ROOSEVELT'S VETO IGNORED BY CONGRESS

Patman Bill Expected To Be Ousted By Senate, However.

(By Nathan Robertson, Associated Press Staff Writer)

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

WASHINGTON, May 22—An irrefragable house majority today swiftly re-passed the Patman bonus bill over President Roosevelt's veto warnings of "disastrous consequences," only to send the new money plan to an almost certain death in the Senate.

Scarcely had Mr. Roosevelt's voice ceased echoing in the crowded house chamber where he hammered objection after objection into the $2,200,000,000 bill than the representatives voted 322 to 98 to override his veto. It was the first personally delivered in history, was many more than the two-thirds majority needed.

More deliberately, the Senate decided to wait until tomorrow to consider the presidential message which, with the House, it heard flay "printing press money" an invitation of "an ultimate reckoning in uncontrollable prices and in the destruction of the value of savings."

Elmer Thomas, Oklahoma Democrat, leader of the Senate Patman inflationary forces, gained the day on grounds the message needed more study. Administration forces, expressing confidence the bill could be stopped with the 35 votes they claim have stood fast during terrific pressure of the past few weeks, agreed to the postponement with the understanding senators could not speak longer than 30 minutes. This, however, did not necessarily mean a vote tomorrow.

Will Hear Protests Re 8 Hour Day

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

OTTAWA, May 22—Controversy on the eight-hour day bill will be ironed out next Tuesday and Wednesday before the Senate banking and commerce committee. Railway, lumber, coal and several tramway trades in Ontario, Quebec and the Maritime Provinces will be invited to appear to make representations on their protests read today by Senator F. B. Black (Con. Saskatchewan) committee chairman, it was decided.

A difference of opinion has developed on the amendment passed by the House of Commons exempting employees in railway running trades from a question raised by March, 1936. Unemployed railwaymen, for example, represent that by bringing railway workers under the bill immediately or by shortening the period of exemption it would reduce unemployment.

Cost Of F. C. A. Act Operations

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

OTTAWA, May 22—Operations of the Farmers Creditors Arrangement Act from Oct. 1, 1934 to April 1, 1935, cost $299,142, according to a report tabled in the House of Commons today in answer to a question raised by Oscar Boulanger (Lib. Bellechasse).

The cost by provinces follows: British Columbia $12,117; Alberta $33,692; Saskatchewan $38,978; Manitoba $21,899; Ontario $58,745; Quebec $51,385; New Brunswick $5,969; Prince Edward Island $2,071; Nova Scotia $4,725; head office and general $24,645.

Bedeque Endorses Tuber Bonus

A meeting of the farmers of Bedeque was held in Lower Bedeque on Friday, May 17th. Mr. J. H. MacFarlane was chairman and Mr. A. B. MacFarlane secretary.

A resolution was unanimously passed endorsing the resolution passed at other meetings, asking the federal government for a bonus on potatoes.

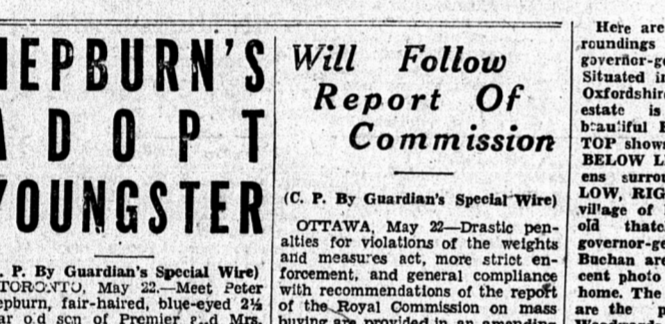

The resolution was moved by Alex. B. MacFarlane and seconded by W. F. MacFarlane.

The resolution was as follows: Resolved that the Potato Growers of South Bedeque join in a movement with the other districts on Prince Edward Island in petitioning the federal government to pay a bonus of $10.00 per acre up to 5 acres on their 1934 crops. S.

HEPBURN'S ADOPT YOUNGSTER

Will Follow Report Of Commission

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

OTTAWA, May 22—Drastic penalties for violations of the weights and measures act, more strict enforcement, and general compliance with recommendations of the report of the Royal Commission on mass buying are provided in an amending bill which Hon. B. B. Hanson, Minister of Trade and Commerce, will place soon before the House of Commons.

