In Memoriam

MRS. WILLIAM J. CLOW

Neighbours and friends were shocked to learn on November 17th of the sudden passing away of Mrs. William J. Clow of Pleasant Grove, in her 52nd year, daughter of the late James and Eliza Affleck. Although not in good health for some time, death came very sudden and unexpected. She was up and around as usual on Sunday. Complaining of not feeling well, medical aid was called, who sent her to the Prince Edward Island Hospital. But before the dawn of another day, God called Ethel to a home beyond the sky, there to be with those she loved who had gone before. Sympathy goes out to her sorrowing husband who mourns the loss of a kind and loving wife, also two sisters, Ella Mrs. Beecher Court, Ida, Mrs. Lea R. Clow, who drove with her in ambulance a few hours before her passing away. I hear Thy Welcome Voice and Abide With Me. Service at the house and grave was conducted by Rev. Mr. MacCallum.

The pallbearers were Harold Lacey, W. W. Clow, Lester Buell, James Lemphier, John Hardy, P. Curran.

The esteem in which she was held was shown by the large crowd that gathered at her funeral to follow her remains to Donaldson Cemetery, where she was laid to rest.

Over the river she beckons to us—
A loved one who has crossed to the Other Side
The gleam of her snow white robes
I see
But her voice is drowned in the rushing tide.
She crossed in the twilight, gray
and cold
And the pale mist hid her from our mortal view
We saw not the Angels who met
Ethel there
The gates of the City we could not see
Over the river, over the river,
My Dear Ethel stands waiting to welcome us home.

In Memoriam

There passed away at the King's County Hospital on November 11th John Malcolm MacKenzie, 34, of Upper Montague, after a brief illness. The funeral service was conducted at his late residence by Rev. R. D. MacLean, assisted by Rev. P. Richardson. Members of the Baptist Church Choir under the direction of Miss C. MacLean, led in the singing of "Just As I Am," "Abide With Me," and "Softly and Tenderly." The pall bearers were Messrs Roy Gillis, Donald MacLeod, Colin MacLeod, Emmett Power, Alan Semple and John M. MacLeod. The large attendance and many floral tributes testified to the esteem in which Mr. MacKenzie was held by the community. Interment was at Montague cemetery.

The deceased is survived by his wife and three sons, Ian, Ralph, and Dan, his mother three sisters Mabel, Mrs. Lynwood MacNeill at Gardigan, Florence, Mrs. Merle Rogerson, Fanning Brook, Edna, R. N., on the staff of the Sanatorium, Charlottetown, two brothers, Angus, Charlottetown, William, Victoria Cross. Another brother, Dan, was killed overseas during the Second World War. His father predeceased him in January of this year.

The late Mr. MacKenzie was of a quiet and kindly disposition, active in those things which make for the welfare of the community. A valued member of the Baptist Church in Montague, president of the Maple Leaf Credit Union, a supporter of every worthy movement, Mr. MacKenzie was a good neighbor and a faithful friend. He lived as one who was persuaded that this life is not all that "though our earthly house of this tabernacle were dissolved we have a building of God, an house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens." His sun has gone down while it was yet day. And after sunset comes the darkness of the night. But after night comes the glorious sunrise.

Following are the floral tributes:

Wife and children.
Wreaths
Mother, sisters and brothers. Munroe family, Mack and Phyllis Duncan and Myrtle Donald, Dorothy and family.

HOW THE UNIVERSAL 'JEEP' SERVES CANADA

Every day, in countless different ways, the 'Jeep'—made by Willys-Overland—proves why it is called "Universal"! Of all 'Jeeps' sold in Canada, 2 out of 3—or more than 4,200—work on farms as tractors, trucks and mobile power units. Drawing hydraulic lift and hand-controlled field implements... towing or carrying crops to market, supplies from town... operating belt- and shaft-driven equipment such as threshers, buzz-saws and hammer mills. Many enthusiastic farmers tell us of the broad usefulness of their 'Jeeps'.

because of its great power, is slugging away at the heavy work. Here, due to its stout-hearted, equipped fire fighter, is especially designed for industrial plants, small communities or as a supplementary unit for metropolitan centres.

How, then, can one motor vehicle do so many jobs and do them all well? There are many answers to this question: First of all, the Universal 'Jeep' is purposely functional in design without the usual useless trimmings. That means economy of operation, long life and maximum freedom from repairs and layoff time. Power is developed by the rugged, thrifty Willys-Overland 'Jeep' engine and transmitted to selective two- and four-wheel drive. You can drive the highway, cut cross-country, scale stiff grades or smash through underbrush, mud, snow and sand that would stop ordinary vehicles. As a pick-up truck, the 'Jeep' can cart a payload of 1200 lbs. As a tractor it tows a 5500 lb. trailed, braked, pay load, with reserve for the hills. The power take-off delivers up to 50 h.p. for the operation of belt and shaft-driven equipment as well as factory-installed arc welder and air compressor units.

New utility vehicles by Willys-Overland, including Station Wagon and Trucks have joined it in this capacity. Other products will follow. All will continue to maintain the established Willys-Overland policy of manufacturing only units that are geared to the essential needs and the economic facts of modern life. All will be designed and built to give the consumer public the highest possible value per dollar of investment. So it is that Willys-Overland and 'Willys'-Overland products, including the Universal 'Jeep', serve Canada.
