

PARLIAMENT MAY PROROGUE BY JULY 2ND

OTTAWA, June 23—(CP)—Forenoon sittings of the House of Commons will start Monday according to present plans, Liberal Whip Ross Gray stated today. They will be started in an effort to prorogue by July 2. It was learned the Liberal caucus today decided to co-operate in an effort to close Parliament so it would not conflict with the Conservative National Convention which opens here July 5.

OTTAWA, June 23—(CP)—Criminal proceedings against textile companies mentioned in the report of Mr. Justice W. F. A. Ferguson on his investigation of the textile industry would have been "useless and fruitless" Revenue Minister Ilesly told the House of Commons.

He made the statement in the budget debate after J. S. Woodsworth, C. C. F. Leader, charged the Government with neglect of duty in failing to prosecute the companies and complained that unemployed men who broke windows in Vancouver were assailed with gas and clubs while big financiers who robbed the Government and the public were allowed to go unpunished.

Civil action for the recovery of income and profits taxes had been taken against eight companies, said Mr. Ilesly. Mr. Woodsworth was not correct in his facts when he said no action had been taken. Evidence at the textile inquiry indicated a probable shortage of tax payments by certain companies. The National Revenue Department had investigated and decided civil action was warranted.

The alleged short-payments, however, arose in connection with alleged under-valuation of inventories and the companies claimed they had paid all taxes due and had a right to value their inventories as they chose. The Department claimed inventories should be valued at cost or market price, which ever was the lower.

Several other speakers also took part in the debate today. Eric Poole (Sc-Red Deer) contended the Dominion should not have disallowed Alberta legislation and should have given the Alberta Government a free opportunity to try out its program.

A. J. Lapointe (Lib Matapedia-Matane) objected to high salaries paid officials of the Canadian National Railway and to lack of representation of French-Canadians on the railway executive and staff.

Dr. A. B. Hyndman (Con. Carleton) described Hon. Charles Dunning as one of the greatest finance ministers in Canadian history just after Mr. Dunning was taken ill and forced to leave the House.

The Government was not doing enough for the farming industry, Mr. Hyndman said. He did not complain of the large sums going to prairie farmers but complained eastern farmers were not getting equal treatment. He urged a minimum price for farm products similar to that provided for wheat growers.

"It there is to be a shuffle in the cabinet," Mr. Hyndman urged, "and the agriculture portfolio became vacant, give it to the east. Let us have a minister from Eastern Canada."

When people of Eastern Canada had collected numerous carloads of vegetables to be distributed freely in the drought area the Government had appointed a man at $6,000 a year to distribute them.

Mr. Hyndman criticized the Government as extravagant and wasteful while reducing most needed appropriations. He urged a works and wages program.

"Notify Red Cross," the message ended tersely. No details were immediately available and telephone connections were disrupted.

Pilot Rock is located about 20 miles south of Pendleton, one of the major cities of northeastern Oregon, and has a population of about 300.

It is in the same area as Heppner, which was destroyed by a flood some 30 years ago.

18 INDICTED IN U. S. SPY INVESTIGATION

NEW YORK, June 24—(AP)—The United States Government's first intensive spy investigation since the Great War was climaxed today with the naming of 18 persons, including several German officers, in three indictments charging conspiracy and espionage.

Lamar Hardy, federal district attorney, in a statement describing the conduct of the five-weeks inquiry asserted "the directing heads of the spy ring reside in Germany and are connected with the Government of that country."

In the general indictment the 18 persons are charged with forming a conspiracy for the procurement and transmission to Germany of secret information on aircraft, vessels and coast defenses of the United States. Four of those named were alleged to have transmitted a restricted code used for communication between United States military aircraft and their stations.

One defendant was charged with transmitting information regarding construction of army aircraft "with intent that the information would be used to advantage of Germany and to the injury of the United States." He is Otto Hermann Voss, an aviation mechanic who is in custody.

Among those named in the indictments were Lieut. Commanders Udo Von Bonin and Herman Menzel, believed to be residents of Berlin, both of whom are connected with the defence office of the Reich War Ministry, counter-espionage section.

