Romantic Marriages Blamed For High Divorce Rate

America is the birthplace and the cradle of romantic marriage, but it may become the burial grounds for the same institution.

"Falling in love has been the sanctioned prelude to marriage in the United States," he writes.

Dr. Burgess reports that, in his 16 years of study of the problems of marriage, thousands of engaged and married couples have filled out detailed schedules, given frank answers to scores of questions, and revealed their inmost feelings and attitudes.

After declaring that the "zenith of the romantic movement coincided with the career of Rudolph Valentino," when countless women dreamed of Valentino as the perfect lover, Dr. Burgess declares that "a new type of relationship between the sexes was (then) in the making."

Correspondence was read and it was moved and seconded that $10.00 be sent to one from each district who will attend the Dramatic Short Course in Charlottetown.

Georgetown and Vicinity

Friends of Mrs. Nelson Hanson of Burnt Point are sorry to hear of her illness and express the wish for an early recovery.

The Georgetown Eagles, intermediate hockey team are registering for intermediate playdowns, the deadline for which is February 25th.

Arnold Murphy, St. Dunstan's student is spending a few days at his home in Georgetown.—Geo.

Many commercial travellers took advantage of the clean though slippery roads on Thursday and called on merchants of the town, among them being Vernon Williams of Charlottetown; F. G. Ward of Charlottetown; J. W. Hogan of Charlottetown, Jimmie Currie and R. R. Howatt who makes his home in Pettitodiac, N. B.

The ladies hockey team made the meeting closed with the triumph of the night in spite of the inclement weather, and succeeded in handily trimming the much publicized and highly rated ladies team of Montague by the score of 6-5. Local fans are eagerly awaiting the return contest between those two teams which is scheduled for Georgetown rink early in next week.

Dr. Burgess suggests that our country is perhaps best suited to romantic unions, because of the divergence of races and social backgrounds.

"The love we had when we were first married seems so small compared to the love we have come to know now. Sex life is not merely the physical satisfaction I thought it was going to be, but it is an expression of love—a much-needed outlet for deep-rooted emotion."

Dr. Burgess says that the custom of dating, which allows boys and girls to informally side up one another without embarrassment, has "gone far to undermine the philosophy of romantic love and to prepare the way for companionship as the valid basis for marriage."

He dismisses the romantic concept of "love at first sight" as a sound basis for marriage and presents six stages of courtship which provides an opportunity for a man and woman to determine whether they can be happy in marriage.

First, casual dating; second, keeping company, but with the privilege of dating others; third, going steady (and not with others); fourth, an informal understanding that you'll marry; fifth, a private engagement; and sixth, a publicly announced engagement.

"Couples should find out if they are companionable before they marry," Dr. Burgess says. "They should first be friends and then be lovers... Then they will not be in the dilemma of one husband who told his wife that he loved her but did not like her."

The WEEK at S. D. U.

An echo of our last week's column has reverberated from Prince County. The western commentator deprecates what he calls our low opinion of the All Stars and our lack of sportsmanship.

The program for the evening was ably presented by the convenors, Mrs. Geo. Clark and Mrs. Sterling Stewart who had prepared a very interesting paper on "Some outstanding events and discoveries of the past year."

The February meeting will be held in Rustico, place to be announced. Convenors, Mrs. B. C. Woolner and Mrs. Roy Woolner; subject: "What I would like to see accomplished in world conditions this coming year."

The Saints played their second C.H.L. game on Tuesday night, with the Navy. The score: Saints 7, Navy 3. It was a good game to watch; it had everything—speed, clever passing plays, good defensive work, and excellent goal tending.

It was decided that the sick committee take some fruit to Mr. Prowse.

Grace MacLean invited the members to her home for next meeting.

After a period of recreation in charge of Malcolm MacLean and Norma Yeo, refreshments were served by the hostesses.

The intramural league is now under way. Each class has entered a team and it is expected that it will be a close race all the way, especially between the lower classes.

That seems to be it for this week; next week we hope to have more news for you than the sports sections. So long.

Bedeque United Church The History of a Methodist Circuit in Prince Edward Island Tracing its Roots in the Cultural, Educational and Commercial Fields of the Community. By E. S. D. CHAPTER TWO (Continued)

Bedeque as an address covered a large area in the early days; any farm bordering the bay was in Bedeque whether in Lot 17, 19, 25 or 26, but most of the early farms fringed the Dunk to take advantage of the French clearings and the marshes.

At North Bedeque in 1798 there were five beautiful shore farms corresponding roughly to the present day holdings of the McMurdo's, Staverts, Clarks and Bakers.

The largest settlement of Loyalists was on the south shore of the Dunk in Lot 26, which was owned by Lieut. John Stewart of England and Major Peter Gordon of St. Vincent in the West Indies.

It is a story which has found its way into different newspaper and magazine articles on Bedeque, and would be hard to dispute; yet in the list of Loyalists who landed from Shelburne at Bedeque on the 29th July, 1784, the name William Schurman stands out as a possible misspelling of William Schurman, added to which the list of children by ages—two over ten and three under ten—agrees exactly with the Schurman record.

To the south of Schurman lived John Baker who according to some was a former fellow-citizen of Schurman's in New Rochelle, New York, but believed by others to have been a native of Philadelphia.

The Robins property further down the Lower Bedeque road was in 1798 occupied by Bedeque's one recorded widow, Mary Hooper Robins, relict of John Robins, one time ensign of the King's Rangers and later Lieutenant in H. M. Island of Saint John's Corps of Volunteers.

This tragic story, which has found its way into the history books and has been dramatized on the radio, was told, in her old age, by Isabella Robins, who said the first English grave in Bedeque was on the Robins farm at Lower Bedeque near the shore.

All these farms had a fringe of more or less cleared land; heritage from the French settlement which extended from Hurd's Point to Wright's mill stream, with clearings roughly corresponding to the land north of the present Lower Bedeque road in that section.

Thomas Hooper, Esq., the first J. P. for Bedeque and only Lot 26 resident over sixty years of age in 1798, writing from Bedeque Harbour, September 19, 1788, spoke of the land as being good (he had three hundred acres west of Billiker's and his son Major, 150 acres near with eight or ten cleared acres of the French settlement) and noted happily the abundance of oysters a quarter of a mile from his door.

The last of the Loyalists to reach Bedeque was Alexander Anderson who, settling first at Rustico in 1789 where he married Margaret MacCallum of Brackley Point, came to Bedeque in 1797. He secured a few or seven hundred acres, the greater part being the previously mentioned "Refugee tract" earmarked for Loyalist settlement, with a homestead on the marshes near the southern shore of Salvation Cove.
