—INJURED.—While working with an engine in his gasoline boat yesterday Mr. Joseph Linkletter received painful injuries to his face. He was trying to start the engine and some of the parts gave way and were driven with great force against his face lacerating it badly. Mr. Linkletter had his wounds attended to but will be confined to his home for a time.

—BASKET BALL.—There was a good attendance at the Summerside Y. M. C. A. on Tuesday night for the opening of the Senior Basketball League. Gordons team won from Phillips team by a score of 27 to 20. The game between Schurman's team and Johnston Bros. team was called by the referee on account of roughness. The next games will be played tonight. An effort is being made to select a team to go to Charlottetown to play next week.

—THE COVERED WAGON—As a motion picture spectacle, "The Covered Wagon" will be remembered for a long time by the large audience which saw it at the Capitol Theatre, Summerside last night. There is a fascination about the long line of white top wagons creeping ever westward, and the picturization of Emerson Haugh's great story is even better than the book. J. Warren Kerrigan, Lois Wilson and little John Fox head a long list of star players. The covered wagon truly must be seen to be appreciated as probably the finest motion picture ever shown in Summerside. It will be repeated at the Capitol Theatre tonight.

—AGED RESIDENT DEAD.—The funeral of the late Henry Williams which took place on Friday afternoon was attended by one hundred and twenty-five carriages and autos, which testifies to the esteem in which Mr. Williams was held in the community. Service was conducted at the house by Rev. Mr. Traverser, Rector of Port Hill and Rev. C. N. Brown of Biddeford, and at the grave by the Masons of Alexandra Lodge of Port Hill, which Mr. Williams was born in Biddeford in 1841 and his passing from this life is the last of the large family of the late Edward Williams and his wife Agnes Ellis, both having predeceased him a number of years. In ship building days he was a ship carpenter and afterwards worked as a house carpenter, having built a number of light houses along the coast of P. E. I. About fifty years ago he married Christy Biggar of Stanley Bridge and together they moved "in the Road" to carve for themselves a farm out of the forest. His industry soon changed the rather uninviting prospect into a peaceful and prosperous home where neighbors and friends were sure to receive a welcome. He took a close interest in all improvements for the welfare of the community and many resorted to him for advice and counsel. His death at a ripe old age leaves a gap that will be hard to fill, and Ellerslie cannot seem the same without "Uncle Henry". There are left to mourn besides a widow, eight daughters and three sons, namely: Mrs. R. C. Hayes of Somerville, Mass.; Mrs. J. Hutchinson and Frank of Boston; Mrs. G. F. Walsh and Mrs. L. B. McGovern of Ellerslie; Mrs. C. S. Miller, Mrs. R. G. England, Miss Myrtle, Mrs. R. C. Hayes and Stanley of Biddeford, and Roy at home.

—SLIGHT IMPROVEMENT.—With the opening up of the lobster factories there is a slight improvement in business. Merchants say that the past six or eight weeks was the worst period for trade in many years, and that sales were confined to the bare necessities. No sale at all for luxuries. Tea, flour, kerosene oil and tobacco comprised the bulk of the sales. Though sugar and molasses are comparatively cheap the people were not buying these luxuries. Farmers have nothing to sell or make cash of. The opening up of the lobster business is truly a godsend, and with the fine prospects, open water and lots of bait, a big improvement in business is expected.

IN MEMORIAM

MELLISH ALEXANDER McLEOD

Mellish Alexander McLeod, son of the late Alexander and Agnes McLeod, died at his home in Kensington, on April 13, 1925, after a long and testing illness. This affliction he sustained with that Christian fortitude that is exemplar in the will of God, committed his soul to His eternal justice. He was born at Bradabane, August 10, 1880, and lived his early life there. When he had attained his eighteenth year he went to British Columbia, and tried fortune in gold mining there. But not being satisfied with conditions there existing, he returned to experience better fortune. He married Miss Sara Innis, and for a time took up residence in Lawrence, Mass. But there health failed him, and they returned to Prince Edward Island, and again resided at Bradabane. Thence they came to Kensington, where they lived until his sorrowful demise.

