

Transferred To Halifax War
Assets Office

Reginald D. Gaudet of the War Assets Corporation, Charlottetown, is being transferred to Halifax headquarters and leaves Monday for that city.

Previous to joining War Assets, Mr. Gaudet was five years with the R.C.A.F., three years of which were spent in the Accounting Department in London, England, and on receiving his discharge was Credit Inspector for the Maritime Provinces with Consumer Credit Division, a branch of War Assets and Trade Board until the administration was dissolved.

Mr. Gaudet also has had twelve years banking experience having resigned at Moncton, N.B. while holding the position of assistant manager and prior to enlisting was representative of Life Saver and Beech-Nut Sales Company for the Maritime Provinces.

Runaway Balloon Menaces Airways

OTTAWA, June 11—(CP)—Air traffic control at the R. C. A. F.'s Rockcliffe air station said tonight that all radar-equipped stations in the Montreal-Toronto-Ottawa area had been alerted tonight to attempt to locate a big advertising balloon trailing 300 feet of steel wire and heavy weight which broke away from Plint, Mich., tonight and which was considered dangerous to aerial navigation.

(At Toronto Trans-Canada Air Lines said the general warning had resulted in a slow-down of services between Montreal and Toronto with delays of up to four hours in main line services.)

VICTIM OF BULLET

Provincial police are continuing their investigation into the death of Edward Percy Lunau, retired Oakville businessman. He was found shot through the head at his cottage near Fenelon Falls, Ont. A high-powered hunting rifle was beside him. Both police and coroner Dr. Grattan-Graham of Fenelon Falls ruled out the possibility that he had taken his own life.

Expect To Salvage 50,000 Feet Of Oil Island Lumber

The work of salvaging the timber used by the Island Development Company in its construction of the "island" in the harbor from which oil-drilling operations were carried on for two or three years, is well under way.

The Minister of Public Works and Highways, the Hon. George H. Barbour, said yesterday that he expects about 50,000 feet of this timber, most of which is Douglas fir, will be salvaged. About 25,000 feet is already ashore at the bottom of the Prince Street Wharf.

Some of the timbers are 45 feet long with dimensions of 18 inches by 12 inches. Such timber is impossible to get at the present time, Mr. Barbour said, as his department had a recent order turned down in British Columbia. Most of what is now being salvaged from the "island" will be used, he said, in the construction and reinforcement of provincial bridges. It cost the Province the nominal sum of one dollar. Mr. Barbour said as did the scow which is approximately 35 feet long by 16 feet wide. The scow has five steel tanks which make it unsinkable.

Summerside Red Sox Win From Kinsmen

A scrappy band of ball tossers called the Kinsmen Juniors went down to defeat before the Red Sox, last year's champions, at the High School baseball diamond in Summerside last night by the score of 6 to 1. The youngsters held the Sox even for three innings, but errors in the infield paved the way for two runs in the fourth for the Red Sox, and one run in each of the next three innings. The Kinsmen scored in the first when Stewart walked and was driven in by Oatway's base hit. This counter broke a streak of thirteen innings in which Powell, big Red Sox right hander had not been scored on. The Juniors collected only three hits off Powell's offerings, the Sox banging out five against Gay, who pitched gilt-edged ball, but was poorly supported, at the time when the Kinsmen inner defence fell apart. McKay in the centre gardens for the Kinsmen made a nice one-hand catch of Landry's long drive in the third, and Perry's running catch of Stewart's low-looping fly to left centre to double McKay at first was another feature play of the game.

General Meeting Of Charlottetown Kennel Club

A general meeting of the Charlottetown Kennel Club Inc. was held in the Yacht Club on June 10 with a large number of members present and president C. P. McKenzie in the chair.

The meeting was entertained by a showing through the kindness of Mr. Frank Acorn, of two films. The first was "On the Wing", a picture of the work of Chesapeake Bay retrievers on a day's shoot among migrating wild geese. The second was a picture of beautifully trained setters—an older and a young dog—on a day's work out shooting pheasants.

The highlight of the meeting was a talk by Dr. Nordland on "Nutrition and Feeding of Dogs." In his instructive and interesting talk, Dr. Nordland explained the special needs of dogs for certain types of food. The dog's system can take care of up to 50 per cent carbohydrates—biscuits and cereals—but milk, bones and a meat diet are necessary to the development of a good and healthy dog. Some meat every day is essential, not only lean meat but fats and the internal organs as well.

