THE FLEMING GOVERNMENT SUSTAINED IN NEW BRUNSWICK.

The alignment of parties in provincial affairs in New Brunswick is somewhat different from that in the other great divisions of the Dominion. What is called straight party government is practically unknown. The earlier Administrations in the Province were composite, though mainly Conservative. The Blair Government, which came in in 1882, while led by a Liberal and being largely Liberal in its composition, contained one or more well known Conservatives in federal affairs. The same was true of the Administration led by Hon. H.R. Emmerson, which followed, and also the Tweedie and Pugsley Governments, although these latter two Premiers had in their earlier careers been Conservative and had now become professedly Liberal.

When the great change came in 1908 and Hon. J. D. Hazen was called to form his Administration, he followed in part the example set by the leaders who had preceded him and made up a composite Government, in which while the dominant elements were Conservative, there was one prominent Liberal in the person of Hon. Mr. Morrissey. This was continued under Premier Fleming when he succeeded Mr. Hazen in the leadership, on the promotion of the latter to a seat in Mr. Borden's Government. It was the Administration thus composed that has now been so triumphantly sustained at the polls. The result, as announced in our despatch of yesterday, seems to be the most unanimous and sweeping in the entire political history of the Province.

That both Mr. Hazen and his successor, Mr. Fleming gave the Province good honest administration has been the prevalent impression here for a good while and the people of New Brunswick seem to share that impression. At least they will give Mr. Fleming another term of trial. Since 1908 important reforms had been introduced, notably in the audit of the public accounts, in the collection of the revenue from crown lands, which had been increased by some $200,000 a year, in the reduced cost of school books, in providing pensions for school teachers after long service, and in the public roads system.

It is worthy of remark that some of the federal public men took part in the contest, notably Hon. Dr. Pugsley, Hon. Mr. Emmerson, Senator King and Mr. Carvell on the Liberal side and Hon. Mr. Hazen and others on the Conservative part. By these gentlemen the contest was treated as a straight party one. The leading party papers also fought it out as if it were a federal contest and made predictions accordingly, which were about as successful as such forecasts usually are. The St. John Globe was an exception and supported the Government. On the one side a Liberal sweep was confidently promised and on the other side a Conservative victory was assured.

It is a hard task to dislodge a Government once it is securely seated, unless some gross act of wrongdoing can be brought home to it. Any political significance in federal affairs to be attached to the result will be gathered from the fact that St. John, which is represented at Ottawa by both Mr. Hazen and Mr. Pugsley, has for the time endorsed Mr. Hazen, while both Mr. Emmerson and Mr. Carvell see their respective counties endorse the candidates whom they had most strenuously opposed. This may mean much or little, according to the observer's point of view.

is by Edward Douglas White, a native of Louisiana, a boy soldier in the Confederate Army and a former Democratic United States Senator from the Pelican State. It is well to have the civil rights of the blacks everywhere sustained, remarks the Brooklyn Daily Eagle. It is pleasant to all patriotic Americans to know that in the sustaining of such civil rights the thinking and representative men of the South, of whom none is more representative than Chief Justice White, yield place to no Northerner. The negro problem can be solved by Southerners alone. If they can be as broad as Chief Justice White, it will be solved justly and effectively and finally.

NEGRO KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS WIN.
In many parts of the South there is a strong feeling among the whites against negro secret societies. In Georgia an effort has been made to put an end to the organization of the Knights of Pythias as it exists among the colored people. The Supreme Court of that State ordered these colored Knights to stop using the regalia and symbols of the order. An appeal was taken to the Supreme Court of the United States. Now the State courts are overruled, and the absolute right of the Georgia negroes to be Knights of Pythias is sustained. Affecting all the Southern States, this decision gratifies some 300,000 negro members.

THE INVENTOR OF THE EDITORIAL "WE."
Who was the inventor of the editorial "we?" Many a time and oft has this question been asked, and now at last the responsibility has been fixed on—whom do you think?—Milton! That the author of "Paradise Lost" was the first to use the fictitious plural instead of the truthful singular is shown pretty conclusively in an article entitled "John Milton, Journalist," which appears in the current "Oxford and Cambridge Review."

Most folk, probably, will be surprised to hear that Milton ever was a "journalist," though we all know he wrote pamphlets, remarks an exchange. It seems, however, that for a year, all but one week, he edited a weekly "newsbook" which bore the dignified title of the "Marcusius Politicus." This was in 1651, when Milton was 43. The "newsbook," which appeared on Thursdays, and mainly consisted of letters from abroad, strung together with just a few connecting words, came into being on March 6th of the year mentioned, when six copies were handed in to the Register of the Company of Stationers (the forerunners of the Stationers' Hall of to-day), "by order of Mr. Milton." Each number, moreover, was published under the hand of Mr. Milton.

