Probe Firefighters Income Tax Status

(By The Canadian Press)

OTTAWA, Jan. 22—A delegation representing the Canadian Firefighters Corps today called on Capt. Walter Tucker, parliamentary assistant to Veterans Affairs Minister Mackenzie to protest against being asked to pay income tax on income received while overseas.

The meeting was held shortly after Revenue Minister McCann said the question of whether members of the Corps were liable to income tax for the period of their service overseas was under review by the Government.

Capt. Tucker said the delegation made a good presentation of claims of members. He told the delegation their claims would receive the same consideration as had been given similar demands from Y.M.C.A. and other supervisors, to merchant seamen and to others.

While concessions had been given to overseas supervisors and to merchant seamen, nothing similar had been done for the firefighters, said Capt. Tucker.

Mr. McCann said members of the Corps had claimed they had been told by Maj.-Gen. L. R. LaFleche when he was deputy Minister of War Services that they would not be liable for tax on their pay and allowances.

"If it can be shown that any valid committment was made, in my opinion, the Dominion Government is bound to respect it," said Mr. McCann.

The firefighters received pay and allowances and pension on a basis comparable with the armed forces. Three of their members were killed overseas and about 15 are in receipt of pensions as a result of injuries.

Linked with the income tax position of the firefighters is that of other personnel in auxiliary forces outside the armed forces. This would include Red Cross workers and members of the merchant marine.

It is considered possible the whole matter will receive consideration from the parliament veterans committee when parliament resumes.

Meeting closed by singing Hymn 572 followed by the Mizpah Benediction.

Outline Of System Exports Control

In a recent review of the Canadian trade in dairy products during 1945, to the Ontario Creamery Association, J. F. Singleton, Associate Director of Marketing Service, Dairy Products, Dominion Department of Agriculture, and Chairman of the Dairy Products Board, gave some interesting information of the method of control of food exports from Canada There were two main governing bodies—The Food Requirements Comittee at Ottawa and The Combined Food Board at Washington, he said. The Food Requirements Comittee was composed of representatives of the various Canadian Departments and agencies concerned. The Combined Food Board consisted of representatives of the Governments of the United Kingdom, the United States, and Canada.

The Food Requirements Committee established in Ottawa a sub-Committee on Dairy Products, the membership of which was made up of the Departments of Trade and Commerce, Agriculture, and the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, and the Dairy Products Board. The Combined Food Board at Washington likewise established a sub-Committee on Dairy Products consisting of a representative of each of the three countries whose representatives constitute the Board. These two sub-Committees advised the respective committees under which they are established and operate.

It was the responsibility of the Dairy Products Board to keep familiar with the volume of production of various dairy products, and, if in its opinion a surplus quantity of any was or would be available for export, the sub-Committee of the Food Requirements was so advised. The sub-Committee considered the advice, and, if it approved, recommended to the Food Requirements Committee that the quantity of the product as specified be made available for export.

If the Food Requirements Committee approved of the recommendation of its sub-Committee, the Chairman of the Dairy Products Board who represents Canada on the sub-Committee of the Combined Food Board advised the Secretary of that sub-Committee of the quantity of the product which was available for allocation. The sub-Committee kept informed as fully as possible of the requirements of the various Allied Nations and liberated areas, and recommended to the Combined Food Board that the product available be allocated to certain countries or to agencies such as UNRRA, or formerly to Military Authorities for Relief. The Combined Food Board made the final decision and in that manner Australia, New Zealand and the dairy products, not only in Canada but also of the United States, United Kingdom were allocated.

Following allocation, the actual sale and shipment might be between the Government of Canada and the Government of the receiving country, in which case the Dairy Products Board acted as procurement agency and arranged the shipment. Or the product through ordinary commercial allocated might be provided channels, in which case the Dairy Products Board recommended to the Export Permit Bureau that the Export Permit Application of the supplying firm receive favourable consideration.

