

Smith Stars As Leafs Take 3-1 Win Over Red Wings To Lead Series 2-0

Saints, Recce Hoop Teams Play Tonight

The chips will be down when the Saints and Recce hoop squads tangle in their second, and possibly final, Island Physical Fitness Basketball League championship playoff game at the Prince of Wales College auditorium which gets underway at 7:30 tonight.

The Saints took the opening game of the best of three series by a score of 70-46 last Wednesday night on the auditorium floor.

A win tonight for the Saints will give them the championship while on the other hand, if the Recce hoopers come through, it will force the issue to a third and deciding game.

Although the first game was closely played in the first half, the Saints outscored their opponents by a wide margin in the second half to take the match handily, but whether this will be the case again tonight is hard to say, as the Recce will be coming out strong intent on forcing the series to a third encounter. Which ever way it goes, however, local hoop fans who will be attending the game can be assured of seeing a well-played, keenly contested encounter.

DETROIT, April 10—(CP)—Sid (Buff) Smith, rookie left winger, scored all Toronto's goals tonight as the Maple Leafs defeated Detroit Red Wings 3-1 to take a two-game lead in their best-of-seven Stanley Cup finals.

The chunky, 24-year-old player—up from Pittsburgh, Leaf farm club—scored two in the first period within two minutes and added his third near the end of the second to clinch the game for the defending cup holders.

Pete Horeck, who was in the penalty box on Smith's first two goals, got Detroit's lone tally shortly after start of the third to give the Wings a lift, but they just didn't have it to take the game. Leafs won the opener 3-2 in overtime and the teams meet again in Toronto next Wednesday and Saturday.

The game, played before 14,325 rabid Detroit fans, went at a fast clip, in contrast to the slow play in the series opener Friday.

Smith was the whole show. He was going both ways all the time and proved to the Leafs it was probably their best move when they called on him to help out in the cup playoffs. It was the second game he has clinched for Toronto.

The black-haired, 176-pound winger scored two goals and assisted in a third when Toronto defeated Boston Bruins 3-1 in the fourth game of their semi-final series.

The way Leafs played tonight, it wouldn't surprise anybody if they made it four straight over the National Hockey League champions, just as they did last year.

The desperate Wings drew out goalkeeper Harry Lumley with slightly more than a minute to play and the puck stayed in leaf territory except for one rink-length shot by Joe Klukay which missed the open net by about five feet.

Smith took a pass at the 8:50 mark of the initial period from Garth Boesch and whipped a drive that Lumley didn't see. Just one minute and four seconds later he put the game on ice, slipping in the rebound on a shot by defence-man Bill Barliko.

Kennedy and Fleming Mackell were credited with assists on his third goal. He took a pass about five feet out and without changing his stride, whipped the puck between Lumley's outstretched legs.

Lineups:
Toronto — Goal, Broda; defence, Boesch, Barliko; centre, Bentley; wings, Klukay, Timgren; subs, Thomson, Mortson, Watson, Kennedy, Ezinicki, Lynn, Mackell, Gardner, Juzda, Dawes, Smith.

Detroit — Goal, Lumley; defence, Quackenbush, Kelly; centre, McNab; wings, Couture, Podolsky; subs, Stewart, Reise, Lindsay, Gee, Howe, Abel, McFadden, Enlo, Glover, Reid.

Referee — Frank (King) Clancy; linesmen — George Hayes and Sammy Babcock.

First Period
1-Toronto, Smith (Boesch) 8:50
2-Toronto, Smith (Barliko, Kennedy) 9:56
Penalties — Klukay, Reise, Gee, Barliko, Horeck, Dawes.

Second Period
3-Toronto, Smith (Kennedy, Mackell) 17:58
Penalties — Stewart, Lindsay.

Third Period
4-Detroit, Horeck (Stewart, McFadden) 9:50
Penalty — Ezinicki.

Consider Detroit, Melbourne For Olympic Games

LAUSANNE, Switzerland, April 10—(AP)—Either Detroit or Melbourne, Australia, is expected to be chosen as the site of the 1956 Olympic Games at the meeting of the International Olympic Committee in Rome April 24-29.

Four other cities, Los Angeles, Minneapolis, Mexico City and Buenos Aires, also are bidding for the games. Delegates from all the competing cities will present their cases at the Rome meeting.

Otto Mayer, chancellor of the international committee, recently received a formal invitation, signed by President Truman, inviting the '56 games to Detroit.

Melbourne is pressing its candidacy, having sent each committee member a decorative invitation printed on doeskin.

A decision on the site of the 1956 winter games also will be made at the Rome meeting. If the summer games are held in the United States the winter games almost certainly will go to Lake Placid, N. Y.

The Rome meeting also will consider the elimination of a long list of events from future games. Helsinki, site of the next games in 1952, is especially anxious to reduce the program in order to keep the games within the city's limited capacity.

A report of a commission on a general revision of Olympic rules and a reorganization of the International Olympic Committee itself is also to be discussed during the Rome meeting.