Others were: Ernst Mueller, believed to be resident of Hamburg; Capt. Lieutenant Erich Pfeiffer, believed to be of Bremen; Mrs. Jessie Jordan, recently sentenced to a four year jail term in England; Johanna Hoffmann, housewife on the North German Lloyd liner Europa, who is in custody; Dr. Ignatz Theodor Griebel, an American citizen who fled to Germany during the inquiry; Werner G. Guedenberg, who followed Griebel as a fugitive; private Erich Glaser, air corps Mitchell Field, in custody; Gunther Gustav Rummich, U.S. Army sergeant who deserted his post in Missoula, Mont.; William Lonkowski, Karl Schluter, Theodor Schultze, Herbert Jaenlohen, Karl Eitel, and Schmidt and Sanders, first names unknown, all believed to be German residents.

The indictment said it was part of the conspiracy for certain of the defendants to establish communication with agents at Bremen and Hamburg and receive instructions relating to the procurement of documents, code books, signal books, blueprints, maps, models, notes and information on United States national defence secrets for transmission to other agents.

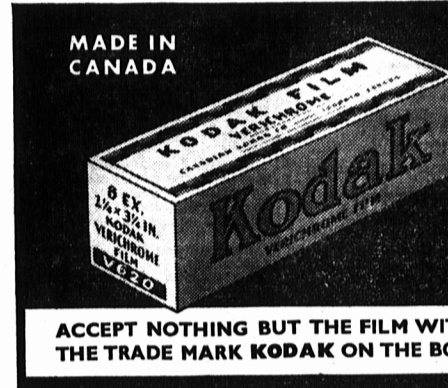

The indictment recited it was part of the conspiracy that information gathered "would be used in the injury of the United States and to the advantage of a foreign nation to wit, Germany."

Early Detection of Cancer Essential

HALIFAX, June 22—(CP)—Dr. J. E. Gendreau reported to the Canadian Medical Association today that out of 1,000 cancer cases among women treated by radio therapy alone at Montreal's Radium Institute, 440 had been treated more than five years ago and 27 per cent of these women were "living and well." Dr. Gendreau is director of the Institute.

Eighty per cent of these 440 patients had recurrences; were advanced or desperate cases; and only 20 per cent were favorable or more early cases. The treatments were often incomplete through the fault of the patient not of the technique; about 75 per cent of all patients completely treated by radium and X-rays have apparently been cured.

The doctor recommended frequent examinations by the family physician for early detection of cancer among women.

Governor-General Honored By Yale

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 22—(AP)—Lord Tweedsmuir, Governor-General of Canada, told 1,500 Yale alumni today that "democracy which a few years ago was a platitude is now a cause, a crusade, an adventure."

Speaking at a luncheon which followed the University's 277th commencement exercise at which he was awarded an honorary degree of doctor of laws, he asserted: "As I see it the world today is a contest between the spirit of merriment and kindness, as represented by my distinguished fellow graduate, Walter Disney, and those dismal people in Europe who preach and enforce what they call 'neologues'."

Walt Disney, Hollywood artist who created the film character "Mickey Mouse" was among those honored with Lord Tweedsmuir at the exercises.

Evidence Concluded In Railway Inquiry By Senate Committee

(By The Canadian Press)

OTTAWA, June 22—Independent examination of the facts relating to railway unification by engineers qualified to perform that task, with a view to correlating all the elements entering into it was urged by Sir Edward W. Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, in the Senate Railways Committee today. Such engineering firms were available and had already done work of that nature for United States railways, he said.

The inquiry wound up early this evening, so far as the taking of evidence was concerned. There remained the presentation of some memoranda asked for by the committee and the preparation of the committee's report. It is unlikely that further oral evidence will be presented.

Hearing of Sir Edward and his examination by members of the committee occupied the entire day. Senator Raoul Dandurand, Government leader, challenged one of his comments wherein Sir Edward said: "I believe it is fair to say that the officers of the C.N.R. assume the Canadian people desire to pay a large amount of money each year for the privilege of owning and operating a railway system, and do not wish the results of this railway to be subject to measurement by the ordinary yardstick of commercial administration."

The C.N.R. officers were as anxious as those of the C.P.R. to reduce expenses, said Senator Dandurand. Their measurement, however, should not be that of the C.P.R., whose yardstick was simply the obtaining of dividends and profits for their shareholders. The C.N.R. officers must give consideration to the public interest, which frequently occurs in opposition to business administration. In that respect, Sir Edward's comment was scarcely fair.