The speaker in a simple and comprehensive way explained why these recommended foods were essential to the well being of dogs. He then went on to point out that in more senses than one a man's best friend is the dog. The dog's bodily function so closely resemble those of man that much of the scientific attainments in present-day preventative medicine and surgery have been reached by experimentation on dogs, including the discovery of insulin for diabetes, the use of liver in forming new blood, pellagra preventative and control of night blindness and diseases of the eye.

In a humorous way the speaker referred to the perturbation of dog owners whose charges were well cared for yet who insisted on wandering off periodically to raid garbage cans or muck heaps, returning and carrying to their well sterilized homes a piece of fish that could walk alone, or the smelliest piece of refuse obtainable. Dr. Nordland pointed out that the dog's instinct sends him on a search for vitamin K which is formed by bacterial action. In the discussion on raw vs. cooked meat as dog food, the speaker said there was not much real difference, provided in the case of cooked meat that the liquid the meat was boiled in was also used and fed to the dog.

A hearty vote of thanks was extended on behalf of members to Dr. Nordland by Mr. F.A.S. Jones, who expressed his personal thanks for an excellent talk, full of information to dog owners. The motion was supported by Dr. E.S. Notting who said Charlottetown was particularly fortunate in having a man of Dr. Nordland's scholarly attainments settle here, available for consultation.

Business Meeting

The business meeting was opened with president C. P. McKenzie in the chair. Mr. McKenzie gave a summary of club affairs, including the re-organization of May 12 and the two directors' meetings following, on May 12 and May 19. Reports of committees included that of Mr. F.A.S. Jones, chairman of field trials. Mr. Jones reported that his committee had had an enthusiastic meeting, discussing plans. Word had been received that the Maritime Brittany Association was holding only one field trials show, and that near Moncton, the last week in October. Mr. Jones' committee, pending the approval of the Association, was considering the previous week in October for their first effort.

Margate Farmer Has Own Plane, Landing Field

A 36-year-old farmer, Mr. Elton Woodside of Margate is the owner of the first private landing field and hangar in the Province.

About a year ago he began taking flying lessons and it was not long before he became intensely interested in this means of rapid transportation.

His landing field, built on his own farm, is a strip 1,800 feet long by 200 feet wide.

His wife has also become interested in flying and is now taking lessons.

Mr. Woodside has announced that he may use his new Fleet Canuck, two-passenger plane to serve those customers of his who patronize his radio repair business, and possibly, to dust his crops.

ERROR ANGERS FISHERMEN

LONDON—(CP)—A Ministry of Food bookkeeping error—a wrong entry of £200,000—($800,000)—has caused the Scottish Herring and White Fish Catcher's Federation, whom it affected, to demand "an immediate inquiry into the Ministry's administration."

The first railway in South Africa was built in 1859 from Cape Town to Wellington.

The president asked members to volunteer for work on the various committees which it will be necessary to set up to put on a fall dog show.

An animated discussion followed as to the type of show the club would sponsor. An opinion was forcibly expressed that a functions show would have a more general appeal, that local exhibitors were not so much interested in raising a championship dog as they were in knowing that they had a good dog, perhaps one a little better than their neighbors.

Mr. Frank Acorn, and Mr. Art Hogan favored a functions show this fall as a tryout to see what local people really wanted.

Discussion ended with a motion that the Board of Directors be authorized to put on the type of show which could be most easily handled by the Club.

Early in September was mentioned as the date for the next general meeting.

After the meeting adjourned members enjoyed a social hour, refreshments being served by a committee of which Mrs. C. P. McKenzie was chairman.

Battle Of The Clubs Is Ended

ST LOUIS, June 11—(AP)—The battle of the clubs ended fairly amicably today, with the U. S. Golf Association a clean and complacent victor over the professionals, and a field of 166 players prepared to tee off tomorrow in the national open at the St. Louis Country Club.

Some of the professionals were not too happy. Thirty-nine of them, by official count, had been required by the golfing fathers either to "come-down" their illegal iron club faces or to throw them out entirely. But all of them, including defending champion Lloyd Mangrum, had complied with the rule one way or the other.

In between an occasional grumble at the "tough" attitude of the U. S. G. A., the players voiced remarkable agreement that the winner of the 72-hole medal play classic probably would be either Bobby Locke, the South African sensation or little Ben Hogan, the former Texan who so far has been denied this greatest of American golfing prizes.

Jimmy Demaret, winner of this year's masters' tournament, was solid third choice.

The qualifiers include Bill Ezinicki of Toronto.
