Said the Painter—

"There is a great house paint. It is "English" Liquid Paint made by Brandram-Henderson Limited, the same firm that make Brandram's B. B. Genuine White Lead. I never saw a paint before that was so finely ground, that spreads so easily or covers so well. The shades are clean and clear and perfect, and the white—well, the white can't be beat.

"I know why this paint is so good. The white base is 70% pure white lead, and 30% pure zinc white with pure linseed oil, turpentine and dryer.

"The guarantee formula is on every can. That suits me. I want to know what is in the stuff I'm using on my jobs."

"English" Liquid Paint is most economical to use.

ADVANCE SPRING STYLES IN FASHIONABLE MILLINERY

Some of the Ideas Moore & McLeod Will Be Showing At Their Spring Opening In The Near Future.

Among the many and almost countless attractions for the spring wearer of fashionable millinery, it is almost impossible to determine what is the most correct, for fashion's vagaries suit all kinds and conditions of people, and there is something individual for all. Apropos of hats, large or small, it is safe to say that while large ones will be worn—small ones are the favorites, or, rather, small in comparison to what the previous season has seen. Still those who cling to the enormous chapeau which is so becoming, can wear it with no fear of being old fashioned in the least, and many beauties are numbered among the spring displays. As to trimming schemes, flowers are decidedly comme il faut—and flowers in every arrangement possible are dictated by Dame Fashion. Crowns of flowers, brims of flowers hats which appear one mass of gorgeous bloom, delicately veiled with net or chiffon are the prevailing fad for this spring's hats. And very beautiful they are, too—lovely enough to captivate the most fastidious. Turbans still retain favor—close fitting and comfortable—beautiful and attractive always. In many decorations a touch of red, somewhere, gives the finish of fashion, and few models escape the prevailing idea. Automobile hats of wonderous capability, and of beauty as well, demand attention, while the sun-bonnet—close fitting and becoming—is decidedly the thing for the younger faces. But to mention styles in advance, and to see these same worked out by the capable milliners which the authorities on millinery, Moore & McLeod, always employ are different considerations. The near future will show how from all corners of the world of fashion they have gathered together chapeaus of beauty which bear the mark of distinctiveness and correctness.

And in all portions of spring wear they are the leaders in what is correct, showing from the Parisian marts the latest fabrics with as usual the color note predominating. Linens and silks are the favorite weaves, and though weaves were never more numerous it is the color effects which make the real novelty of the season. Paris features twills, tweeds, cheviots, and new black and white woolen cloths, as well as Tussahs in natural as well as many colored shades.

But to particularize is impossible, and only a very insufficient mention can be made of what the spring showing at Moore & McLeod's will have in store for the fashionable woman. Suffice it to say, that they lead always in what is fashionable, attractive and wearable by all classes, and that this season they have surpassed even themselves in their choice and varied personal selections by S. A. McLeod and Miss Edith Wilson from the fashionable marts of the world—London, Paris, New York, etc. Watch for their announcements, they will contain matter of more than ordinary interest every time.
