With regard to our sea fish there is little or no danger of depletion by persistent and annual fishing, as many think that this danger exists particularly with regard to lobsters, may exist in the case of a few inshore areas being over-fished in disregard of regulations, and of nature's laws. The sea can sustain only a definite amount of fish in any year. Leaving them entirely alone for some definite number of years would, or will, not increase their numbers, as the food in the sea is sufficient for a certain number only. The sea is annually replenished and there is no danger of depletion.

BALTIC STARCH FACTORY.—This starch factory situated at an extremely suitable location on a good stream, near the Battle Station, is proving a grand market for the surrounding farmers potatoes. It has been a great uplift to the farmers, providing a home market for the raw potato, right from the field, big and small as they grow. As a result, scores of the potatoes show improvement in weight. Amongst the biggest patrons are Messrs Austin, Grady, Fairfield, Pius McAllister, Campbell's Cove, A. F. Campbell and others who reside near by the Campbell's Cove deposits of sea manure, kelp, the very best fertilizer in the world for potatoes containing as it does, a large percentage of potash. Last fall as high as $1.10 per cwt was paid for potatoes at the factory. But starch was then very high about 12c a pound, whereas it used to be only 2c and 3c a pound. Starch, since the war ended, is lower and now is about 7c. Ten pounds of potatoes make one pound of starch, so that a cwt, makes ten pounds, or $1.25 last fall in the starch. This year the potato crop with the patrons is excellent, but they cannot expect last fall's prices, probably 60c a cwt, would be a fair price.—S.

Capt. P. J. Webb, who has been in Prince Edward Island for the last three weeks returned home on Saturday. In conversation with a Post reporter, Capt. Webb stated that the Island was the most prosperous spot in the Dominion. "The first garden of Canada. I travelled from one end of the Island to the other" said the captain, "and I did not see any evidence of war. The Island is poor, I happened to be in Tignish visiting Sir Charles Dalton on election day. Sir Charles was the conservative candidate for Tignish. After polling his vote in his own constituency he decided to poll a second vote in another constituency some 65 miles away. His son, Dr. Dalton and myself accompanied him. On the way, in order to avoid running into a farmer and his team over a small embankment. The injuries sustained, however, were slight. I got away with a bruised hand, but Dr. Dalton received a gash in the forehead. After the car was righted we made port under our own steam. Sir Charles intends to visit Sydney in the near future. The fox business is beginning to flourish again in the Island. Last year there were sold $900,000 worth of fox pelts, this year the outlook is still brighter. Sir Charles Dalton the man who gave the fox business the first great impetus, is one of the Island's greatest benefactors. During the war he contributed thousands of dollars for war purposes. The Dalton Hall, situated on the grounds of St. Dunstan's College is a lasting monument to Sir Charles zeal in the cause of education." His name is at present frequently connected with the governorship of the Island, an office made vacant by the death of Lieut. Gov. McDonald. "It is certain," said Capt. Webb, "that no man could be more fitted for the task." "What business did you do in the Iona Gypsum stock?" queried the reporter. "Excellent," was Captain Webb's reply. "Notwithstanding that the people of the Island have invested heavily in war bonds, fox and industrial stock, we have succeeded in selling more of the Iona Gypsum stock than we expected. This hay and vegetable crops never had a better outlook at this time of the year. Lobster fishing has been fair. The people are apparently contented and optimistic."—Sydney Post.

CORRECTION.—In the report of the Alberton races published in the Guardian of Friday the summary should have given Pollie Prim, J. Christopher, 2, 1, 1, 2, 1, 1, and Benny, J. F. Arsenault 1, 2, 2, 1, 1. In the report given these were reversed.

BAND CONCERT TONIGHT.—A serenade band concert is to be held at Victoria Park this evening by the War Veterans Band. The concert will take place in front of Mr. Garnham's refreshment bungalow near the shore. HELPING THE BOYS.—Individual effort, unselfish and social, could in many sections of Canada do much to dispel the unrest and discontent at present prevailing among returned soldiers. We had an instance of this late Saturday says a correspondent during a short stay in Cumberland, Lo. 65, at the home of Mr. Garnet Campbell whose household consists of self, young wife and venerable mother, an old lady of 84 years of age still possessing all her faculties and speaking the beautiful lowland Scotch accent, and of whom we might mention an incident which occurred lately. It seems the egg collector on his rounds mentioned to her how hard his wife had to work as she was rearing six children. The old lady quickly replied she had raised sixteen, ten of her own and six orphans. Well, at this home of Mr. Campbell who had a nephew in the army, it has been the custom to welcome the returned soldier boys; all feel they are not only welcomed, but entertained with music and song, and on the 26th ult. about twenty soldier boys and young lady friends met and not only were they entertained with music and song but were treated to a sumptuous repast by Mr. Campbell. Among the ladies who entertained we noticed three daughters of Mr. Guillard Lowther of Red Point.—S.

DURING the last few years people have had to be content with many lines of goods that were inferior in quality to those procurable before the war.

To-day, people are demanding the better grades again. Those who from a mistaken idea of economy tried to be satisfied with common teas are coming back to Red Rose Tea. They realize that they cannot be satisfied with anything less than Red Rose Quality.

And Red Rose probably will cost them no more than common tea, because Red Rose not only tastes better—it goes farther.

Consisting chiefly of Assam teas—the richest and strongest grown—three teaspoonfuls of Red Rose goes as far as five of ordinary tea. A brewing will prove it.

Sold only in sealed packages.

HEAVY THUNDER STORM.—The thunder storm that passed over St. Eleanor's and Linkletter on Friday afternoon did damage at both places. At St. Eleanor's the lightning struck a barn on Mr. Hubert Mills' farm damaging it considerably. Part of one end of the building was knocked in and the rest shattered badly. At Linkletter a calf owned by Mr. H. Harvey was killed, the lightning having struck a tree under which the calf was lying, splintering the tree in bad shape and killing the calf. The tree was only a few feet from the house.

STREET WORK.—The concrete laying on Haviland St. and other work in the south west corner of the city was finished on Saturday and the big concrete mixer in top of the street roller was moved to Elm Avenue. On Elm Avenue the concrete curbs are being put in preparatory to laying the asphalt, and Queen Street from Kent to Easton is now being graded and is to have a concrete base for the asphalt covering. The work is getting along well and a large amount of road bed will be ready for the asphalt by the time the plant is ready for operation.

DISTRESSING ACCIDENT.—A most distressing accident took place at Northam last week. A son of Mr. Obadiah Ramsay about 13 years of age was in the field cutting hay with a mower. He had stopped and one horse having refused to start he asked a little brother to hit him with a switch. The little fellow, about six years old, suddenly ran before the knives and did so. The horse made a jump forward the result being that one of the boy's legs was almost severed near the ankle. The doctor was hastily summoned and the leg was sewn together but no hopes is entertained that the foot can be saved.
