Biggest Harvest Ever in Britain

LONDON, Oct. 19.—(CP)—It is time now for Agriculture Minister Hudson and his following of farmers and farmhands to stick feathers in their hats. The harvest is in. It is the biggest ever. The farmers of Britain have done a great wartime job.

From early summer it was obvious that the harvest would be something out of the ordinary. Growing things filled the fields in the Midlands and north into Scotland and which the farmers did their part nature co-operated to bring this third crop of the war to full-fashioned maturity.

So great was the crop that it is not officially estimated. Italian prisoners of war were called upon to help gauge it.

Today Britain is feeding from her own fields 30,000,000 of her 48,000,000 people. There are authorities who feel the whole population could be fed from its own land. While the war lasts that is the goal of the British farmer.

One staunch and fearless friend of British Agriculture, Lord Winterston, thinks much more can be done. He suggested there are thousands of acres of rough and smooth lands, garden and shrub, which can be put add-

Hitler and Hirohito have Great Plans for Canada

Yes, all Canada's great resources . . . her minerals, her wheat fields, her forests, her factories . . . could be put to wonderful use by the ruthless bully-boys from Germany, by the polite little savages from Japan. And Canada's boundless acres would provide plenty of living room . . . for the Germans and the Japs.

But what of the Canadians? The answer is simple when you think what happened and is still happening to the Poles, the Greeks, the Yugo-Slavs—and all the others . . . in terms of slow starvation, slave labor, mass executions.

Every time a hard-working Canadian man or woman buys a Victory Bond, the plans of Hitler and Hirohito receives a set-back. The more you save and lend . . . the more certain you help make it that our enemies shall never put their greedy claws on Canada.

To Restrict University Education

OTTAWA, Oct. 19.—(CP)—University education is expected to be the subject of one of the Government's forthcoming restrictive orders.

Plans have already been framed and discussed with heads of Canadian universities for curtailing admission to courses which are of no direct benefit to war activities. It was understood today from official sources. Announcement of this action is expected within a few weeks, or at least before the Christmas holiday period.

Under regulations now in effect, control is exercised by the government, over students desiring to change their courses. In addition, male students 20 years of age or over are also in the company, so more are required to take a physical examination at the beginning of the term.

Those physically fit must enrol in an officers' training course or take some similar course approved by the district officer commanding for the army. Those who fall in any set of examinations are automatically subject to military service.

Permission to change a course requires the approval of both university officials and the district officer commanding. Decisions are based on the value of the training to the war effort—in other words, an arts student would probably have little difficulty obtaining permission to switch to engineering, but an engineering student would have a hard time getting permission to change to an arts course.

The new controls expected shortly are likely to extend this policy.
