Burbank's Plant Wonders

SANTA ROSA, Cal.—Seven wonders of the plant world are Luther Burbank's 1922 contributions to horticultural science.

Topping the list as an agricultural innovation of inestimable importance is the "Opaline," an oat that bulks out like wheat when threshed and instead of weighing 45 pounds to the bushel, weighs 50. This result, Burbank explains, has been accomplished through the practical elimination of husk with incidental benefit to the grain itself.

For some seasons he has been working on the "hullless oat" and it is considered one of his great contributions to American farmers.

His six other "wonders" he lists as follows: Peruvian winter grass, which can withstand frost and produce an enormous amount of feed during the cold winter months, thus insuring green feed for cattle.

A mammoth flowering artichoke, with flowers as lovely as roses and several times as large.

A "prickly poppy" known as the Mariposa, which grows spines as does a cactus.

A Brazilian tomato like fruit, with thorny plant, but bearing an orange colored product which has much of the taste of the tomato.

A "super sweet" corn of 12 rows variety which Burbank declares to be the sweetest corn ever perfected.

The "orange sunberry" something new and having the flavor of the blackberry and blueberry.

Three minor creations include a lemon variety which Burbank declares to be the sweetest corn ever perfected.

THOROBREAD FLOUR Becomes a Habit Milled by Hunt Bros Limited London Canada THE FLOUR OF THE HOUR—THE HOUSEWIFE'S POWER.

Some ten years ago, the Federal Department of Agriculture succeeded in averting the very near danger of its introduction into Canada from abroad, principally from Europe. The Department then placed an embargo against the importation of potatoes from Europe with the usual ostensible object of the crop, rendering useless all efforts to harvest a yield. Moreover, the disease persists under certain conditions in the soil for 10 to 15 years, always re-infecting a crop even when planted in an interval of 30 many years of rest. The presence of this disease has caused Great Britain and other European countries serious losses not alone within their own borders but also in the valuable export trade in potatoes. Canada is free from this disease which causes such serious losses in other countries; but the danger more looms on the horizon as this disease has been discovered in certain areas of the United States.

Canadian farmers are well advised to continue their vigilance, especially as potatoes imported from the United States are not exempt from the disease. The person who, through neglect on his part, causes a disease to become established in Canada, will cause this country serious injury, probably of a permanent and irreparable character. Division of Botany, Central Experimental Farm.