He leaves to mourn his widow and five sisters, Mrs. Jacob Sellar, Frederickton; Mrs. Benjamin Weeks, Fredericton; Mrs. C. A. Clark, New Hampshire; Miss Maud and Miss Martha, Boston, who consoled him in his dying hours, and brother John, living on the homestead at Bradabane.

The funeral was held on Thursday, April 17, under the direction of the Masonic Order, Rev. Mr. Gillis performing the religious, and Mr. R. Douglas the Masonic service. A vocal quartette, "Shall We Meet Beyond the River," was most appropriately sung by Messrs. W. H. Blackford, George Brown, H. Brown and H. Laird.

The funeral cortege proceeded to Fredericton, P. E. I., where interment took place, Mr. Douglas performing the service at the grave.

The loving memory of Mr. McLeod will endure while live the many friends who know well how to appreciate his excellent personality.

GORDON LAIRD REID

The Angel of Death visited the home at Murray Harbor North, of Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Reid, on the morning of April 10, and carried to the mansion above their dearly beloved son, Gordon Laird, aged four years and four months.

Deceased was an exceptionally bright, healthy and attractive child until one and a half years ago, when he was stricken with infantile paralysis and, although he made a wonderful recovery his constitution had been weakened so that when he contracted a heavy cold which quickly developed into pneumonia, he gradually grew worse until the above date when his gentle spirit returned to Him who gave it. All through his helplessness and during his last illness he was most tenderly cared for by devoted parents, every means being employed to restore him to his wonted health and strength, but God had need of another flower for His vineyard, and when He saw little Gordon unable to cope with the hardships of this rigorous life He transplanted him to that home above where there is always sunshine, and where he shall never be blighted or tarnished.

to mourn in the home a sorrowing grandmother, two brothers and three sisters: Lloyd, Roma, Alexis, Ethel and Ivan. Although their hearts are sore and bleeding they bow in humble submission to the Divine Will, and know that their darling is now safe in the everlasting arms.

The funeral was held at the home on Easter Sunday afternoon, April 12, and was very largely attended. The services were conducted by Mr. C. D. McLure (Elder) and the following appropriate hymns were sung, "When He Cometh," "Childhood's Years are Passing O'er Us," and "Shall We Meet Beyond the River." Four cousins of the deceased acted as pallbearers, George Graham, Wm. Graham, John Henderson and Lawrence McHirron. The remains were drawn to the cemetery at W. H. North by a white horse and there laid to rest "until the day-break and the shadows flee away."

The sympathy of the entire community goes out to Mr. and Mrs. Reid in their hour of sorrow. (Patriot please copy.)

MR. PERCY HYNDMAN

The community of St. Peter's Bay heard with deep regret of the death of Mr. Percy Hyndman of Greenwich in the P. E. Island Hospital on April 8th, after a serious operation. He was the son of the late A. B. Hyndman, was over 46 years of age and was in failing health for some time, and is survived by his mother, two brothers, George and Brenton, in Farmington, Mass., and four sisters, Miss Amy, Mrs. Parker, Mrs. Melton and Mrs. Sayer, who have the sympathy of the community in their bereavement. In the course of three years they have had a triple bereavement in the death of the father and his two sons, Robert and Percy.

The funeral was held on the 10th, inst., from the home of the deceased. The service was conducted by his pastor, Rev. J. M. McLeod, and the remains were laid in the cemetery in Midway, beside the father who predeceased him a year ago.

Mrs. Hyndman, with whom her son Percy lived, has the sincere sympathy of all her acquaintances in her loneliness and sorrow.

MRS. W. C. PAGE

On Friday morning, April third Mrs. Percy Match received a telegram conveying the sad news of the death of his sister, Florence wife of Dr. W. C. Page of Hamilton, Ont., who passed away April second.

Having undergone a serious operation two weeks prior to the time, she was progressing favorably until pneumonia developed and death suddenly intervened.