LONDON—(CP)—After 101 tortoises arrived in London by air from Johannesburg, the air line reported it would have taken the animals 22 years to walk the 6,300 miles. They worked out the time from a 10-yard tortoise race which a 150-year-old youngster won in 24 minutes.

SPORTING NEWS

With Murph Chamberlain's departure from the National Hockey League the game will be losing one of its "color" players. Murph, known as "the hard rock" for his hockey doing in Ontario's northern mining belt, announced that this season, no. 12 for him, was his last and he'll stay strictly to working his farm.

The decision moved Dink (Gazette) Carroll to note that Chamberlain will always be "memorable in the annals of the game." Baz (Star) O'Meara, wrote that Murph "is a throwback and we remember some years ago when grizzled Alf Smith went into the dressing room to shake hands with him and said "he plays like the old timers."

The following are a few odds and ends from the typewriters of Baz Dink and Elmer (Montreal Herald) Ferguson. "Butch Bouchard is going to have a piece of loose cartilage removed from his knee before next hockey season. Look for changes in Canadiens player personnel. Remember how during the season Frank Selke said Canadiens needed a bunch of hulking six-footers who could hand out the best of the bashing he said Canadiens were receiving?"

"The prediction here is that Bruins will trade Frankie Brimsek to Chicago. . . Bill Duran can pick up $150 a week playing soft ball in Detroit this summer if he wants. . . N. H. L. prexy Clarence Campbell considers Terry Reardon of Providence a natural as a hockey coach because 'he wasn't a big star as a player and had to learn things the hard way and his experience as an army officer taught him how to handle men.'"

"Jack Stewart of Detroit is likely to be traded to Chicago by Detroit which needs defensive help. . . When is King Clancy going to announce that he has given up his whistle and moved upstairs to the job of N.H.L. supervising referee?"

"The most oft-repeated question heard by a guy who tramped the Florida baseball trails this spring is 'what was the best looking ball club you saw down there?' quotes Bill (Ottawa Journal) Graham. The answer is easy, continues the scribe. The Red Sox. . .

"That doesn't mean, although it could be, that the Red Sox are the best in the American League this year and will win the pennant. Remember that in his roaming this reporter did not see the Indians and that at St. Petersburg Casey Stengel was wondering if, when. . . Joe DiMaggio would be able to play nine innings, and meanwhile, who would play first base, to say nothing of second base, shortstop and third base, who, aside from Vic Raschi and Tommy Byrne, would pitch and who, including Larry Bern, would catch.

"And that while Connie Mack was very hopeful of the Athletics and telling them that if they minded their P's and Q's they could win the pennant, the young men were not too far advanced in their training and, in truth, didn't seem to have to many P's and Q's as to require special minding, even when they were all loosened up and ready for the opening of the season. (This, of course, is an opinion that one well may wish he had kept to himself, come October and a World Series at Shibe Park.) And that the Tigers were caught at a time when Red Rolfe still felt the shock induced by the injuries to Art Houtteman and, besides, wasn't sure who was going to play first and second and was undecided about his outfield save on the point that the recruit, John Groth, would start in centre. . .

"So the view reflected here (the Senators were not seen at all, nor is that likely to make any difference) must be narrowed down to the Red Sox approximately as they will look to you the first time they appear at the Stadium; the Athletics in a transitory state; the Yankees in a state of at least mild confusion, and the Tigers in a process of being made over by a manager who still was getting acquainted with them. In the circumstances, the Red Sox naturally stood out."

Fowler Convinced He's Better Because Of Injury

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 10—(AP)—Dick Fowler is convinced that an injury sometimes can be a blessing in disguise.

The 27-year-old Philadelphia Athletics pitcher believes that a sore arm last year made him a better hurler.

Opponents and teammates who have watched the Toronto-born right-hander work this spring claim his misfortune has made Fowler a "great" moundman. Both manager Connie Mack and pitching coach Earl Brucker expect him to win 20 games this year.

Fowler won 15 ball games with the A's in 1948 with a buristous condition of the right shoulder.

How did all this make him a better pitcher?

The injury forced him to give up his blazing fast ball. He had to depend on control and slow stuff. He became a master with the change-up pitch.

"After winning three straight," said Fowler, "I asked myself, 'how long can this keep up?'"

It lasted long enough to give him a 15-and-8 record for the season, best among a better than average group of pitchers working for the A's.

This spring Fowler's arm has stopped aching. Now he not only has that slow, tantalizing stuff but also his natural speed.

Montreal Hoopsters Defeat Moncton

MONTREAL, April 10—(CP)—Montreal Young Men's Hebrew Association juvenile basketball team took a commanding 22-point lead in the first game of a two-game total point series against Moncton Redskins by trouncing the Maritime champions 58-33 here Saturday.

Winner will meet Peterborough for the Eastern Canada title.

The plucky Moncton crew never tallied their much taller opponents by more than four points until the closing minutes of the game when the Y sharpshooters suddenly began to click.

Play was about even during the game with both teams missing many scoring opportunities by careless shooting.