HOLD-UP ENOUGH THRILLS FOR A LIFETIME

MONTREAL, Jan. 16 — (CP) — Joseph Brunet, proprietor of the Royal Hotel at nearby L'Epiphanie, where provincial police foiled an attempted holdup, said today he never would forget "for a lifetime" the five-minute gun battle which took place in the lobby of his hotel.

Provincial police had been tipped off about the expected holdup, and reached the hotel about 40 minutes before the gunmen. They hid in an adjoining room warning Brunet to act as if he were completely surprised by the holdup.

When the four gunmen arrived, one of them said: "It's a hold up." Then the police burst from the adjoining room and the battle started. Brunet ducked behind a desk, and for five minutes bullets filled the air. Yvon Roussel, 21, one of the gunmen was injured and slumped to the floor.

The battle continued into the street where the others fled in a waiting car. Another gunman, Paul Emile Marion, 23, was shot four times. He was captured later at St. Julienne with a third. Another man, reportedly an informer, was released by police and they are seeking another suspect.

Police reported that the hotel safe contained $6,000 which was not touched.

OUT FOR THE EMPLOYER

MONTREAL, Jan. 16 — (CP) Recorder Leonce Plante told a progress club meeting today he would not send to jail first offenders "when they are taking the rap for the 'big man' in the gambling racket" or the street walker arrested instead of her employer "who spends the winter in Florida."

ERASE EYE STRAIN WITH LOTION PADS

Working too long under nervous tension produces fatigue that reflects unpleasantly in one's eyes; they become strained looking, and sharp little lines appear in the surrounding area.

After such a day, when you come home dead-tired, try this wonderfully effective trick to give a lift to those tuckered-out orbs. Heat a small quantity of soothing eye lotion in a sauce pan, saturate cotton pads in it, and place them gently over your closed eyes. Lie down and relax like a rag doll for 15 or 20 minutes.

When you take another look in the mirror at the end of the treatment, those lines will have vanished, and your eyes will be clear and bright for the social evening ahead.

Margaret Hyndman, K. C. Attends Council

(By The Canadian Press)

NEW YORK, Jan. 22—Women cannot expect to be appointed to international posts, such as in the United Nations Organization, until they first prove themselves in national affairs, Margaret Hyndman, K.C., of Toronto, said here today.

Mrs. Hyndman, one of Canada's two women King's Councillors, spoke at the final session of a three-day international conference sponsored by the national federation of business and professional women's clubs. Representatives of 18 countries attended the conference to discuss how women's outstanding contribution in war time could be carried into peace time.

Canadian women "will not be shouldering our full share of responsibility in world affairs if we are content to be someone else's secretary," Mrs. Hyndman said.

At the Saturday session of the conference, Mrs. F. A. Lane, women's editor of the Halifax Chronicle and the Halifax Daily Star, and Alderman Hilda Hesson of Winnipeg, president of the Canadian Federation, spoke on the position of women in Canada.

Crop Production Figures Issued

(By The Canadian Press)

OTTAWA, Jan. 22 — Production of wheat in Canada in 1945 was estimated today by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics at 305,912,000 bushels valued at $324,227,000, compared with a 1944 crop of 416,635,000 bushels valued at $440,427,000.

The figures were given in the Bureau's third estimate of 1945 field crops.

Wheat production in the Prairie Provinces during 1945 was estimated at 282,000,000 bushels, against 391,700,000 in 1944.

The 1945 oat crop totalled 381,600,000 bushels, compared with 499,600,000 bushels. The 1945 barley crop, now estimated at 157,800,000 bushels, was below 1944 production of 194,700,000 bushels. Rye production for 1945 at 5,900,000 bushels compared with 1944 production of 8,500,000. Flaxseed production at 7,600,000 bushels was 2,100,000 bushels lower than 1944 production.

With the exceptions of flaxseed and rye, the average values per bushel at the farm for the major field crops were approximately the same as in 1944.

