Your Bad Taste In The Morning Is Due To Catarrh

Destroy This Poisonous Disease Before Your Health is Seriously Injured.

Perhaps you haven't thought of calling those unpleasant symptoms that affected your nose and throat by any particular name—but it's Catarrh just the same.
When the attack is severe, your eyes are watery and look weak. Your breath is offensive, due to inflammation in the nose and throat.
At last, science has discovered a real remedy, a new scientific marvel which acts like no other Catarrh remedy on earth. "Catarrhazone" operates on a new plan; it is a direct remedy, goes instantly to the source of the trouble. Its rich, fragrant essences and healing balsams are breathed in vapor form through a special inhaler and give instant relief.
Catarrhazone doesn't stop at the relief stage—it goes further—keeps on going till a cure is effected. Bad cases are cured, as you can judge from the following letter:—"Every morning for six months last winter I awoke with a bad taste, an awful breath and stuffed up feeling in my nostrils," writes Rob E. Rutland, of Regina. "It was simply an awful case of chronic Catarrh. Relief first came from Catarrhazone. I used that inhaler twenty times a day and took it to bed with me at night. I am cured, and by the use of Catarrhazone stay well. Now I am free from irritable throat trouble, coughs, colds, headache, or catarrh."
No medicine on earth is so certain to cure every form of Catarrh or throat trouble as "Catarrhazone." Get the large $1.00 size, lasts two months and is guaranteed; medium size 50c.; sample size 25c.; all storekeepers and druggists, or The Catarrhazone Co., Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Canada.

CURVE PITCHING

A Youth From a Barmyard Surprised the Professionals.

Curve pitching was a great innovation in its day and caused almost as great a commotion as the advent of the aeroplane or the wireless telegraph. I think it was back in '80 or thereabouts that I first saw it uncooked, says "Uncle Dud," and experienced the bitter humiliation of being repeatedly whiffed out by a youngster several years my junior and for whom I had heretofore entertained the feeling of contempt with which the haughty captain of a crack team is wont to view a youngster who wears glasses and doesn't approve of slang. I was a battle-scarred backstop, approaching the mature and seasoned age of 17, had been the hero of the local diamond for several seasons, and had, by careful cultivation, acquired a swagger and gruffness of voice. My broken and distorted fingers were the admiration of the entire village and a source of no small satisfaction to myself, although I would gladly trade them for straight ones to-day. Catching was no snap in those days, although we stood back for all but the third strike, except when there was a base runner to take care of. It was some time later that the pneumatic protector, the padded mitt and the wire muzzle came into general vogue. Of course, we had heard of curves, but it sounded like a joke to us wise ones and we passed it up—all but Clabby Williams. It had a scientific sound to him and he began to take an interest in baseball and to work out the curve problem all by himself with his father's barn for a backstop. Clabby Williams came to me with the astounding suggestion that I give him a tryout on the mound. There were hoots of derision when little Clabby Williams, pale and nervous, but with a gleam in his eye and a turn to his jaw that we had never seen there before, entered the box and fanned a big, grinning south-paw who had already landed on the pill for two three-baggers and a home run. He didn't use any wind-up and he hadn't much speed, but he fanned every Kenosha that came to bat for five straight innings. And ever since that time when I have met with small persons who are pale and delicate and wear glasses, I remember little Clabby, and say to myself, "Well, you never can tell!"

CHEVALIER'S START

The Beginning is Not Always a Good Index

Mr. Albert Chevalier, the famous interpreter of "coaster" life, had a somewhat disturbing experience in the early days of his career. He was giving a performance at a West End theatre in London but the audience failed to appreciate or respond to his humor. Just as he was nearing the end of his performance there was a terrific round of applause, and he thanked his stars that success was his at last. He was about to take an encore, when the manager seized him by the arm and pulled him into the wings.
"Done well, haven't I?" asked Mr. Chevalier. "Hear the applause."
"You silly ass, they're not clapping you," replied the manager. "It's the Prince of Wales who's just come in."
On another occasion when a stage-door keeper at one of the theatres approached Mr. Chevalier's brother with a request for a couple of seats.
"With pleasure," was the reply.
"But I don't want 'em for myself," the man explained. "I've seen 'im. It's the missus that wants 'em. Like all the women, she just wants to say she's seen 'im."
"That will be all right," replied Mr. Chevalier's brother. "You send her along, and I'll see that she has good seats."
"Thank you, sir," replied the man. He drew a step nearer and whispered confidentially, "Don't worry about the places. Put 'em anywhere, but put 'em near the door, so that she can get out easy in case she don't like 'im."
Mr. Chevalier's most famous song is undoubtedly "My Old Dutch." The inspiration came to him one day when lost in a London fog, and he wrote out the verses under a lamp-post. Strange to relate, when he first tried the song at Manchester he was hissed off.

