Deft Pickpockets Taught Trade By Masters In Art
VIENNA, Nov. 15.—The mental and physical make-up of that world-wide class of minor criminals, the pickpocket, has been set forth with convincing accuracy by the one man in Europe doubtless best qualified to do so, Dr. E. Lewisch, for 18 years chief of the pickpocket section of the Vienna police.

The chief was addressing the delegates to the international police congress. The pickpocket, he said, was essentially a nomad, a rover. He finds his prey on the street, in places of amusement, when an accident draws people together, in the cloakroom of a theater, in short, wherever there is a crowd. He may operate in Vienna today, and tomorrow be off to a city a hundred miles away. He must be ready to "keep moving and give up and then if a settled home in Europe he must be a good linguist.

It is reasonably certain, Dr. Lewisch said, that these men are systematically trained in their work, and he believed the best schools are in Poland and Hungary. Beside strength and manual dexterity the pickpocket must have presence of mind, knowledge of men, and a ready adaptability to cope with unexpected and dangerous situations. Unbounded self-reliance, self-confidence, and a ready eloquence are important assets, and often help him to calm the agitation of his victim, avert suspicion, and even win the confidence and gratitude of the man to whom he is robbing.

The successful pickpocket needs well-formed hands, strong and with long, narrow fingers. He must be able to seize a heavy purse with two fingers as with a pair of pliers, and extract it from a pocket by a quick and sure movement.

He must also be able to twist a watch ring out of its bearings with as easy a grace as if picking it down from the stem.

In court the pickpocket denies passionately every charge brought against him. He admits absolutely nothing. He has a ready excuse to carry it to the police station. Before the judge he will simulate fearlessness or ignorance of the language of the court. He will fight for time by asking questions in his own account, or pretend sickness or even insanity.

It takes time to build a good case against a pickpocket. Dr. Lewisch declared. He must be held while his record, often in other countries, is being looked up. He must be fingerprinted and photographed, and these evidences distributed to the police authorities all over Europe. And when he is found guilty, Dr. Lewisch concluded, give him a long sentence, preferably in the penitentiary.

MISS BRIDGET COADY
A sad gloom was cast over the vicinity of Newton Cross, when the many friends of Bridget Coady, learned of her sudden death in Charlottetown, last Friday.

The late Miss Coady was born in Newton Cross, sixty-five years ago. At an early age she went to the United States, whence she returned to P. E. Island, a few years ago. Wherever she went she won the esteem of a vast host of friends.

The death of the deceased was a rather unexpected one. She was visiting in Charlottetown in her usual good health, and while taking her afternoon walk, she suddenly fell with an epileptic stroke, and her spirit went its way homeward to its God.

Her remains were forwarded by train to her home in Newton Cross Saturday afternoon, and on Sunday afternoon all that remained of a loving sister and friend was conveyed to St. Michael's church, Iona, performed her duties nobly and well, yet the sense of loss at her death will ever remain to those who are left behind.

During her illness she was consoled by frequent visits of her pastor, Rev. Dr. Walker, from whose hands she received the last rites of the Holy Catholic Church.

The funeral which took place, Saturday, Nov. 10th, to St. Alexis church Rollo Bay, was largely attended. Requiem High Mass was celebrated by the pastor, Rev. Dr. Walker. The services at the grave were conducted by Rev. Reginald McDonald.

She leaves to mourn, three sons and four daughters—William of Gowan Brae, Frank of Souris River, Melvin of Lacombe, Sask., Mrs. John McQuaid, Souris, Mrs. Corrigan, Stockton, California, Mrs. M. B. Scully, Nelson, B.C., and Mrs. R. A. Rood, Waltham, Mass. Her husband predeceased her seven years ago.

Her numerous friends will learn with regret of the death of Mrs. Wilson Howatt, which occurred in Charlottetown on the 31st of October. She is survived by her husband, three sons, and two daughters, the sons are Wilfred now residing at Gorham, New Hampshire, Leaman in Calgary, Alberta, and Hiram at home; the daughters are Mrs. L. Russell Morris of Vancouver, B. C., and Mrs. J. J. Bethune Charlottetown, one brother, Robert Haywood residing in Edmonton, Alberta, and one sister Mrs. Murphy in Western Canada, besides a large number of relatives and friends who will miss her hospitable and kind welcome.

The late Mrs. Howatt was always kind and patient, ever ready to do good for others, a true friend

Mr. Buckley's Address at Rotary Club
The chief speaker at Rotary yesterday was Mr. A. Buckley, National Boys' Work Secretary, National Council, Y. M. V. A., who described the conference held in Austria under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. at which fifty-four nations were represented. It was held there because it was in Europe, and because Europe was sick, as a result of the international jealousy and bitterness, and it was hoped through this conference a plan of policy of world brotherhood would be formulated.

It was held in Europe too for financial reasons, and on this point Mr. Buckley told in a humorous way how he had the best of accommodation in a summer resort for two weeks, and owing to the great depreciation of the Austrian crown the cost to him was only $3.30 a week in our currency.

He gave an interesting description of the opening of the conference, and the appearance of the delegates from those fifty-four nations as they arrived in town. The singing of the opening hymn, with the same tune, but sung in the language of the delegates, was at first weird, then humorous, and eventually tremendously gripping.

The language of the conference was English. It was understood by about seventy per cent of those present. It was interesting to know that the Canadian programme of boys' work was the only national programme that was discussed for a period of time. As a result of the boys' conference, which was expected would emphasize the possibilities of boyhood in the future life of the nations, four boys' work secretaries were appointed in order to propagate the ideas that were developed at the conference.

Mr. Buckley then described economic conditions in a number of European countries he visited and touched on the great need and poverty now existing. Whatever resentment we may feel against the leaders in the enemy country there is no doubt much sympathy must be felt for the young people of these countries. In Austria he said he found no sign of any bitterness toward Great Britain.

The guests present yesterday were Rotarian Andrew W. Robb, Rotarian J. Fred Fraser, Halifax; Mr. Lucas of the British Empire Steel Corporation; C. H. Thomey, Charlottetown; Harry Porter, Toronto; C. H. Harrington and Courtenay Harbour of New York. The two last named gentlemen are here conducting the campaign in aid of the Prince Edward Island Hospital.

Mr. Harbour made a brief address asking the Rotarians to get behind the Prince Edward Island Hospital drive. He showed why funds were needed in order to provide a new heating plant which would mean a saving in coal of $2,500 a year, remodeling the interior to provide for forty additional beds, and installing new plumbing, and other improvements. It was hoped also to discharge the present debt on the hospital. The total cost of raising the money would be less than a year's interest on the amount raised.

The musical programme included a violin solo by Mr. Porter.

IN MEMORIAM
MRS. VALENTINE MULLALLY
These died at Gowan Brae, on Nov. 8th, Mrs. Valentine Mullally, in the advanced age of 81 years.
