In Memoriam

MAJOR FREDERICK BEAUMONT MacRAE

The death of Major F. B. MacRae occurred October 2, 1946, at Suva, Island of Viti Levu, Fiji Islands.

Mr. MacRae was born at Water-side, Pownal, August 27, 1872, and was in his 75th year. His boyhood was spent at home and he enlisted with others and served as a machine gunner in the Boer War in South Africa.

He was a splendid rifle shot and excelled in the adjustment and use of fire arms. In the First World War he served with distinction as gunnery instructor both in Canada and Great Britain and was promoted to the rank of Major.

He was twice married, first to Margaret Irving, daughter of the late Mr. D. P. Irving, M.L.A., and some years after her death to Grace Dutcher, daughter of Rev. Mr. Dutcher, a former Methodist Minister who at one time had a pastorate at Vernon River.

Major MacRae after his second marriage went to Honolulu where he lived for some years and later moved to Suva, Fiji Islands where he had a successful lumber business.

His geniality brought about him a large circle of friends. He had a very retentive memory and abounded in folk lore being a very interesting conversationalist. His passing will be regretted by his many friends and relatives on P. E. I.

His immediate relatives are his sisters Elizabeth, Nellie and Beatrice and Robert and Daniel are brothers. Two brothers predeceased him viz. Malcolm and Jones and one sister, Mary.

To his living relatives sympathy is extended in the loss of a loved brother.

Blast Myth Of Red Sox's Superiority

(By Gayle Talbot)

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 14—(AP)—Whatever happens in the seventh and deciding game of the World Series tomorrow, Manager Eddie Dyer's scrapping St. Louis Cardinals already have blasted the myth of the American League's vast post-war supremacy over the National, which was fostered mainly by the slaughter of the Nats in this year's all-star game.

In battling from behind three times to deadlock the play-off with Boston, the Cards have demonstrated conclusively that they are on a par with the club that made a runaway of the American League race. In several departments—especially fielding—they have looked the superior outfit in the tightly-contested series.

The odds have appeared to be far out of line from the start, and they still look attractive for those who think the rebounding Red Birds can stop Ted Williams and company tomorrow and wrap up their sixth world championship in nine tries.

Betting commissioner J. J. Carroll, steadfast in his belief that Boston's batting power eventually will decide the issue, announced today that every $10 bet on the Cards to beat big Dave (Boo) Ferris in the final would return $12. The same sum placed on the Sox will bring back only $7.

The Nationals, from President Ford Frick on down, were fully confident that Murray Dickson would duplicate the feat of Harry Brecheen and hamstring the Sox in the season's grand climax.

"I feel it in my bones," said Frick. "A Sox club that can come from behind three straight times as the Cards have done is due to win two in a row and go out in front."

The Cardinals' admit to great respect for Ferris, who blanked them with six hits in Boston, but they feel that they have quite a pitcher themselves in the pint-sized Dickson. Both sides expect it to be a tense hurling duel.

Dickson was beaten by Ferris in the third game only because he threw one careless ball to Rudy York in the first inning with two on base, and Rudy powered it over the wall. After that, until he was taken out for a pinch-hitter in the eighth inning, the stout little right-hander kept the Sox well in hand.

Whether the Cards ever will get to Ferris is a question. The 26-game winner looked like he might have kept them away from the plate until sundown up in Boston. He obviously is every bit of the pitcher American Leaguers said he was during the season.

Should Dickson wobble at any time tomorrow, or should the Cards need to protect a short lead in the late innings, it is entirely possible that the Sox will have to puzzle over Brecheen's dippy-doo for the third time. The diminutive lefty, who has yielded exactly one run in 18 series innings, said today his arm did not feel tired and that he would be ready if and when Manager Dyer beckoned.

The Sox workout today, which followed that of the Cards, was feature by Ted Williams' long tenure in the batting cage. He wanted a lot of extra swipes, and Joe Cronin let him have them. The scourge of American League pitching so far has contributed only five singles to the Boston attack and several of these were rather puny.

At the moment, Ted might be said to be leading Stan Musial, the National League's leading slugger, for "goat" honors in the series. Musial also has made only five hits in six games, but the Card star included three doubles and a triple in his collection and has driven across four runs to Williams' one.

Thanks mainly to their record-tying 20 hits in the fourth game, the National Leaguers were out-hitting the Sox with a collective average of .264 to .242, and they had committed only three errors to a round 10 for Boston.

Day after day the sun has shone on schedule, and the air had only a slight nip one day in Boston. The weatherman says tomorrow will be the same, with no rain expected until after the contest.

Kalgan's Capture Marks Last Chance Of Negotiated Peace

NANKING, Oct. 11—(AP)—Chinese Government troops captured Kalgan today, Chiang Kai-shek's military of national defense claimed—an event which the Chinese Communists had warned would mean the last hope of a negotiated peace and the opening of a fratricidal war to the finish.

Gloomy Communist spokesmen adopted a policy of "wait and see" while seeking confirmation from their own field sources that their regional capital, in the mountains of Chahar Province 100 miles northwest of Peiping, was swept up by a swift drive from its rear.

The month-long offensive reached its climax four days ahead of the deadline set by the government for wresting the city from its defenders.

The report of the abrupt fall of Kalgan, which means that the skirt reaches to the widest part of the curve of the calf—about sixteen inches from the ground, more or less, depending on the weight of the person. A few cocktail dresses are one inch or two longer, and tailored suits one inch or an inch and a half shorter.

A few Parisian fashion designers are making even still skirts nearer fourteen or fifteen inches from the ground so that the widest part of the calf curve is covered, while uneven hemlines add to the impression of greater length.

This Schiaparelli style apparently was inspired by the pagoda edge, and probably is a carry-over from the Indo-Chinese styles of her spring showing.

know any Goose that lays

Golden Eggs?

Somewhere there may be a lucky man who owns a goose that lays golden eggs. But we all know that most of us can't depend on such fairy-tale good fortune. We have to earn our money.

And Save It!

That's why Canada Savings Bonds have been created—because in a recent survey, 82% of those interviewed said they wanted to carry on the habit of saving they learned through buying Victory Bonds and War Savings Certificates—which will not be issued again.

Canada Savings Bonds now take their place as the most convenient way to provide yourself with a backlog of security with which to meet whatever the future holds.

But please remember this point. These are "Serve Yourself" Bonds. This time there will be fewer salesmen. They will not be able to call on everyone. So it's up to you to take advantage of this fine investment opportunity—without delay.

How to Buy

You can buy them at any bank; authorized investment dealer; stock broker; trust or loan companies for cash or by the Monthly Savings Plan. Where your employer offers a Payroll Savings Plan you can buy Canada Savings Bonds by regular deductions from your pay.