Conservative Leader Meighen took a different view of the matter. This conviction of the C.N.R. functions lay at the root of the whole trouble. The duty of the C.P.R. was to obtain a maximum of earnings from a maximum of service; but its officers had to give as much heed to the public interest as those of the government-owned road. The same factors should influence operations of the C.N.R.

Old Dress Tells of Former Days

WINNIPEG, June 23—(CP)—A honey-satin wedding dress worn in 1772 in Burlington, N. J., was shown here by Mrs. Andrew Griev at the closing meeting of the United Empire Loyalist Association.

Little sprigs of flowers were embroidered here and there on the voluminous wedding dress. "She was a Quakeress so it couldn't be very gay," she said. The whole dress was lined with soft buff silk. "I still as good as ever."

The girl who wore it Nancy, became the bride of Hon. the Rev. Jonathan Odell, first provincial secretary of New Brunswick. The Odells came to Canada when their home ceased to be British at the close of the American Revolution.

Miss Laura A. Bingham, genealogist of the association, displayed the U. E. L. list printed for Ontario, "very scarce and valuable," Prof. Joseph Howe, president of the association, told members and guests. Prof. D. C. Harvey, once professor of history at the University of Manitoba and now at Dalhousie, had recently completed a list of the Nova Scotia loyalists. The New Brunswick list was not compiled, though abundant material existed in the land grants office.

Two pairs of silver candlesticks were on display, one set from the home of Jonathan Odell, the other belonging to the grandfather of Mrs. Joseph Howe, William Henry Chipman of Halifax. The owners of the treasures were at a loss to explain how they had been saved, when families moved with hastily-packed bundles. Miss Bingham said her great-grandmother walked across the border.

Women Demand Freedom of Press

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire)

WINNIPEG, June 23—Zelby C. Armstrong of Ottawa, president of the Canadian Women's Press Club, and Mrs. A. V. Thomas, head of the Winnipeg branch, warned delegates at the opening of the club's eighth triennial meeting to guard the freedom of the press vigilantly.

Mrs. Thomas welcomed visitors from all provinces as the 32-year-old organization, formed in Winnipeg in 1906, began its four-day meet.

Miss Armstrong urged press women to maintain the high aims and principles of their country and to make valuable contributions through the power of the written word, a power which may be more potent than armies," she said. "If we put our best into it, newspaper work is still the greatest job in the world."

Oppose Relaxation Of Divorce Laws

QUEBEC, June 22—(CP)—The Catholic Women's League of Canada in annual convention here made today an "additional and vehement protest to the Minister of Justice beseeching that instead of making divorce laws any less stringent that divorce with liberty to remarry be made even more difficult."

A resolution adopted by the convention declared judges of the divorce courts "decry the methods of obtaining testimony in many sections, questioning the sincerity of the evidence and also the wisdom of granting divorces after comparatively short separation of the parties concerned."

On behalf of its members in New Brunswick, the league petitioned the minister of justice for maintenance in the criminal code laws providing punishment for adultery.

The convention made its petition in a resolution remarking there was grave danger in the plea advanced by the barristers' association of New Brunswick that "the crime of adultery be struck from the criminal code of Canada in as far as the province of New Brunswick is affected."

RETROSPECT
Do you feel you're getting old, and complain a lot—perhaps scold at the little things the younger people do?
Well, it isn't hardly fair for to rage and tear your hair, for as they are now, one time as were you.
I am getting old myself, tho' I'm not quite on the shelf. And sometimes I envy young folks at their play; But the common sense I hold, will not let me be a scold. I realize that I have had my day.
I was wild as they are now, and you too must take a bow. At the things you've done you now will laugh with joy; But when they make a mistake, you are loathe to give a break. Remember you were once a girl or boy.
Let the young folks have their fun, for their life has just begun. And the row they later hoe may prove quite hard; But insist upon your way, and they'll likely go away. Only means hoist by your own petard.
So let us think of the joys, back when we were girls and boys, All the pranks we played were really not a sin; And let's give our kids a chance cheer them onwards in their dance. You'll surely find out later joy will win.