Details of this measure, as well as of four other bills arising from the commission report, are not being disclosed pending their introduction in the House.

Other bills of which notice was given today and which will be introduced tomorrow or early next week go a considerable distance toward implementing the recommendations of the committee with respect to hours of labor, labor disputes, livestock marketing and certain company laws which come under the Criminal Code.

Adopt Famed Motto Of Mounties

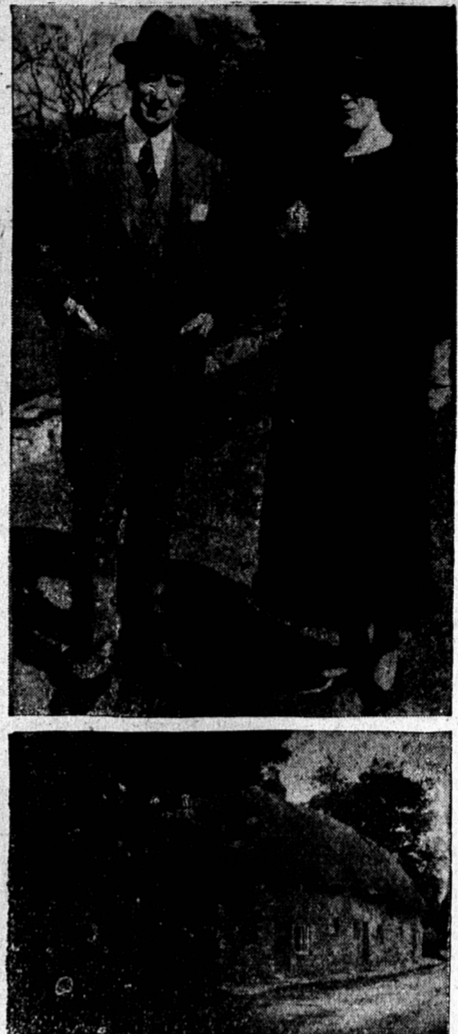

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

ALBANY, N. Y., May 22—Taking a page from the book of the famous, red-jacketed Royal Canadian Mounted Police, state troopers assigned to New York's latest crime fighting unit have adopted and will be expected to live up to the motto "always get your man."

Major John A. Warner, Superintendent of State Police, who has been organizing the seven units of the state's "Scotland Yard" authorized by the last legislature, laid down rules and regulations for the organization today.

"Each man," he said, "when assigned to a case, will be relieved of all other duties. He will then be expected to follow up the case day and night until he has it solved."

—MUSIC ENJOYED—The Montague United Church choir repeated their Easter Cantata which in the Lower Montague Church Sunday afternoon to a large and appreciative audience. The pastor, the Rev. Gordon Frings opened the service with scripture reading and prayer and this was followed by three special numbers: solo, The Holy City by Miss Vivian Armstrong; duet, Come Holy Spirit, by Mrs. H. L. McGregor, and Allison McLean; the Hallulah Chorus, by the choir. This number was especially well rendered and was greatly appreciated. Mrs. Laura Hubby who directed the cantata and took charge of all the numbers clearly showed the youth of an artist. The following were the soloists: Miss Vivian Armstrong, Mrs. H. L. McGregor, Miss Elna Coffin, Miss Frances Coffin, Mr. Malcolm Martin, Mr. Allison McLean and Mr. H. W. Ives. The organist was Miss Agnes Adams.

B.C. WORKERS REJECT PROPOSALS

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

VANCOUVER, May 22—Relief camp workers in Vancouver at a mass meeting today voted against Mayor G. G. McGee's proposals that they return to the camps and leave a delegation here to press for recognition of their demands for changed camp conditions and administration.

The men were reported unanimous in their decision to remain in Vancouver. Approximately 2,000 workers have been here since they left camps throughout British Columbia April 4. They have lived on funds raised solely by private subscription with the exception of two days' relief granted them by the city last weekend.

Meanwhile, the British Columbia government and the city of Vancouver maintained the stand that responsibility for the men rests on the Dominion government. Prime Minister R. B. Bennett has disclaimed this responsibility.

King And Queen Attend Ball And Reception

(A. F. By Guardian's Special Wire)

LONDON, May 22—The King and Queen tonight set a precedent by attending a brilliant civic Jubilee reception and ball in the historic 15th century Guildhall of the City of London.

