IN MEMORIAM

MR. DANIEL M. BEARSTO

On Wednesday morning, June 7th, the people of Malpeque and surrounding communities were saddened to hear of the passing of a highly respected citizen. Mr. Daniel McCabe Bearsto. During his illness he had the tenderest care and the best of medical attendance. Mr. Bearsto was born in Malpeque and spent his whole life here. He was a very quiet and unassuming man and very much liked and respected by all who knew him. In order that his three sons and one daughter, whose homes are in Western Canada and U. S. A. might pay their last respects to their loved one, the funeral was held until Friday afternoon, June 17th, at the home of the deceased. The service, which was held at four o'clock in the afternoon, was very largely attended. Rev. M. A. McMillan, Minister of Pricetown United Church, had charge and was assisted by Rev. Fred Williamson, Minister of Keir Memorial Church. Mr. Williamson read several Scripture passages and offered prayer. The hymns "Peace, perfect peace," and "Nearer My God to Thee," were sung, followed by a very beautiful address by Mr. MacMillan. His text was taken from first Peter, first chapter, third verse. Mr. Charles Woodside sang very feelingly, the solo, "Looking this way." The hymn "Abide with me" was sung, and the service was brought to a close by the benediction, given by Mr. Williamson.

Mr. Bearsto leaves to mourn his passing, his widow, nee Miss Ella Champion, of Malpeque, seven sons: Harry, Oakville, Man.; John, Regina, Sask.; George, Winnipeg, Man.; Claude, Boston, Mass.; Walter and Lee, Charlottetown; and Frank on the homestead; and one daughter, Mrs. Earle McKay, Sea View, two sisters, Mrs. Ivan Foster, New Rockford, North Dakota; Mrs. John Clarke, Darnley, six of his sons, Harry, John, George, Claude, Walter and Frank acted as pall bearers and carried their father to his last resting place. Interment was in Malpeque Cemetery. The floral tributes were very beautiful. The sympathy of the community is extended to the family in their sad bereavement.

SOCIAL GATHERING

An afternoon tea was held at the home of Mrs. J. B. Beer, Montague, on Thursday afternoon under auspices of W. M. S. of the Presbyterian Church. A very pleasant hour was spent by the many ladies who called during the afternoon. In the dining room the tea table looked very pretty with green linens, cloth, bouquet of yellow tulips. Tea was poured by Mrs. J. H. MacLean, who was assisted in serving by Mrs. Wm. Garrick, Mrs. W. H. Poole and Miss Beulah MacLeod. A very pleasant feature of the tea hour was a short programme of music. Those taking part were Mrs. (Rev.) A. R. Gibson, Mrs. A. J. Campbell, Mrs. Wm. Garrick and Mrs. Harry Davison. Two wee tots, little Florine Campbell, Montague, and Diane Downing of Summerside, sang very sweetly during the programme. H.

"NARROW ESCAPE" — What might have resulted in a serious accident occurred at Murray River on Saturday afternoon when Mr. Angus Matheson's team of horses took fright and ran away. Mr. Matheson, accompanied by his little son was returning to his home in Glen William after unloading a truck wagon of potatoes and called at a store on Main Street leaving the reins in the hands of the child. The horses became frightened and before anyone could reach them had completely broken away. After reaching the top of the hill west of Keenan's store the reins became entangled in the wheels and the frightened horses were pulled into the ditch. The rear of the truck was thrown in the air and the little boy hurled several feet from the truck. One of the horses turned completely on his back and it was a task to untangle the horses from wire and harness. Clear of a bad scare and shaking up the little fellow miraculously escaped injury. The horses received a number of cuts and bruises. H.

CADET INSPECTION

The annual inspection of the Montague Memorial Cadet Corps was held on the school grounds. Owing to the wet weather the boys were obliged to finish their examination in the basement of the school. They were inspected by Major A. G. Campbell, R. C. R., District Cadet Officer. The Montague cadets have a high standing in this work and this year made a good showing. Major Campbell congratulated the corps and urged them to keep up the good work. He was especially pleased with first aid and hoped the corps would go in for the Maritime championship. Halifax now holds the senior trophy. Douglas Beaman had charge of physical training and Stewart Vickers marching and drilling. These two boys did excellent work. Mr. Fred Hynes is to be congratulated on his work in training the corps to this high standard. In spite of the inclemency of the weather a large number of parents and friends attended the inspection and were much pleased with the showing. H.

