, the top of the mainmast of the Santa Maria would barely reach the bridge deck of the Olympic. The same figures which show the progress of shipbuilding in 400 years also reflect the heroic courage and the great achievements of the men who crossed the then unknown Atlantic in so frail a craft.

After all most of this progress has been made within the past seventy years, much of it in half of that time. The first steamship crossed the Atlantic in 1833, the year after Victoria came to the throne. It would be called a small affair for these days and was nineteen days in making the passage from Cork to New York. It is since that date that the old paddle wheels have given place to twin screws, steel has replaced wood in ship construction and the ships of a few hundred tons have been superseded by the mammoth liners of today. The twentieth century is still young but is already giving us steamships of more than twice the displacement of the Great Eastern or any other ship set afloat in the nineteenth century. What will be the size of the ocean liners of the future?

THE EDITOR AND THE COW.

The editor of The Examiner very modestly concludes that if he were the owner of the fine young Ayshire cow which was bought by Mr. McRae of Royalty for $25 and is now worth about $1,000, the aforesaid cow would now be worth about $50. Which might be read to mean that Tory stock does not appreciate in value very fast. "The same cow," he goes on, "the same blood, the same possibilities—in the case of the trained farmer who knew his business, a veritable gold mine. In the hands of the city chap, the newspaper editor—just cow—four legs, four milk teats, two horns and a cud."

It would seem that possibly what The Examiner had in mind was that the political patronage cow is worth but little to an editor who is in opposition to the Government. Such is the fact. To him the patronage cow represents little more than was expressed in the old farm riddle: "Two bookers, two lookers, four down bangers, four stiff standards and a switch-about." A prod from the horns and a switch of the tail is all the opposition editor gets from the patronage cow, while the other fellow gets the milk. But wait till Borden gets in, Brother Examiner, and then get out your pail and milking stool and cheerfully sing:

While I've a cow that gives such milk I'll dress her up in finest silk; I'll feed her on good oats and hay And milk her nineteen times a day.

QUEEN MARY'S THANKS.

Government House, Ottawa, July 4th., 1911.

Dear Mrs. Rogers,—A letter from Queen Mary thanking the Marys of the Empire for the beautiful gift that they have presented to Her Majesty on her Coronation, has been communicated to the English Press. I enclose a copy of it, and would suggest that if Her Majesty's letter has not yet appeared in your Provincial newspapers, they should be asked to allow their columns to be made the medium of the gracious thanks of Queen Mary to the Marys of the Empire.

Believe me, Dear Mrs. Rogers, Yours Sincerely, ALICE GREY.

Mrs. Rogers, Government House, Charlottetown.

(The Queen's Letter.)

I thank most warmly all the Marys in the Empire who have so generously contributed to the gift which has been presented to me.

The thought of the affectionate impulse which prompted it, has I can assure you deeply touched me.

The beautiful insignia of the Garter, and the pictures of the King and my son which will form the personal part of the gift, will be treasured by me throughout my life, and will be handed down as precious heirlooms to my children and their children.

I look forward with special satisfaction to devoting the remainder of this noble present to a charitable object in which I am greatly interested.

MARY.

ADDRESS AND PRESENTATION

The closing of the North Rustico School took place Friday, the 30th inst. There were a number of visitors present who expressed their appreciation of Miss Evelyn Stevenson's work. At the close of the examination, Miss Amy Toombs, on behalf of the scholars, presented Miss Stevenson with a handsome bound volume of Tennyson and a fountain pen, accompanied by an excellent address, as follows:—"It seems fitting at the close of the year's work, ere we separate, to enjoy the holiday season, that we should in some manner convey to you our hearty thanks for your untiring efforts on our behalf. Our relationship as teacher and pupils has been most pleasant, and all our demands upon your time and patience have been many, yet you were ever ready and willing to sacrifice your own interests for our advancement. Dear teacher we deeply appreciate your kindness to us all, and ask you to accept this little gift as a token of our love and esteem." Signed on behalf of scholars: George MacKenzie, Ruby Pursey, Amy Toombs, Hetta Toombs.

B.F. KEITH'S THEATRE, BOSTON

Unquestionably the biggest event in vaudeville in recent years is announced for B. F. Keith's Theatre next week in "The Meistersinger All-Star Minstrels," which will be put on in the style for which Mr. Keith has become famous, with the greatest organization of soloists, minstrel eyes and musicians, that has ever been brought together. In "The Meistersingers," who have been for four weeks the leading feature at B. F. Keith's, there is the greatest combination of male voices that has ever been in a minstrel circle, and the end men will number four, whose names are known the width and breadth of the land. They will be George Thatcher, of Thatcher, Primrose & West's Minstrels, the famous Ben Benedict, Hughie Dougherty, the great Philadelphia minstrel, and John Healy, who has been specially engaged for this occasion. The interpreter will be Harry W. Morse, late of Coban & Harris' and Lew Dockstader's Minstrels. There will be over fifty people on the stage, the biggest circle ever shown. The boys and girls of the present generation, who have never seen a real old style minstrel show, should be brought to see these famous artists and company of great singers. Outside of the minstrels, there will be a typical B. F. Keith program of all-star vaudeville. It will include the wonderful Ergotti Lilliputians, in acrobatic feats; the great Howard, Scotch ventriloquist; Farnum & Clark Sisters, in songs and dances; the Grazers, dancing musicians; Clemens & Dean, the English entertainers, and others.

WHOLE VILLAGE WAS THREATENED

HALIFAX, July 9.—Fire late Saturday afternoon destroyed the general store of I. B. Shaffner & Co., at Elmsdale, on the I. C. R., forty miles from Halifax, wiped out the barns and a carriage house, burned the house on the opposite side of the road, owned and occupied by George Ross, and seriously threatened the whole village of fifty houses. The Shaffner building is a large four story wooden building with a floor space of 40,000 superficial feet, and a large stock of goods was distributed from top to bottom. This building and the five others constitute a total loss, only a part of I. B. Shaffner & Co's stock on the first floor, chiefly dry goods and boots and shoes, being saved. The buildings and stock were insured and the loss falling on the companies will be heavy.

The fire, which began in the upper part of the Shaffner building, is supposed to have started by a spark from an I. C. R., engine that passed half an hour before. So far as known no one was in the upper part of the building during the afternoon. The wind was from the southwest and blew toward a meadow on the rear of I. B. Shaffner & Co's. Had the wind been in the opposite direction the whole village would have gone. As it was the flames went against the wind to the Ross house. By tremendous efforts the Scott Hotel and the I. C. R. station were saved, everybody turning out, blankets soaked with water and hung against the houses were used as a protection. There never was any hope of saving I. B. Shaffner's store and it was level with the ground in little more than an hour.

SORE THROAT CATARRH CURED

With the many remedies you have tried you surely know that no liquid medicine can cure your throat or nose. Even a gargle only bathes the entrance of the throat—it can't really get inside, nor can it reach the inflamed bronchial tubes. With Catarrhozone, it's so different from medicine-taking—you simply breathe its healing vapor, inhale its relief to the minutest air cells in the lungs, nose, throat, and bronchial tubes.

In this scientific way the soreness and inflammation is rapidly allayed, relaxed cords are toned up, the entire mucous membrane invigorated. Every trace of catarrh disappears, the disagreeable dripping, mucous in the throat, hawking, spitting, and stopped-up nostrils—all these sure signs of Catarrh and bronchitis are permanently cured by Catarrhozone.