A clash between shouting, jeering crowds and mounted and foot police occurred shortly before their Majesties arrived.

The Communists, singing the Internationale, shouted "your fine robes would buy us bread" and "our families are starving" as regular constables, reinforced by scores of extra police, pushed them back.

They retreated stubbornly and, remaining some distance away, shouted at the arriving guests.

Given by the Lord Mayor and the Corporation of London, the ball eclipsed in grandeur the functions for which the city is famous.

There is no record in the archives of the Guildhall of a reigning sovereign and his consort visiting in person a ball given there in their honor. It is 98 years since Queen Victoria, in the year of her coronation, attended the Lord Mayor's banquet—the last occasion on which a reigning sovereign attended an evening function in the Guildhall.

Irish Influence On Education Is Cited

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

HAMILTON, Ont., May 22—Sir Robert Falconer of Toronto, attending the annual meeting of the Royal Society of Canada, today spoke of the Irish influence on Ontario's higher education.

Sir Robert, former President of University of Toronto, said the influence had been most impressive and had left its mark most intensively in Toronto, where professors from the distinctively Irish Trinity College of Dublin had made their contribution.

WOULD MOBILIZE CITIZENS

VANCOUVER, May 22—(C.P.)—Citizens will be mobilized if necessary to carry on waterfront business in the event of a longshoremen's strike, Mayor G. G. McGee indicated today in announcing that threats of industrial unrest will not interfere with plans to launch the sale of $1,500,000 worth of city of Vancouver "baby bonds." The campaign will start June 10.

"Whether or not we can meet the relief camp crisis and the strike threat and put over a bond issue at the same time is problematical," the Mayor said.

The 10-year bonds will be for $100 and will bear three per cent interest.

PICKETED

VICTORIA, May 22—(A.P.)—Between 700 and 800 relief camp workers now in Vancouver are eager to return to the camps but they have been halted by strike picketers, British Columbia relief authority's stated today.

These workers who have made application to be returned to the camps, have been given routine medical examination and are prepared to leave but cannot get past the picket posts, it was declared.

REPRESENTATIVE WANTED

Representative wanted for Summerside and Prince County by an old and well established Life Insurance Company—having large volume of insurance in force throughout the Island.

Dr. Carleton W. Stanley, President of Dalhousie University, Halifax, will deliver the Commencement address at the University of Maine, on June 10, it was announced today.

FREEDOM OF MOVEMENT IN RELIEF CAMPS

Voluminous Document Tabled In House Reveals Camp Regulations.

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

OTTAWA, May 22—Government policy on relief camps operated by the Department of National Defence gives those employed therein complete freedom of movement, according to a voluminous document tabled today in the House of Commons. The document covers all regulations issued by the Department for administration of these institutions. The purpose of the camps was to provide relief for "homeless, single men" who were otherwise uncared for in other relief schemes.

Accommodation, food, clothing and medical care, and a daily allowance of 20 cents, were furnished, while the men were required to work eight hours a day, with Saturday afternoon, Sundays and statutory holidays observed.

Personnel will be free to leave the work to accept other employment offered; they may be discharged "for cause," and if so discharged will be subsequently ineligible for reemployment under the scheme, except when there is a reasonable probability of the men bettering property in future, the regulations set forth.

On discharge from camp—except in a case of misconduct, the government gave free transportation to the men to the point at which they were engaged, the document said. Extension of this policy was that free transportation was also given to men who had obtained employment, the government paying their fare from the camp to the place at which they were being given a job.

"The standard of rations shall be that as prescribed for the army," continues the regulation. This, however, the only contact point between the camps and anything relating to the army, for the next regulation sets forth:

"No military discipline or training shall be instituted; the status of the individual shall remain civilian in all respects."

Responsibility for the care of the men lay with the officer in charge of the camp. It was their object, the regulations declare, to ensure that the men's efficiency—mentally, physically, and in general—was improved that when conditions permitted the men may be returned to the economic life of the country "well able again to take up their usual work."

Exonerated By Court Of Fraud Charge

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

LONDON, Ont., May 22—A grand dismissing charges of conspiracy to defraud laid against Samuel A. Richardson and James MacDonnell in connection with the cattle export business of the Richelieu Corporation of Montreal, Court Judge Joseph Wearing completely exonerated both men, formerly president and vice president of the company.