"Mr. R. N. Southam, R.C.M.P., Regina, has been transferred from Charlottetown to Montague and taken up his duties of keeping law and order in the town. H.

APPRECIATION OF The Charlottetown Guardian

It is usual for a Newspaper Editor to receive more brickbats than bouquets. The following unsolicited testimonials from undoubted authorities in newspaper production are all the more appreciated on that account.

HOWARD WALLACE

Advertising Directors 45 Canterbury St. Saint John, N. B. June 2, 1932

The Editor, The Charlottetown Guardian.

Dear Sir: I have been personally interested in newspapers for twenty years, on both the editorial and revenue sides. Daily into this office on his several trips the postman brings armloads of newspapers from all over the country.

The newspaper that is chosen every day for my relaxing hour is the Charlottetown Guardian. I have never been to the Island, and have no reason to read your paper other than to hear how your editorial page comments on affairs in general, even though I am not a Conservative. I like its studies of national subjects and international ones and its brilliant assembly of Notes by the Way. Not overlooking those Health Talks. It happens that I am one of those persons whom folks flatter as widely read, and who goes in for "deep stuff" and enjoys watching the world go around with analysing eyes. So one feels moved to utter a phrase on the chatty manner the Guardian deals with things within a broad horizon of human interest in such good sense, simplicity and nice neighbor character that the children are in on the audience, too.

(Signed) HOWARD WALLACE, of Howard Wallace Advertising Directors.

FROM CHINA

Sir:—I am enclosing renewal subscription to the Guardian, which I pronounce as the best daily paper of its kind published in Canada, for I have seen nearly all of them and checked them over and have thus come to this conclusion. Most of the priests here are from the Eastern Provinces and though they get their own home town paper they always ask me for the Guardian which I always grant them. I do not ask them to exchange, because when I have read the Guardian, I know that I have read all the news.

I am, Sir, etc., REV. VINCENT MORRISON, Catholic Mission, Sung Yang Chekiang, China.

THE PEARL

THE BIRTHSTONE FOR JUNE—LONG LIFE AND LOVE

Long life and love are promised you. And many another precious boon. By both the moonstone and the pearl. Were you born within the month of June.

Truly, if the diamond is the King of gems, then June's birthstone, the pearl, must be hailed as the Queen of gems. Like the moon which is queen of the heavens, the pearl casts a mystic spell over the minds of men. Since antiquity, both these lovely, legendary queens have been worshipped for their chaste beauty and soft silvery sheen.

More closely resembling the moon, in appearance if not in magic lure, is June's other birthstone, the moonstone. For centuries natives of India have believed the moonstone to be in close affinity with the moon, because its lustrous blue color so closely resembles moonlight, from which the Indians believe the gem receives its color. And here is the origin of a phrase current in our everyday speech. These natives of India firmly believed that the best varieties of blue moonstone are washed by the tides when the sun and moon are in certain harmonious relations at intervals of twenty-one years. Hence our familiar saying, "Once in a blue moon," to denote a period of time!

It has also been believed that the silvery, moonlike color of the moon stone actually varies according to the changes in the phases of the moon. One of the theories advanced in explanation of this phenomenon was that a living spirit dwelt within the gem. The Orientals believe this spirit to be a living spirit for good.

Great magical and mystical power has been attributed to both the pearl and the moonstone. For instance it was once maintained that pearls, distilled in water, brought relief for a number of ailments, including insanity. And as late as 1670 a King of Denmark ordered the court pharmacist to prepare a pearl-milk tonic for his royal offspring!

We are indebted to the pearl for the discovery of this country, for it was the lure of fine pearls that attracted the Spanish conquistadores into the wilds of the new world. The orange blossom or the honey suckle is dedicated to those born in June.

REGULATION OF THE PROVINCIAL BOARD OF HEALTH RESPECTING DISPOSAL OF CARCASSES OF FOXES

The following Resolution is passed by this Council in the capacity of Provincial Board of Health, and under authority of Section 6, sub-sections 2, 6 and 25, and Section 11, sub-sections 1 (a) and (b) of the Public Health Act, 1927, and being further to the Regulations under said authority passed September 20, 1931: 7. Notwithstanding anything in these Regulations, carcasses of foxes dying of any disease may be removed to the premises of a qualified Veterinary Surgeon registered in the Province of Prince Edward Island for purposes of examination.