Potato production in Canada at approximately 36,000,000 hundredweight was more than 13,000,000 hundredweight below the 1944 crop, attributable to reductions in both acreage and yield.

The hay and clover and alfalfa crops were above those of 1944.

Total gross farm value of the field crops produced on 62,800,000 acres in 1945 amounted to nearly $1,089,700,000, a decrease of $207,300,000 from 1944.

Que. May Have Textile Strike

MONTREAL, Jan. 22 — (CP) — The National Council for Canada of the United Textile Workers of America (A.F.L.) will be called into session to lay plans for possible strike action by Quebec Province's cotton textile workers, R. Kent Rowley, Canadian director of the Union, announced in a statement today.

Rowley's statement, following an announcement Saturday by Dominion Textile Company that six dismissed employees would not be reemployed, was the latest development in a dispute of nearly two month's duration between the Union and the Company.

Early in December, following a strike in two of the Company's Montreal mills, seven employees, all Union members, were dismissed. The Company charged they interfered with machinery and other employees at work. One worker, a woman, later was reengaged.

Lord Halifax To Retire; Does Not Know Successor

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 — The Earl of Halifax, British Ambassador to the United States, is planning to retire this spring, probably in May, it was learned today.

A source in a position to know who requested that his identity be withheld, said, however, that Lord Halifax knew no more about his successor "than what he reads in the newspapers."

Reports from London have mentioned Sir Archibald Clark Kerr, present British Ambassador to Moscow, as the Labor Government's choice to succeed Lord Halifax.

The source here told a reporter that Lord Halifax is planning to return to his ancestral home in Yorkshire although he probably would take part in debates in the House of Lords on matters involving foreign affairs.

Lord Halifax next week will round out five years as British Ambassador in Washington.

Vienna Boy Choir Back in Hofburg

VIENNA, Jan. 22 —(C P)— Sixty little boys who can sing "like the angels," are back in the Hofburg, the Vienna palace of the Hapsburgs, sharing a wing with Russian troops and polishing up the hymns and songs they have sung all over the world as the Vienna Boys' Choir.

Allied authorities have closed one eye to the fact that the choir went right on singing while the Nazis were in town, sang for them and even went on tours to France, Belgium, Holland, Poland and Germany while Austria was considered a part of that big, unhappy country. Most of their singing now is for Allied troops, but they all have an eye on the concert circuit, especially America.

Father Joseph Schmitt, the priest who handles the administration of the choir, spent three weeks in the custody of the Gestapo in 1938 and was forbidden to take any part in the organization during the Nazi regime in Austria, but he is back now.

Founded In 1498

None of the boys who sang in America every year from 1930 to 1936 are around any more. A good many of them died fighting in Hitler's armies.

The choir was founded in 1498 and had a continuous existence to 1918 when the fall of the Hapsburg dynasty took away its chief support. It was founded again six years later and re-established in the Hofburg.

Father Schmitt's main problem is finding food for these boys. However, he has managed to keep them from losing weight by making weekly trips to his birthplace in the Russian occupation zone bringing back potatoes and anything else he can scrounge.

Not many of the boys who sing in the choir grow up to be great statesmen. But a great many do turn out to be musicians. Among those who sang in the choir were Franz Schubert, Joseph Haydn, Clemens Krause and Anton Bruckner.

Two R. C. M. P. Constables Are Awarded Medals

Constables William H. Warner and Thomas J. Keefe, R.C.M.P., were presented with the King's Police and Fire Services Medal yesterday afternoon by Lieutenant-Governor J.A. Bernard. The ceremony took place at 4 o'clock in the Confederation Chambers. Witnesses of the ceremony included Premier J. Walter Jones and several members of his cabinet.

Constable Warner's former home was at St. John, N.B. and Constable Keefe's at Edmonton, Alberta.