When he acquitted the men May 13, Judge Wearing said of their actions and the company they headed: "This was a type of venture that might very well have been a great benefit to the farmers of Ontario, and on the whole I must be very candid in saying that Mr. Richardson appeared to be fair and frank in his dealings with the farmers up to the very end, and the witnesses did not deny this. They received full statements, and they received their money, and they had no complaint whatever right to the disastrous end, and it would certainly seem clear that Mr. Richardson was as anxious as anybody to see this business flourish."

In stating there was no evidence "to indicate a design to actually go out and defraud the farmers of Ontario," Judge Wearing added: "but there has not been any evidence of specific dishonest acts done to show that these men were not honest men."

Tells Memories Of Miss Cavell

WINNIPEG, May 21—(Canadian Press)—Recollections of Edith Cavell were given in an interview by a resident of this city, Mrs. W. A. Shearer. As Miss Cavell, Edith she worked in Belgium under Miss Cavell for nine months before the outbreak of the war.

As a young hospital nurse, who has just completed her hospital training in Newcastle-on-Tyne, England, in 1913, Miss Coghill saw an advertisement in a paper asking for nurses to go to Edith Cavell's private "clinique" in Brussels. She applied and was accepted.

Asked what the famous nurse was like, Mrs. Shearer replied: "She was not tall, but she was very dignified in spite of her smallness. She was middle-aged. She was very kindly, very strict, and an excellent nurse. I remember her in her white nurse's cap and blue alpaca dress. She had her clinic in the Rue de la Culture for many years: she had gone to the country first as a governess, and had been persuaded by a doctor to take a nurse's training course which she did in London. The object of the clinic was to train a class of Belgian girls who had formerly regarded earning one's own living as a disgrace; she taught them to see how dignified it was. But from time to time she had to supplement her staff with girls from her own country."

ENO PEPS UP THE WHOLE SYSTEM

People who are half-well, half-sick most of the time only exist. To really live you must be well. And to be well you should take steps at once to rid yourself of constipation, which causes most human ailments.

Drastic purgatives and harsh mineral salts aggravate the condition. Eno's "Fruit Salt" regulates gently, effectively—normally. It tastes good and forms no habits.

INCREASE IN CARGO HANDLED BY HALIFAX

Tonnage Exceeds Two Million Mark, Annual Report Discloses.

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

HALIFAX, May 22—Cargo tonnage handled by the port of Halifax in 1934 exceeded the 2,000,000 mark for the first time since records were kept, according to the annual report of the Halifax Harbour Commissioners submitted to Minister of Marine Alfred Durnan and made public today.

A total of 2,096,206 tons of cargo passed through the port in 1934, as compared with 1,751,028 in 1933, 1,458,063 in 1932 and 1,691,066 in 1931.

In showing a net deficit for the year of $23,666.77 the Commission headed by J. L. Hetherington reported an improvement and a gross surplus of $12,841.79. Interest payments of $51,000 on a debenture issue of $1,700,000 were the main cause of the deficit.

Gross revenues for 1934 were $369,104.01 compared with $320,607.42 the previous year, an increase of $48,496.59, while expenditures last year amounted to $356,262.22 compared with $312,737.02 in 1933, an increase of $43,525.20.

Operating costs of the newly-acquired cold storage terminal were reported as satisfactory, revenues amounting to $102,129.79 and expenditures totalling $85,128.35.

A continuous rise in the number of ships handled by the commission piers since 1931 was reported. In 1931, 2,384 ships were handled; in 1934, 3,321.

Construction of the new pier "B" sheds which were opened to the traffic of the world by Prime Minister R. B. Bennett last December 10, was described as the most notable improvement to port facilities since the commission came into existence in 1931.

Improvements were made also during the past year on the grand discharging pier, cold storage terminal and maintenance work on several piers and sheds.

A police force consisting of 15 men including a chief and three sergeants was maintained during the year. In addition to its regular work in patrolling properties, the force handled 268 cases in first aid treatment.

Division of labour, according to the report, was undertaken by the Commission and spread among stewards as far as possible by giving half-time employment to every man.

The Commission consists of three men: J. L. Hetherington, resident; R. B. Meacham, Commissioner; and O. P. Goucher, Commissioner.
