STERLING, Ill., June 18—Frank Healey, who was granted a divorce from his wife, Mary Fritz Healey, has been married in Iowa to Mrs. Jane Fritz, his mother-in-law.

The divorce was granted on the grounds of incompatibility and was not contested, although it was said at the time that the real reason was because of Healey's infatuation for his mother-in-law.

Healey is forty-five years of age, and his bride fifty-eight. His divorced wife, the daughter of the present Mrs. Healey, is twenty-four years of age.

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS Made Her Strong and Healthy.

Many women get run down, and are unable to look after their household duties, owing to their nervous system becoming unstrung, and when this happens, the heart starts to work in sympathy with the nerves. In Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills is combined a treatment that will cure all forms of nervous disorders, and one day a neighbor heart itself. Mrs. F. McFadyen, Brookside, Sask., writes: "It is with the greatest of pleasure I write you stating the benefit I have received from using Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. This spring I was so run down I could not do any work, and one day a neighbor advised me to try your Pills. I told her that I thought nothing could cure me, as I was too far gone. But she told me to get a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, which I did, and before I had finished them, I began to improve, and when I had finished the one box I was as strong and healthy as any person. Anyone who is suffering from heart or nerve troubles should take your Heart and Nerve Pills, and they will soon discover their worth."

BERESFORD'S WARNING.

LONDON, June 17—Lord Charles Beresford, in a letter to the press this morning, strongly criticises the policy of reducing the British Naval strength in the Mediterranean and argues that the adoption of the program which he submitted three years ago, estimated the cost $340,000,000, would have prevented the present crisis. Lord Charles says:

The government having practically determined virtually to abandon the naval defence of the Mediterranean, what the nation must bear and decide quickly is whether or not it will permit the weakening to the breaking point of what is the main link of the defence of the empire. He contends that the general strategic position has now as its objective neither France nor Russia, but another foreign power, and that power alone. He holds that the proposal that England's responsibility in the Mediterranean should be devolved upon France, is a gross and palpable admission of weakness, adding, there are only two courses open to the country, one is the maintenance of the naval supremacy of Great Britain, the alternative is to resign our naval supremacy and give up the keys of the strategic center of the empire and rely upon the system of alliance which has always proved disastrous and which will prove equally fatal in the future.

The navy, he goes on to say, is underrmanned, twenty thousand short of the number of men required to place it on an effective footing.

LONDON, July 17—The Daily Express announces on the authority of a correspondent whose sources of information, it asserts, are undoubted, that the government will alter its policy regarding the Mediterranean, having been convinced by Lord Kitchener's stand against the weakening of either the land or the sea forces.
