

ALWAYS AILING!

How many women there are to whom these words apply exactly! They are not quite "sick in bed", but they almost wish, as they struggle through each day, that they were. Frequent headaches, loss of energy, loss of appetite, depression and attacks of biliousness and indigestion make life a dragging misery.

In nearly every case the cause of it all is chronic constipation, that trouble so often made light of, but which brings about so much suffering. As a result of it the whole system is filled with impurities and almost everything, including the special functions of womanhood, goes wrong.

Hundreds of thousands of women have had reason to thank Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills for relief from all this chain of miseries, and for restoration to health and happiness. For over fifty years, and in every part of the world, these Pills have been tested and proved a great female medicine.

Being purely vegetable, they are not harsh like salts and so many other purgatives, nor do they weaken, sicken or gripe.

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills are a perfect blood purifier, and a sure cure for biliousness, indigestion, headache, sallow complexion, liver and kidney troubles, piles, pimples, boils and other ailments that arise from the sluggish action of bowels, liver or kidneys. By purifying the blood and invigorating every organ in the whole body they relieve and cure female ailments and restore normal, healthy conditions.

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills are, in truth, a blessing to women, as Mrs. Harrison, of Richmond, Va., found. She writes:

"About six weeks ago I first used Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills, and I must state that I found them a most superior medicine. My complaint was peculiar to women—langour, debility, and bilious attacks, which combined to make my days thoroughly wretched. Indeed, there were spells when I used to wonder in the morning how I could manage to get through my household duties, and was forced to struggle through the day when I should have been in bed. Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills have made me vigorous and well. I noticed the change from the very first dose."

SUCCESS WITH MORGANS.

Many a Horse of This Strain Has Helped to Raise the Mortgage.

Many a Morgan horse has helped to pay off the mortgages and educate the boys and girls of our state. The demand for horses was never better than today. Prices are high and are likely to continue so. Horse power will not soon be displaced through automatic means. There are now many auto vehicles in use, but "the horse is still on the job."

A natural taste for the business is essential for success. A man must be a fair judge of blood lines and how to combine them for best results. No man can afford to spend his time in raising mongrels. Do not mate small mares with large draft stallions. If a cross is necessary, mate a draft mare to a stallion of fair size, a descendant of some one of the trotting families. If draft horses are desired, have sire and dam of that blood.

The selection of the stallion should always be for the good there is in him. He should be masculine in every fiber, with the distinguishing beauty and strength, fire and courage of the male. The selection of the mare is no less important. It is she that is to nourish the colt before and after birth. The mare should not be coarse at any point. Her beauty should be feminine. She should carry more muscle and flesh than the stallion.

She should be more rounded in outline, finer in head and limb, than the stallion. Her strength should be that of fleetness, her fire that of docile playfulness, her courage that of ambition to perform. Always breed from the mature animal. No well developed colt will come from undeveloped parents. Degeneration will always result from the breeding of immature or broken down animals. The best stock is always the cheapest.

Work Horse Don'ts.

Don't jerk the work horse. The bit will make his mouth sore, and he will become nervous and annoy you more than ever.

Don't let the harness rub the horse's back. Put a pad under the back piece. Galling sores take the life from your beast of burden and cut down his flesh.

Don't work a misfitting collar. A sore or swelled shoulder will most certainly result. Then your horse will be on the pasture when you need him at the plow.

Don't neglect the galled place on the horse's shoulder. Wash it clean with clean water at night and rub on some good salve. A soft pad will prevent the galled spots. It pays to buy them.

Don't make your work horse drink stagnant water from an old pond just because you feel too tired to pump cool and clear water from a well or lead him a little farther to a good spring. Horses, like men, enjoy good, cool water when they are tired and thirsty. The work horse will do better on it because he will drink freely.

STOCK VAGARIES

Our Rocky mountain prehistoric horses are generally believed to be the original ancestors of all the extinct members of the horse family in the world, but the fact cannot be definitely established until the pliocene deposits of central Asia have been explored.

Jumping Horse.

