The Wheat Situation

(Canadian Press)
WINNIPEG, Jan. 8.—Stamped with the approval of Canada's prairie wheat farmers and backed by the three provincial governments, first move toward orderly world wheat production has assumed concrete form.

Chief wheat exporting countries of the world will be asked to participate in a round-table discussion on wheat production problems if the Dominion Government accepts the suggestion at a conference of Premiers of the three prairie provinces to be held at Ottawa, Jan. 17.

The leading wheat exporting countries of the world would attend the proposed conference. They would include Canada, Australia, United States and Argentina. The latter country controls 87 per cent. of the world export wheat supply.

For a long time farmers of western Canada have stressed the fallacy of continued increased production of wheat in view of present conditions. The present wheat problem and low prices it is urged, can only be dealt with by co-operative action on the part of all exporting countries.

Delegates to annual meetings of three prairie wheat pools two months ago requested the government to convene such a conference. It was believed such a gathering would lead the way to stabilized wheat prices and solve the present marketing problem.

At a recent meeting in Winnipeg of the Premiers of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta a proposal for the calling of an international wheat conference was unanimously approved. It was decided to suggest to the Federal Government the advisability for immediate action.

It is believed that if the production of wheat can be made more in harmony with the demands of the importing nations the world wheat flood can be checked with consequent improvement in world prices.

Torrents of wheat have flooded world markets of late, with consequent downward plunges in prices. Only by co-operation between the great producing countries could a solution to the problem of the harassed agrarian be reached.

Throughout the long day, the widow of the former President, bore up bravely. At her side during the funeral and at the burial was her son, John, and his wife, Florence. Today she attended church services as usual at the Edwards Congregational Church where yesterday she heard the funeral rites for her husband. With her then was President and Mrs. Hoover and others high in public life, gathered to pay last honors to the former President.

Whether or not Mr. Coolidge left any will disposing of his estate was a matter of speculation among acquaintances in Northampton, although none of those most likely to know professed any knowledge as to whether he ever had made one. If he had, it was believed that it probably had been drawn while he was in the White House and had been filed away with his many papers and effects.

LUNENBURG, N. S., Jan. 8.—Forty-five kegs of smuggled rum valued at $2,500, were seized in a barn at Blockhouse Saturday by Sergeant Jack Oakes and three constables of the R. C. M. P.

The Fox Industry

(Canadian Press)
MONCTON, N. B., Jan. 7.—With the ending of the fox pelt season about the middle of the month, a striking contrast is made between fur sales in the early days and as carried on today, at the beginning of the fur trade the Indian traded his skins for beads, knives, tomahawks and later on rifles, ammunition and supplies were added to the barter. Then the white trapper came upon the scene and he traded for money and supplies. The trapper in some districts still carries on his trade much as his predecessors did. Today fur farming is carried on on an extensive scale. Ranches where black foxes and other fur bearing animals are bred for their skins dot the landscape and the industry is on a highly commercialized basis.

Prince Edward Island bears the honour of first commencing this now profitable industry and from there it has spread all over the world. That province still maintains the lead and New Brunswick stands second among the provinces of Canada.

The Canadian National Silver Fox Breeders' Association, the largest association of its kind in the world and with headquarters at Summerside, P. E. I., reports a profitable season, according to the Natural Resources Department of the Canadian National Railways. In 1927 this organization disposed of 2,000 pelts, while in 1932 the number was increased to 29,468. The average price realized on fox pelts at the recent fur auctions held in Montreal, London England and Paris France, was $41.00. In addition to London and Paris pelts have been marketed in Italy, Germany and South America. The association maintains a receiving station for New Brunswick in Moncton and this will close for the season on January 14th.

Exciting scenes at Cumann Na Ngadhéal meetings occurred in Cork and Dublin. A stone struck the platform from which former President William T. Cosgrave, leader of the party, was speaking at Cork. When members of the white army advanced on the speaker, there was momentary danger of a panic. Mrs. Cosgrave shouted to the crowd to remain still. This advice was taken. The former President advocated a trade agreement with Great Britain.

There were noisy interruptions at a meeting of Cosgrave's followers in Dublin. At this session, P. McGilligan, former Minister spoke. Several men were ejected from the meeting before order was restored.

The issue before the people is whether Mr. De Valera shall be returned to power to continue his fight against Great Britain, with the object of ultimate absolute independence, or whether the opposition, headed by former President William T. Cosgrave, shall be elected on a platform which calls for resumption of the former friendly relations with Great Britain.

