LETTERS ON DEATH OF PTE. EDWARD MUTTART

Mr. Freeman Muttart, of Bothwell, recently received word that his son, Private Edward Muttart had been killed in action. Deceased, who was twenty-five years of age, enlisted in Charlottetown in the 55th Battalion, being later transferred to the 14th Battalion, Royal Montreal Regiment. He was in the trenches four months after going to the front, when illness comepelled his return to England, where he spent six months in hospital. He was then invalided home and after a short sojourn here returned to duty, and sad to say, was less than a month in the trenches when he died a soldier's death.

His father has received the following correspondence in reference to his death:—

Headquarters 14th Canadian Bat.,
Royal Montreal Regiment,
November 22, 1916.

Mr. Freeman Muttart,
Bothwell,
P. E. I.

Dear Sir,—

It is my sad duty to inform you of the death of your son, Pte. Edward Muttart, which occurred yesterday morning about 7:30 in the front trenches.

Your son was shot through the head by a sniper and died instantly. His body was given a Christian burial some few miles behind the line, with religious ceremonies, today; the officiating clergyamn was (Rev.) Capt. Moffat, Presbyterian Chaplain, attached to the 3rd Brigade. I was personally present at the funeral as well as many of his comrades.

Canada has lost a good soldier and all of us a gallant comrade.

I hope in the years to come when time will have lightened this serious blow, the fact that your son died for his country will be of some consolation to you.

Please accept the sincerest sympathies of all ranks of this Battalion.

Yours sincerely,

R. P. CLARK,
Lieut. Colonel

France, Nov. 24th, 1916

Mr. Freeman Muttart,
Bothwell, P. E. I.,

Dear Mr. Muttart:—

I want to offer you my sincere sympathy with you in the death of your son, E. Muttart, of the 14th Canadians. You have doubtless heard that he was instantly killed by a German sniper on the morning of November 21st, about half past seven. The Battalion had his body brought out to a cemetery some miles behind the line, where I conducted the funeral service the next evening about five o'clock. Besides some of his comrades, Lt. Col. Clark, commanding officer of the Battalion, and some more of the officers were present.

The cemetery is beside the railway station of a place called Villiers au Bois, and the graves will all be kept permanently.

You have given greatly indeed to the great cause for which we fight, and perhaps in the days to come you will find pride and comfort in the thought that your son perished "on duty" for what he considered right. May our loving Father give you strength, grace and comfort in your hours of grief. With all Christian sympathy to you and yours, I am yours sincerely, LOUIS W. MOFFATT CHAPLAIN, 3rd Canadian Inf. Brigade,
Attached, 15th Canadian Battalion.

France, November 24th, 1916.

Dear Mr. Muttart:—

I am very sorry indeed, to be writing to tell you that your son passed away on November 21st, being instantly killed by the enemy's fire while honorably diong his duty.

At the time that he was killed, it was not my tour of duty in the trench, but on being told that he had been shot, I immediately went to see how it had happened, and found that he had been on post as sentry and was looking out into the early morning mist toward the enemy lines.

During the short time that I have been with this regiment, I found your son a very good, quiet man, and I heard him very well spoken of, indeed. The Adjutant told me that he had at one time been in his platoon, and that he was a very good soldier, and he was particularly sorry that he had been taken from us.

He was buried yesterday in the cemetery near the railway station at Villiers au Bois; the Colonel and the second in command, were among the officers present. It must be a great trouble to you, and I hope you will accept my deepest sympathy. You have the satisfaction of knowing that your son has given his life for the cause we believe to be right. I pray God will comfort you in your trouble. I am sure your son is very happy now.

Believe me, sir,
Yours faithfully,

G. S. ASHBY,
Commanding No. 3 Platoon.

France, November 23rd, 1916.

Dear Freeman:— You will be advised by this time of the death of your boy; it is with the deepest sorrow for you and your family, that I, his only relative here must try to write you a few broken lines. He was on sentry duty under Seregant Robinson (he is from down near your home); and the morning was very misty, and the glass on the perescope kept misting up and the morning being the time the enemy mostly makes his attack, he was anxious that nothing should happen so looked over the parapet, and was hit on the head, killing him instantly. The boys carried him back to the dressing station and the doctor bound him up and sewed him in a blanket and a rubber sheet. They brought him to the village about eight miles behind the lines, and buried him with military honors, and "Last post" was sounded. I just arrived at the last of it. Colonel Clark was there. He had a good Christian burial. He is in a large military burial ground and his grave is marked with a nice cross with his name, number and battalion on it. I will give you the name of the place after the war, so if you ever come over you would not have any trouble finding your dear boy's last resting place. He died a glorious death doing his duty. I did not get very well acquaintained with him on account of me being a runner, but he was a good boy, and I have no doubt but you will meet him again, where there is no war or sorrow, nor tears. He will be with his dear mother now, and they will be waiting to receive you. I hope God will bear you up in your sorrows. His belongings were turned in to the orderly's room. And may God look after you. Write me if you wish.

Your loving cousin,

J. E. MUTTART,
No. 1 Co'y,
14th Battalion.

A GOOD MOTTO

A colored gentlemen entered his store to buy a pair of blankets. He was interested in two pairs, one at $4. the other at $6, and the dealer was pointing out the fine points of the better article. The purchaser replied that he had only $4, whereupon the salesman suggested that he could take the $6, pair and pay the difference later on. The reply of the colored man was this: "No, suh, I never hangs my hat higher up den I can reach."

Now, there's a whole sermon in the philosophy of that man, and you don't need any person to expound it, either. Extravagence is contagious, and the insane desire to keep up with the neighbors, may have much to do with a lot of trouble, the blame for which is laid elsewhere.

If there is a sorry spectacle it is when a family with a $1,500 income tries to make as big a splash as the one next door that has $5,000 a year to come and go on.

The motto of the colored man is well worth remembering, and also practicing: Never hang your hat higher than you can reach.

UNKNOWN NOT SO LONG AGO.

Today when you enjoy Christmas in comfort, have you considered how many developments there have been that were practically unknown little more than thirty-five years ago. A few are: Asbestos, adding machines, X-rays, radium, gas engines, safety matches, moving pictures, paper towels, miner's electric safety lamps, the submarine, aluminum, hydro-aeroplanes, vacuum cleaners, department stores, automobiles, block signals, motorcycles, canning factories, power elevators, antiseptics, electric street railway, asphalt paving, acetylene, automatic typewriter, aeroplane, fireless cookers, parcel post sky scrapers, electric heating, electric lighting, wireless telephoning, picture post cards, pure food movement, rotary printing, dyes from coal tars, seismograph, color photography, wireless telegraphy, telegraphone, mesothorium, gasoline driven farm machinery.
