Stock Markets At A Glance

CHICAGO, Oct. 28 — (AP) — Grain futures were firm in light trading Saturday, with rye climbing more than a cent a bushel at times to new seasonal peaks for the December and May deliveries. Profit-taking particularly in oats and rye, shaded the best advances part of the time.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 28 — (CP) — Rye futures prices on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange Saturday rallied briskly in early trading on buying by export shippers, locals and commission houses, offerings in the nearby months were light and October advanced as much as 4 1-2 cents at top levels. Offerings however, expanded at the peak and gains were reduced near the close.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 — (AP) The optimistic theory that a bull stock market may stumble occasionally but that you can't keep it down worked out to the satisfaction of Wall Street last week.

Principal securities exchanges in the United States recessed Saturday for the celebration of navy day and, while there was some irregularity in the final session Friday, Steels, Utilities, Rails, Motors and a wide assortment of specialties climbed fractions to two or more points.

Famed British Commandos Disbanded

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Oct. 26—(CP Cable)—With disbanding of the Commandos the most colorful and dashing unit of the British Army during the Second Great War will disappear, leaving an enduring record of heroism and daring almost without parallel in military annals.

The green beret of the Commandos became a mark of valor in operations against enemy-held beaches from Norway to Normandy, from Biserte to Burma. Now the green beret will be withdrawn, but it always will be part of the proud legend of the Commandos.

When Maj.-Gen. R. E. (Lucky) Laycock, chief of combined operations, told 1,000 Commandos at Hove, Sussex, this week that they were to be disbanded he said: "There has never been a finer fighting force in the history of Britain. To me, the greatest word in the English language will always be Commando."

His tribute will find quick response from any British and Canadian fighting man who has a deep soldier's respect for the spirited Commandos.

In the gray days of 1940, after the British Expeditionary Force had been thrown off the continent of Europe, Britain began to form the Commandos in deepest secrecy. They all were volunteers. They knew their work would be the most hazardous undertaken by the Army at that time for they were to be offensive when Britain was thinking almost exclusively of defence.

The Commandos trained in assault landings on remote Scottish lochs and in the first small raids against German positions in Norway and France. Their training was the sternest and most arduous in the army; later much of it was incorporated in the regular infantry training for the British and Canadian armies.

By 1942 Commandos were making raids in considerable strength in the Mediterranean and along the coast of northwest Europe. The Commandos went to St. Nazaire and were with the 2nd Canadian Division at Dieppe in August, 1942.

They landed at Algiers on the North African D-Day two months later and fought as infantry in the mountains of Tunisia. They added to their reputation in the Sicily landing; and also in the invasion of Italy proper. When the Normandy assault was carried out the Commandos were in the spearhead of the British 2nd Army attack.

The last great exploit of the Commandos in Northwest Europe was in the Rhine crossing. Two hours before the main force of the 2nd Army crossed, the Commandos went over the river into the outskirts of Wesel, which was captured next day, knocking out the German pivot for the lower Rhine defence.

Refugees To Face New Life In Palestine

(By The Associated Press)

HAIFA, Oct. 26—Solomon Kahn flung himself face down on a wharf today, buried his face in his forearms and prayed silently for three minutes.

The 23-year-old Romanian refugee, a weaver by trade, then arose and said: "All I want is to live. There is only one thing I think of Palestine. It is my country."

Kahn, with years of persecution in Hungary and Romania behind him, was one of 1,003 Jewish refugees who arrived in the port of Haifa today from Romania on the liner Transylvania. They comprised the last large group of Jewish immigrants permitted to enter Palestine under the British quotas.

Many of the immigrants aboard the Transylvania were Jews from Poland, Hungary and Bulgaria, who were deported from their homes by the Nazis to concentration camps in Romania. They included 250 orphans of Jews deported by the Germans to the Ukraine.

Are Closer To Settling Differences

By RALPH MORTON

BATAVIA, Oct. 26—(AP)—Prodded by both British and American diplomatic representatives, Dutch and Indonesian leaders appeared closer tonight to negotiating on their differences in the Netherlands East Indies.

H. J. Van Mook, acting governor of the Islands, was reported to have asked President Soekarno of the "Indonesian Republic" to meet with him at the home of Lt.-Gen. Sir Philip Christison, the British military commander.

A reliable source said Van Mook was ready for exploratory talks.

Formation of an interim government with the Dutch in control was seen as a possible outcome. The price the Indonesians would ask for joining such an administration would be the setting of a definite date when they could achieve complete independence.

The Indonesians have asked for the United States to act as a mediator. The Dutch, at first wanting to settle with the Indonesians alone, now seem to prefer Britain as a third party.

Soekarno today called on the United States consul-general, Walter A. Foote, accompanied by his foreign minister, Soebardjo. They talked informally for more than an hour.

Cites P. E. Island As An Example

REGINA, Oct. 26 — (CP) — Elizabeth Morton, executive secretary of the Canadian Library Council, Ottawa, said yesterday library services now are extending to more Canadians than ever before, and community library services are tending to become co-ordinated to provide a better national service.

Prince Edward Island, where the whole province is served by one library unit, illustrated the trend towards the larger administration unit, Miss Morton said in addressing a meeting at Regina Public Library.

Not more than five per cent of Canada's rural population now has books, and it is a mistake to think a rural service can be provided more cheaply than city service. In British Columbia, where there had been experiments in co-operative library services, the feeling is that existing rates are too low, and should be at least 50 cents per capita.

Every school in Prince Edward Island has access to the Provincial Library. Nova Scotia plans a library as a war memorial and New Brunswick plans to establish community libraries in consolidated high schools scheduled to be built.

Miss Morton said Quebec has the "most distinguished" of Canadian libraries. Ontario goes in for community service, while Manitoba is considering a proposal for regional rural service.

WHITBY, YORKSHIRE, England — (CP) — Whitby and Scottish herring fishermen agreed when prices fall below £3. 5. 0. ($14.40) a cran, all of the day's catch will be paid for on the basis of pool average. Should all herring reach the maximum price £4 11. 0. ($22.80), the distribution will be on an allocation basis.

THEY CAN'T LIVE ON Glory...

MAKE SURE THEY DON'T HAVE TO!

Glory may be fine . . . but our young people coming back from the war need a lot of practical things for a new start. Your Victory Loan dollars are needed to provide clothing allowances, grants; transportation, training for skilled jobs, help in establishing themselves in business and farming.

Let's show them we're grateful. We dug down deep into our pockets when we were scared and desperate . . . so now let's pile up a far bigger Victory Loan total to give a decent opportunity in life to those who have shielded us in the hour of peril.

We owe them this and more. It's the only way we can repay in some small measure our great debt of gratitude.
