

Danderine

Grows hair and we can prove it

Hair Becomes Soft, Fluffy, Lustrous and Beautiful Immediately After a Danderine Hair Cleanse

Get a 25 Cent Bottle Now and Forever Stop Fading Hair, Itching Scalp and Dandruff

A little Danderine now will immediately double the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scarce, just rub a coin with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair taking one small strand at a time. The effect is immediate and amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and resistance, the beauty and admirer of true hair beauty.

Try as you will after an application of Danderine, you cannot find a single trace of dandruff or loose or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be that a few weeks use when you will actually see new hair fine and downy at first—yes—but really now hair—growing all over the scalp.

Danderine is to the hair what fertilizer is to the soil and sunshine to the vegetation. It penetrates to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its life-producing properties cause the hair to grow abundantly long, strong and beautiful.

Get a 25 cent bottle of "Fashion" Danderine from any drug store or toilet shop and prove to yourself tonight—now—that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that all you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it, if you will just try a little Danderine. Real surprise awaits you.

THE ART OF LIVING.

Arnold Bennett is making a reputation not only as a novelist but as a philosopher. His little books, "How to Live on Twenty-four Hours a Day," "The Human Machine" and "Mental Efficiency," are, in the opinion of Current Literature, unique in the literature of our time. With eminent practicality and homely common sense, he discourses on such subjects as "Controlling the Mind," "Habit-forming by Concentration," "Marriage," "Success" and "The Secret of Content."

The most exciting things in the universe, he reminds us, are those with which we are most familiar—time, for instance, and our own bodies. What could be more thrilling, he asks, than time? It is the inexplicable raw material of everything. With it all is possible; without it, nothing. The supply of time is really a daily miracle, an affair genuinely astonishing when one examines it. You wake up in the morning, and lo! your purse is magically filled with twenty-four hours of the manufactured tissue of the universe of your life. It is most precious of possessions. No one can take it from you. Just as wonderful, in a different way, are the body and brain. "It has never struck you that you possess a machine? Oh, blind! Oh, dull! It has never struck you that you have at hand a machine wonderful beyond all mechanisms in sheds, intricate, delicately adjustable, of astounding, and miraculous possibilities, interminable interesting! That machine is yourself!"

Considering that we have to spend the whole of our lives in this human machine, considering that this is our sole means of contract and compromise with the rest of the world, it might be well, Mr. Bennett thinks, if we devoted more attention to it. "My aim," he says, "is to direct a man's attention to himself as a whole, considered as a machine, complex and capable of quite extraordinary efficiency, for travelling through this world smoothly, in any desired manner, with satisfaction not only to himself but to the people he meets en route, and the people who are overtaking him and whom he is overtaking. My aim is to show that only an inappreciable fraction of our ordered and sustained efforts is given to the business of actual living, as distinguished from the preliminaries to living."

NOISELESS LAWN MOWERS.

"My noiseless lawn mowers," proudly remarked a suburbanite to a visitor, pointing to a cage full of guinea pigs. "When I get a few more I'm going to hire them out to the golf club to keep the greens clipped."

"I put a low barrier of wire netting around the lawn and I want cut and then turn in the guinea pigs. They attack the worst weeds first—plantains, dandelions, etc.—because they live them the best. Then they take a little rest and tackle the grass. In a short time the lawn looks as though it had been cut by the closest machine. I'm sure that a golf green clipped in this way would be as fast again as it would be mowed in the ordinary way."—New York "Sun"

REMOVING STAINS.

Saturate grass stains thoroughly with kerosene, then put them in the wash tub.

Soak ink stains in sour milk. If a dark stain remains, rinse in a weak solution of chloride of lime.

Soak blood stains in salt water; then wash with cold water and soap, plenty of soap, afterward hot.

Rub sewing machine oil stains with lard; let stand for several hours and then wash with cold water and soap.

Wet scorch stains then rub with soap and bleach in the sun.

Wash iodine stains with alcohol, then rinse in soapy water and soap.

Soak iron rust stains thoroughly with lemon juice; sprinkle with salt and bleach for several hours in the sun.

Hot water and soap generally remove grease stains. If fixed by long standing, use either chloroform or naphtha, taking care to use none of these remedies near either fire or artificial light.

MOUNT OF OLIVES CHURCH

Recent excavations at the summit of the Mount of Olives have resulted in the discovery of the remains of a Christian Church dating from about A. D. 330. The site is thought to be the spot fixed by the oldest traditions as the spot where Christ taught his disciples how to pray. The floor of the nave is not yet uncovered, but that of the transepts is fully exposed. The floor is of mosaic and is perfectly preserved. In the chancel there are two separate floors of different designs, one 30 inches higher than the other. The lower level is thought to be a floor of St. Helena's church, while the upper is believed to be a restoration by the Crusaders. A baptismal pool was found in the south transept bearing a quite legible inscription of the name "Theodorus" in Greek letters.

NO OFFENCE INTENDED.

"Say, mother, hasn't the flamingo a nose exactly like Uncle Moritz's?"
"You shouldn't say unkind things like that, Trudi."

What One Man Says

The heating system you installed in my house recently consisting of a jacket heater and four radiators is by far the most modern, simple, scientific and economical that I have ever seen.

This system heats every room in my house to any degree of temperature I desire. Makes less work, annoyance and ashes than one stove but does the work of half a dozen. It is very saving on coal and any child or woman can attend to it. I don't see how any person who wants good heating at small cost can afford to be without your system.