Both Mr. De Valera and Mr. Cosgrave are campaigning vigorously and these two outstanding personalities are attracting great crowds.

Another Cosgrave meeting at Sillgo was broken up by about 100 men who stormed the assembly tonight and seriously injured two of the ten members of the army comrades who had been assigned to prevent any disturbance.

Dr. T. F. O'Higgins, leader of the army comrades, in commenting tonight on the disturbances, said there would be no free speech for one party alone. This was regarded in some quarters as forecasting reprisals against the Republicans.

THE ELECTION

Valera, stressing Great Britain's hopes that the present Saorstát Government will be defeated in the forthcoming election, today quoted the alleged "gleeful" remark of J. H. Thomas, British Secretary for the Dominions, to Sean T. O'Kelly, Vice-president of the Irish Free State, at the British trades union conference at Ottawa: "We need not have any question of settling with you because you will have another civil war in another few months."

LONDON, Jan. 8.—J. H. Thomas, British Secretary for the Dominions, informed today of the statement of President Eamon De Valera of the Irish Free State concerning a remark he was alleged to have made to the British Trade Conference, said:

"I will make no statement at present. Obviously this is too delicate a matter for me to say anything upon until I have had an opportunity to read Mr. De Valera's speech in full."

In almost every county in the Irish Free State political meetings were conducted last night as a whirlwind pre-election campaign got under way in earnest.

President De Valera who called the general election as a surprise when he saw that the life of his government was threatened by the opposition in the Dail Eireann, paid a flying visit to Limerick. He declared that he was willing to deal with England only as an equal. As far as he is concerned, the President said, tariff walls would remain.

of which have altered radically the practices of commerce over a considerable portion of the earth. Shortage of money in many stages of Central and Northern Europe, and particularly in Soviet Russia, has brought about attempts at barter, almost always attended by problems of monetary exchange and credit.

Many governments which have felt the pinch of hard times have gone off the gold standard, depreciated their currencies in terms of gold and taken at least partial control of external trade of their countries.

By such measures as increased tariffs and import quotas they have sought to protect their home industries and reserve as far as possible domestic markets for their own peoples.

Some have entered the exporting business, taking control of principal industries and seeking to impart to them efficiency enabling them to undersell their rivals in the world market.

beforehand. It was assumed no actual break for freedom was planned, as armed guards are stationed on turrets at each corner of the penitentiary and others patrol the surrounding wall. A more probable supposition was that the men intended nothing more than a demonstration, possibly concerning their meals. It was reported that dissatisfaction had been expressed with Friday's supper.

Officials disrupted the plan by moving the men from the shops fifteen minutes before the usual time. Most of the prisoners, it was said, went quietly but a few offered resistance in the cell blocks and difficulty was experienced in getting them into the cells. Two or three convicts were reported to have been wounded by shots fired by the guards. The prisoners had no weapons, it is believed. After they were forced into the cells some of the men continued the disturbance by shouting and breaking furniture.

HALIFAX, Jan. 8.—Neither of two former convicts who served out their sentences in Dorchester Penitentiary and who are now residing in Halifax could hazard a guess today as to why inmates of the institution should riot. One said conditions were too good to warrant any such action; the other, that armed guards posted on the prisoners' towers would prevent escape inevitably and thus nullify any possibility of escape. Both had a good word for Warden G. T. Goad. "He is a gentleman," said one. "He is a right guy," averred the other.

Meals were good, dinner and supper menus changed every day, the first said. The men were not worked hard; eight hours labor a day was the maximum. Men were detailed to the various shops, while some went to work on the roads.

"I don't see what the fellows in the pen would want, other than their freedom, and they can get that much more quickly by watching their conduct. Warden Goad is a gentleman. He will do anything in his power to give prisoners the best possible chance." Reading material was provided three times a week. Each prisoner in his cell has a bed, toilet, running water and folding desk.

"The curse of Canadian prison life is that it's all work and no play," said the second, who served out nine years of a 12 year sentence for manslaughter and was released for good behavior. "The public has a false idea of the life, gleaned from romantic fiction. There are no baseball games at Dorchester, no evening entertainment at checkers, chess or cards. From the time a man enters until he leaves he is not allowed to talk to a soul." Entertainment was limited to a motion picture and concerts four times a year. Magazines were censored until there was "nothing left." Food was good.