The noted jumping horse Heatherbloom, for which Howard Willets of White Plains, N. Y., recently refused an offer of $20,000, jumped over a fence recently and received injuries of such character that he had to be shot. Heatherbloom held the record of eight feet six inches as a jumper, having made the record in Chicago among a class of fifty this season.

Feed Rack For Cattle.

The most economical feed rack I have used for cattle, says an expert, is made by taking four fenceposts or similar material, each five feet long, and nailing boards around them in the form of a box. The bottom boards should be two inches from the ground and from twenty-four to thirty inches in the height of the mangers, depending on the size of the cattle.

Arsenic to Tone Horses.

H. S. Bedwell of Grand Junction, formerly a druggist in Denver, has his racing stable at the Empire City track at Yonkers, N. Y. Arsenic, a deadly poison, is the secret through which Bedwell has been able to keep his horses in good racing condition, and each day they have a certain proportion in their food as a tonic. "Horses, like men, lose their vital force through hard work," he says. "In order to tone them up I give them arsenic in small doses. It serves as a tonic for the blood, and with the blood in good condition my horses thrive and are able to race at their best speed."

Sensational Brood Mare.

The sensational price of $80,000 was the other day paid at Tattersall's, in London, for the brood mare Flair, the property of the late Sir Daniel Cooper. The previous record price for brood mares was $62,500, paid for Lafebe.

TWO KINDS OF STATISTICALS.

Mr Ewing was "great on statistics," as his enthusiastic son put it. "Now you," he said to his wife one day, "are like most women, my dear, in that you have no head for figures. I dare say, for example, that you don't know how many negroes there are in this town."

"No, I don't," replied the lady, and was going to say more, but he interrupted her.

"And I don't suppose you know the rate of the new tariff on silk goods," he continued, triumphantly, "and me in the business, too," he added.

"No, I don't," said his wife again, but—

"All these things," went on the man, "have their bearing on our daily lives. What is the matter, my dear?" he asked, as he noticed his wife's eagerness to speak.

"Your speaking of useful statistics," said the woman, "made me think. What, for instance, is the size of your socks?"

"Why, why, why, you always buy them for me, my dear," replied her husband, smiling, "and I'm sure I can't say."

"What size are my stockings?" Mr. Ewing shook his head.

"What size are Mary's, or Tommy's? What size shoes do they wear? How many pounds of meat do we need for dinner? What is the measurement of Tommy's waist? What—"

"Oh, I give it up," said Mr Ewing, in disgust. "What should I know of those things? I was talking about real statistics."

"But you said," returned his wife, "that women had no heads for figures."

Recipe for 16 Ounces of Cough Syrup

No Better Remedy at any Price. Fully Guaranteed.

Make a plain syrup by mixing two cups of granulated sugar and one cup of warm water and stir for two minutes. Put 2 1/2 ounces of pure Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a 16 oz. bottle, and fill it up with the Sugar Syrup. This gives you a family supply of the best cough syrup at a saving of $2. It never spoils. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

The effectiveness of this simple remedy is surprising. It seems to take hold instantly, and will usually stop the most obstinate cough in 24 hours. It tones up the jaded appetite and is just laxative enough to be helpful in a cough, and has a pleasant taste. An excellent for bronchial trouble, throat tickle, sore lungs and asthma, and an unequalled remedy for whooping cough.

This recipe for making cough remedy with Pinex and Sugar Syrup (or strained honey) is a prime favorite in thousands of homes in the United States and Canada. The plan has been imitated, though never successfully. If you try it, use only genuine Pinex, which is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, and is rich in galuol and all the natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this recipe.

A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex or will get it for you. If not send to The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

A Phone Means More Business
No matter how large your store or the number of customers you have you are standing in your own light if you haven't a phone installed—and this applies also to the small stores.
The very appearance of a phone in your store is a sign of your up-to-dateness and hustling enterprise which customers will notice and appreciate. Then, through the phone, you can secure the very best class of customers—the telephone users—people who want your goods and are ready to pay for them. With the assistance of the phone you can secure ready information about the markets, you can stock up on certain goods to suit the demand and can enjoy every advantage the larger stores possess.
See Contr. Dept. today—it means more money for you.