A SANE FOURTH OF JULY.
The movement for a "sane" Fourth of July has grown rapidly in this country and has proved eminently satisfactory. Three years ago only a score of cities had adopted the idea of a sane and safe celebration of the Fourth of July, eliminating the use of fireworks in the hands of children of few—many years and of fools. Last year more than one hundred and fifty cities had made the idea a part of their municipal law—and enforced the regulation. In 1909 more than 5,300 persons were killed or injured as the result of Fourth of July accidents due to fireworks. Last year this number had been reduced to about sixteen hundred, considerably less than one-third as many.

What the sad aftermath of the Fourth of July this year will be depends entirely on the city fathers of our municipalities. We know that the chapter of accidents will be less, for the same Fourth idea has spread during the last year, but we know, too, that it will not be as small as it should be, because many municipal authorities will neglect their plain duty in this important matter.

Now is the time to prepare for legal prevention. N. Y. Herald.

NOTES.
It is approaching that season of the year when one is convinced that there are many worse occupations than that of school teacher.—Toronto Star.

Better still, and what Parliament ought to offer, would be a prize for a strictly Canadian flag, representing the nine Provinces and typifying Canadian sentiment and Canadian unity. Canada first, last and all the time. That's the slogan that will draw us all together. Then why not give us a Canadian flag?—Windsor Record.

Women in overalls are working in the mills of Syracuse, running drills, lathes, presses and the like from 7 in the morning till 6 at night, the same as the men. The equal rights for both sexes movement is advancing in some places, so far as industry is concerned, says exchange. It has its disadvantages, however. Working in a mill is labor for the strong in body.

The sun rises early these days, and the daylight-saving talk is being revived in many places.—enthusiasts advocating the putting forward of the clock so that business may be begun at 7 a.m., instead of 8 as at present. In reply it may be asked why the hands of time should be interfered with. Let the workers begin at 7, as they used to, or earlier if they wish. There is nothing in the way, save the desire to lie in bed, which is extremely popular with a large section of the public.—Montreal Gazette.

"THE MEISTERSINGERS" AT B. F. KEITH'S, BOSTON.

In response to thousands of requests from patrons all over New England, B. F. Keith has engaged as a special summer feature at his beautiful playhouse, commencing Monday, July 1st, "The Meistersingers", composed of the Harvard, Schubert and Weber Male Quartettes of Boston. This wonderful singing organization, which created a veritable furore during their six weeks' engagement at this house last summer, will appear in what is said to be the most magnificent scenic production ever staged in vaudeville. "Camping Out," at their beautiful sylvan retreat in the wilds of Maine.

A massive cycloramic state setting has been built, representing a charming vista of lake and forest and in the shore of the Rangley Lake. In this entrancing scene on the moonlit shores of the lake, "The Meistersingers" will be heard in that perfection of voice blending and tone quality for which they are famous. The programme arranged for "The Meistersingers" this season is entirely new, and is composed of one of the most remarkable and operatic airs ever got together. Over one hundred musical gems will be introduced during the engagement, a complete change of programme being made weekly. "The Meistersingers Camping Out," promises to be one of the greatest features ever seen in Boston during the summer months, and no theatre goer will want to miss this magnificent offering.

ALFALFA, CLOVER.
The growing of alfalfa clover is still in the experimental stage in this Province. Several very fine patches of this clover have been seen in each of the three Counties this season, and we hope to see many more tests started this year.

As a fodder crop for growing stock or dairy cattle it has no equal. It is very rich in protein, that is in a readily digestible form.

In selecting land for a plot of alfalfa, see that there are no pockets or depressions that will hold water during wet periods. The ground should be well drained and a sandy or sandy loam soil is probably best. However, this plant adapts itself to many soils as does the common red clover, except that it cannot live with "wet feet."

Weeds are the worst enemy the alfalfa plant has here and for this reason it is well to sow it on land after a hoed crop such as potatoes or turnips. If the land is worked occasionally during the spring to kill the weeds, and then in June or the first week in July worked thoroughly and seeded with alfalfa at the rate of about 20 lbs. per acre, you may be almost sure of a good catch.

A dressing of manure might be applied to a piece of new meadow that died out owing to the drought in 1911 either before or after the present hay crop is removed. A week after this is plowed under a good seed bed can be made and alfalfa sown. The writer has gotten an excellent catch in this way as late as the second week in August, though an earlier sowing is advisable. If weeds are numerous and persistent, alfalfa will do best sown in rows so that a narrow cultivator can be run between them.

In land where alfalfa has never been grown it is well to get some soil from a field in which alfalfa has been grown and spread it over your plot, 25 lbs. of such soil is enough for 1 acre. If this cannot be obtained, Nitro-tro-Culture may be purchased from the Agricultural College at Truro for 25 cents and applied to the seed as directed before sowing.

In either of these ways a bacteria that is necessary to the alfalfa plant is introduced. Tests have been conducted with different varieties at the Experimental Station here. At present we may say that Turkestan is one of the best varieties. Hungarian alfalfa has done better but the seed is not to be had at present in any quantity. The alfalfa plant is quite as tender as red clover during the first few