There were a few "tough eggs" in Dorchester, he said. Most of these were numbered among the prisoners who had been transferred there in 1928 from St. Vincent de dustries in Russia, Finland and Scandinavia are able to secure a considerable portion of the British market for soft wood where Canadian efforts at meeting their low prices have failed.

While most of the countries short of funds have been eager to sell for cash, some, notably have shown willingness to barter such things as oil for cattle, as in the case of negotiations with Canadian interests, but not on the strict basis of exchanging one article for another.

Mr. Guthrie has instructed Warden G. T. Goad, Dorchester Penitentiary, by wire to release details of the disturbance to newspapermen and permit of entrance to the institution.

WHERE THE TROUBLE STARTED
The trouble started in the stone shed, according to a report which has reached Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Minister of Justice. Almost simultaneously, a small fire was started in the laundry by one or more of the convicts. No riot occurred on the part of the main inmates although some joined in the yelling after being placed back in their cells.

CANADIANS TO CHALLENGE FOR DAVIS CUP

TORONTO, Jan. 8.—(By The Canadian Press)—Canada will enter a challenge for the Davis Cup, blue ribbon trophy of the tennis world, with a strong possibility of members of last year's team representing the Dominion. They are; Dr. Jack Wright, Vancouver; Marcel Rainville, Montreal, and Gilbert Nunn and Walter Martin, Toronto.

Garnett Meldrum, head of the Canadian Lawn Tennis Association, declared yesterday it had been decided to enter a challenge in the North American zone provided a satisfactory team could be secured for the contest.

Abbies And Hawks To-Night

The following Abbie players leave this morning for Moncton, N. B., the camping ground of the Hawks, first section leaders in the Maritime Amateur Hockey loop.

Goal, Bubar; defense, Gros, Ferguson; forwards, Hudson, Beaton, and McArthur, Jemmett, Lawlor, Nicholson.

The Charlottetown fans wish the Abbies all kinds of success in their first mainland trip of the second section. The fans are certain that if the Abbies get any sort of "breaks," they have the material to carry them home with a double victory to their credit. And if coaching counts for anything the able guardianship of "Chuck" O'Connor will surely lead the team to a fine start in this section. And then watch our smoke!

Bon voyage, boys!

CURLING

The three sheets of ice are in great shape for the roaring game. The rink will open at 3 p.m. today. Games will be played at 3 p.m., 7 and 9 o'clock.

All members should be on hand at these games as it is the first opening and will be a good time as the ice was never better so come one and all and have a good time.

THE INJURED

DORCHESTER, N. B., Jan. 8.—Of five prisoners injured during rioting at the Dorchester penitentiary yesterday, one suffered serious gunshot wounds, it was learned tonight. Two guards were slightly injured.

UNDER CONTROL

DORCHESTER, N. B., Jan. 8.—Dorchester Penitentiary, scene of rioting yesterday afternoon, is enclosed by a high wall. Armed guards keep watch at turrets on each corner and other guards patrol the wall. Guards on duty inside the enclosure ordinarily do not carry arms.

Administration offices are on one side of the prison entrance and a library on the other. Beyond the immediate entrance is a reception room with iron doors at each end. This leads to a large circular room called "the dome," which is used as a yard in bad weather. The cell blocks extend off the "dome" in opposite directions. These blocks comprise three tiers of cells. Behind the cell blocks, and paralleling them, are two yards. The kitchen, hospital, chapels and boiler room are located in a central position, and at the rear are the workshops.

MAPLE LEAFS HANDED 6-1 SET-BACK

TORONTO, Jan. 8.—(C.P.)—Jack Adams' flashing Detroit Red Wings tonight were crowding the Boston Bruins for second place in the American Group of the National Hockey League, after sending a casualty stricken Toronto Maple Leaf team to 6-1 defeat Saturday night, the worst home-game loss suffered by the Leafs in several seasons.

The Red Wings outplayed the Stanley Cup holders who were without Joe Primeau and Charlie Conacher two thirds of the famous "Kid" line, and Andy Blair in uniform at the last minute, away below par and only used sparingly. Primeau and Blair fell victim to the "flu" and Conacher is nursing a dislocated left collar bone.

CAPE TRAVERSE, 8; BEDEQUE, 1

On Friday night last in Borden Rink, Cape Traverse Blood-Hounds administered a severe defeat to the Bedeque Beavers with a score of 8 to 1 and incidentally retained the leadership of the McLean League.