Cow in the Kitchen

NEWEST HOME BEAUTIFYING GOODS Nervous Sufferers Often Look Well

The writer yesterday morning visited Paton's Furniture Department where was seen one of the finest displays of furniture given in this Province, selected from the leading factories of the world. The secret of furnishing a home is an easy one if the intending purchaser will call at Paton's where the furniture man is teeming with suggestions and only too pleased to show his handsome pieces to any one interested. Perhaps no where in this Province are there furniture rooms so well adapted to the showing of furniture as they are exceptionally large, well lighted and pleasingly arranged, the walls being prettily hung with etchings and pictures, suitable to any room in the home. To furnish the home in the early spring, right after house-cleaning, is the desire of every woman's heart, and with this in view Paton's have on display some exquisite pieces of upholstered furniture, with serviceable coverings in rich designs, in lounges, easy chairs, rockers, divans, etc. The same may be had in silk coverings, beautiful brocade materials in rich shades for drawing rooms, parlors, etc.; in fact every room in the house can get a suitable piece of furniture at Paton's. The first thing looked at was parlor suites, elegant massive pieces, hand-somely polished frames, arms on all pieces, carved claws or legs with full spring edge seats, covering of green, brown, or crimson, in highest quality silks, $19.50 to $60.00.
Couches or Davenport of every style, every finish in leather, plush, velvet with spring bottoms and spring edges, beautiful wood-work highly polished, $5.50 to $15.00. Splendid selections can be made in Morris chairs with handsome reversible cushions, with spring backs. They come in quartered oak with velvet or leather cushions and sell from $8.75 to $19.50. The music cabinets will meet instant favor. They are in all the different woods and have the closed in drawer and shelves alphabetically arranged for sheet music, newest designs, at $4.25 up. The Macey sectional bookcase is shown in full size 8 1/2 to 14 inches with prices according to size.
The China Cabinets are works of art, in highly polished quartered oak with bent glass doors, front and sides 33 to 34 inches wide at $12.00 to $35.00. $15.00 to $35.00 will purchase something exceedingly rich in quartered oak dining tables with heavy carved pedestals or claw feet, as desired. Round or square tables shown with extensions to 6, 8 or 10 feet. The dining room chairs in sets of 6 are richly carved, with leather seats or not as preferred and these come at $18.00 to $45.00 and in the surface oak 6 cost $12.00 to $20.00 according to patterns. Bed bargains in white enamel, brass, etc., can certainly be had at Paton's where they show about 40 patterns made by the best Canadian factories. There are brass beds with a guaranteed Darnard Lacquer, and are warranted not to peel off as the old brass ones were wont to do, and are very handsome in design. These beds are all 1913 patterns, are full size 4 ft. 6. Riced enamel $2.50 to $15.00, brass $10.00 to $35.00.

The Mission furniture and odd pieces come in endless variety and handsome designs, which make choosing easy.
The Gentlemen's Dressers are massive pieces with large beveled, round or square mirrors, in quartered oak, serpentine drawers, ranging from $36.00 up. While the Ladies' Dressers of newest design have the writing desk drawer attached which opens out to a fully equipped desk and sells at $38.00 with other designs sell from $5.25 to $45.00.
In Buffets and China Cabinets, the range is magnificent and come in surface and quartered oak for $12.00 up to $50.00.
The children were not forgotten, and never were the carriages and go-carts so extensive in design and so carefully constructed, they are strong, serviceable, pretty, with the auto-covered top in many cases. This top defies the weather and is very attractive. One carriage shown was the popular new side pattern, which enables the driver to move the body of the carriage whichever way desired to avoid the wind, and is truly most convenient for the baby.
The carriages and go-carts are all rubber-tired, with easy springs, to make baby's outing most delightful. One could go on and on describing all the lovely furniture shown and then give but a small idea of its massive beauty and richness. A cordial invitation is extended to all to visit the show rooms and view at their leisure the furniture mentioned here. 4-29Mt.