The citation accompanying the award read as follows:

On September 12, 1945 at Covehead Race Track, Constables Warner and Keefe had occasion to check two men and a woman, as they approached a car bearing New Brunswick license plates and when asked for their National Registration Certificate one was produced in the name of Joseph H. JENSEN and his wife Mrs. Eileen JENSEN of Halifax. The other party produced Registration Certificate in the name of Walter Peter KERR, Chatham, Ontario. However, when asked for their operator's license and they were unable to produce one, were then asked for registration certificate of car, which they were unable to produce. The trio were then told they would be taken to the R.C.M.P. office at Charlottetown for interrogation. Cst. Warner got into car with Mr. and Mrs. JENSEN, Jensen driving the car, and Mr. KERR was taken into police car operated by Cst. Keefe.

Some two miles from the race track, JENSEN suddenly ditched the car he was driving, in so doing Mrs. Jensen lurched forward and apparently fainted. Cst. Warner immediately endeavoured to make her comfortable and raised Mrs. Jensen back on the seat of car. Jensen had driver's side of car and walked around back of car and when Cst. Warner stepped backwards out of the car found himself covered with a gun in the hands of Jensen. Warner was ordered to lie down on the ground; and at this moment Cst. Keefe who had stopped the Police car at the rear of the Jensen car and was approaching when he suddenly found himself covered with a revolver in the hands of KERR. Warner approached JENSEN who had the revolver pointed at him, and who had pulled the trigger three times but was not discharged; Cst. Warner grappled with Jensen who yelled to Kerr to shoot them through the head. Jensen was subdued and attention was turned to Kerr, but not before he had fired one shot at the Constables.

Kerr was ordered to hand over his gun, which he later did by throwing same on the ground. Jensen's gun was later examined and was found to have four misfired cartridges.

On arrival at Charlottetown, the trio were identified as Ulysse LAUZON, his wife Eileen and Walter KORESKY, well known bank robbers of Windsor, Ontario who were wanted on several bank holdups and other criminal offences in Ontario and Quebec.

Neither Cst. Warner or Cst. Keefe were armed and the courage and coolness of these members was responsible for the apprehension of these wanted criminals.

Following his pinning of the medals on the breasts of Constables Warner and Keefe, the Lieutenant-Governor spoke to the men as follows:

Actions such as you have performed while in your line of duty as guardians of the law, have been regarded by your superiors as being worthy of special meritorious consideration, and this investiture therefore gives me much pleasure.

That the action occurred in our Province brought to it as well as to you constables unexpected and favourable publicity, and it is to the credit of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police that the training you have received has been utilized in bring you this honourable recognition.

Your courage and bravery in the face of what might well have been tragedy are examples of heroism which cannot be refuted, and in presenting you these medals I wish to add my congratulations and best wishes for a successful future in your chosen profession, the upholding of the law under all conditions.

Magazine Has Story Of Inspector N. J. Anderson

The February issue of a detective magazine contains an interesting account of a murder case in which Inspector N.J. Anderson, R.C.M.P., then a Detective Sergeant, played an important role as one of the "Mounties" who strove desperately but fruitlessly for several years to "break." The case. Up to date, the crime has not been solved.

The murder occurred on Nov. 10, 1933, in the Veregin district of Saskatchewan when Metro Zurawell, 76-year-old farmer and his wife, Annie, were brutally shot to death. All the clues discovered by hours of painstaking search were a thumb print on a lamp chimney and the metal part of a shotgun shell (found among the ashes in the stove) which revealed the mark of a gun's hammer.

In all, over 400 persons were finger printed in an effort to identify the thumb print on the lamp chimney, and 127 shotguns were seized and examined throughout the district but without results. Several people were found who had personal grudges against the murdered farmer and many of them admitted to having such grudges, but all those suspects had perfect alibies.

Soon to be standard equipment of passenger airplanes and airport control towers will be the magic eye of radar which "sees" through poor visibility to give warning of dangers ahead, in the manner illustrated in the above sketch from Mechanix Illustrated magazine. As shown, radar detects the mountain peak ahead and reflects the warning image on the "collision screen" (arrow) in the plane cockpit.