Cape Traverse showed their superiority in every phase of the game and at no time were they in difficulty. The whole team worked like a machine and completely baffled the Beavers, who seemed to be off form.

From the opening chukker the Blood-Hounds kept boring in, but shot wild until about half way in this stanza when Clint Howatt, the diminutive crack centre man who was the outstanding player on the ice, scored on a solo run. Two minutes later Dawson soled back and forth until three minutes to go when Howatt and McMicken rushed in upon the Bedeque goalie, Howatt shooting into the corner of the rink. McMicken rushing in shot the puck which glanced off Arsenault's skate into the net. With one minute to go Gaudet, big Beaver centre man, rushed the length of the ice to score for the Beavers.

The second period started away fast, the Beavers trying to even things up but were unable to score on Waddell. The Hounds seemed content to play defensive hockey until McMicken, in a pretty solo rush, scored from left wing. The play was very even in this period.

The third period started off with a bang, the Hounds trying for all scores possible. After four minutes of play C. McWilliams closed in on Arsenault to score and three minutes later Howatt, on a pass from W. McWilliams, shot the puck over the prostrate form of the goalie. Seven minutes later C. McWilliams scored on a solo rush. Three minutes later in a mixup in front of the Bedeque goal, Dawson and Howatt simultaneously battled rubber into the net for the final counters of the game.

Referees—Stull, Borden; McFarlane, Bedeque.

The lineup follows:
Cape Traverse — Waddell, goal; Webster, Dawson, defence; W. McWilliams, C. McWilliams, Howatt, Gardner, Clark, McMicken, forwards.

Bedeque — Arsenault, goal; McCaul, Leard, McDonald, defence; Bagnall, DesRoches, Murray, McInnis, Burns, Gaudet, forwards.

Jack Dempsey Makes Settlement

CHICAGO, Jan. 8.—(A.P.)—Jack Dempsey, in absentia, settled a $500 suit for $140 yesterday. The claim was brought by Harry Hayes, negro, who alleged Dempsey owed him $370 plus interest for 494 hours of work as valet in the fall of 1929. The boxer's attorney said Dempsey would rather make a settlement than incur the costs of travelling here to fight it.

Bulldogs And Tigers Battle Scoreless Tie

(Canadian Press)
NEW GLASGOW, N. S., Jan. 8.—Playing slow hockey on water-covered ice, Antigonish Bulldogs and New Glasgow Tigers went ten minutes overtime to a scoreless draw here last night in the second game of the A. P. C. League schedule. Tigers hold the only win in the circuit so far, having trimmed Truro 6-1.

Good hockey was impossible, but both teams threw everything they had into trying for a score. There was little attempt at combination play, the poor surface playing all sorts of tricks with the rubber.

Truro is scheduled to play Antigonish in the next fixture, on Monday night.

Overtime Game At Kensington

The Cape Traverse Bloodhounds and the Kensington Granites played an overtime fixture in the Kensington Arena, Monday, January 2nd, which had everything that goes to thrill and satisfy the cash customers. Sweeping in again and again on the Granite defence with a relentless three man attack, the Bloodhounds were denied the winning counter all through the final period by as dazzling a display of goal tending as has ever been seen in Kensington Rink. U. Hickey, keeper of the Granite citadel, stopped enough rubber in that frame to keep the Ford factories supplied for a month. High, low, wide and handsome, the shots flew Hickeywards, and the nodal goalie balled 'em out a Daddy Bubar. In the second half of the overtime session, C. Howatt, heady centre for the visitors, finally succeeded in caging his own rebound and a half minute later the same player took a pass from V. Webster to make the Bloodhound victory doubly sure.

The first period though scoreless was a Granite one by a wide margin. The home boys produced a smooth brand of hockey, combining nicely and testing Waddell, the visiting net guardian, with many hard shots. Most of them, however, were from the blue line, and Waddell took care of everything in expert fashion.

After about two minutes of play in the middle stanza, R. Jamieson soled down the left side and sniped one from the blue line which fooled the goalie and sagged the draperies. C. MacWilliams evened it up shortly after by batting the disc home from a scramble in front of the net. From then on the play was fairly even. The Cape boys were beginning to combine effectively, but were called back frequently for crossing the line ahead of the puck carrier.

The Kensington sextet failed to combine in the third chukker, and in consequence did not go places as in the first two frames. On the other hand the co-ordination in the visitors' offensive improved, and they had a considerable edge on the play. Both rearwards bumped inrushing forwards with a vim during the entire game.
