those over, but what a story, one that might happen, and does hap- pen on any street, a human story of the average people of any city that reaches down deep into life as it is. It retains all the effective characterizations, all the atmos- phere which made it an absorbing drama on the stage. The entire cast is excellent making a good play into an equally good movie, one well worth your attention.

plow and a crew of snow shovellers was sent out to Tignish via Borden. Another train with plow and snow fighting crew left for Souris and Georgetown. The train which left S'ide was stalled for two and a half hours east of Kensington, but finally got through. At 12 o'clock all trains were running, but from thirty minutes to an hour late. A large number of men were engaged in clearing the snow from the tracks and rails about the entrance to the railway depot and railway yards. The rotary plow could not be used as the fall of snow is not yet heavy enough.

CHRISTMAS MAIL- Working eighteen hours a day from 6 a. m. to 1 and 2 a. m. the Summerside postal staff under the capable direction of the postmaster, Mr. Arthur Allen, efficiently handled the heav- iest Christmas mail in the history of the Post Office. On Monday 225 bags of mail was sorted and on Tuesday 215 bags. The heaviest stamp sale ever recorded at the Post Office amounted to $430 and the total for the four days before Christmas was $10,970. The work of cleaning up each days mail both in- coming and outgoing was a gigantic task for the small staff of five men with only two helpers but the boys proved equal to the occasion and nothing was left over for the fol- lowing day. The mail man, "Joe de Post," was kept busy trucking bags of mail to and from the station, he never remembered such a heavy mail in all the years he has been on duty as mail man. The same was the experience of the rural mail carriers whose duty it was to deliv- er Christmas greetings and parcels to the country districts.-S.

AT ROTARY - At the Rotary luncheon yesterday President Hornby presided. Major C. C. Thompson was a guest. The chair- man commented on Rotarian H. C. Brown entertaining the Falcon- wood nurses at the Queen Hotel on Christmas Day and the Rotarians accorded him vigorous applause. Rotarian J. M. Murley reported that the Christmas Tree at the Dispensary, towards which the Club had contributed $100 was a big success. A letter was read from Miss Mary Earle thanking the club for its dona- tion. The Chairman and Secre- tary Bissett read letters received from Presidents and Secretaries of the Clubs in the district in reply to Christmas greetings. A letter was read from Rotarian J. A. MacMillan, acknowledging gift of flowers at Christmas. A musical programme comprised vocal solos by Prof. True- man of Mt. Allison University, who was heartily encored, Professor Ken- dall playing the accompaniments. The meeting closed with the singing of Auld Lang Syne and The National Anthem.

AT GYRO-Dr. D. T. Waye was the chairman at the regular weekly Gyro dinner held last evening in the Canadian National Hotel. The Christmas Seal sale report as given by Dr. P. A. Creelman showed a total of $1346.00 received to date, being $23.69 ahead of this date last year, and within $350.00 of last years total. There are about 1350 persons who received seals to make returns yet. President Russ Chan- dler stated that instead of the Club giving gifts to the Orphanages as in previous years, a sum of money was sent to each institution to be spent as they desired. The Junior Hockey report was given by Mr. Harry Richardson. He stated that the Gyro team was doing well, but it is rather early to pass judgment. He appealed for better attendance at the games. The Chairman read a Christmas message from Inter- national President Robert Abel of Tacoma, Wash. The meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

IN MEMORIAM

MR. PETER WILSON

The sudden death occurred at his home, Richmond Street, about eight o'clock yesterday morning, of an old and highly respected resident of this city, Mr. Peter Wilson, a valued and popular C. N. R. yard employe. While suffering from a disease of the heart, his case was not consid- ered serious and his sudden passing came as a severe shock to his fam- ily and friends. About a month ago, on the advice of his physician, he remained at home and after receiving medical treatment, appeared greatly improv- ed. So well was he yesterday morn- ing that he intended going out, but sincerity of the motives of the Roman Pontiff. Any appeal to christen- dom, even in the negative form to combat immorality and unbelief in our day calls for a re- sponse; while the positive appeal to 'exalt domestic society, as the foundation of all society' finds one agreeing with enthusiasm. But when we come upon the assump- tions, the appeals to history and the one big church method as the ground upon which these objec- tives are to be attained, then I, as a true Protestant, must lift up my protest.

Consider the following as an ex- ample of what I mean. The appeal 'to the separated brethren to con- sider that the Roman Church al- ways has been the faithful deposi- tory and custodian of the doctrine of Jesus Christ, and that also in the first ages of Christianity all the other churches and religious communities of the east and west had recourse to it as the infallible teacher of truth.' Does he expect that any one who has studied the early ages of Christianity is going to swallow such an assumption as that? He knows quite well that the dogma of transubstantiation to which the Roman Church for ex- ample appeals at every diet of wor- ship 365 days in the year was not accepted even by the Roman Church, much less by other church- es, in the early ages of christianity.

Does he expect an independent student of history to quietly accept his assumption of the truth of the dogma of Papal infallibility, which dogma lies at the background of the whole Encyclical? He knows quite well that this dogma was carried through the Vatican Council of 1870 in spite of the protest of a strong and scholarly minority in that Council.

Space forbids giving illustrations from history of the impossibility of any Protestant, who has read an- cient or mediaeval or modern his- tory accepting any such dogma.

"Timing his Encyclical on Chris- mas Day the Pope urges Protestants to appeal to the Virgin Mary as our mediatrix and intercessor. I would say that there is not one vestige of authority for any such appeal to the Virgin Mary in the New Testament.

"As Presbyterians, our appeal al- ways is to the sovereign God, through Jesus Christ, our great high priest, which is the only medi- ating priesthood since Christ fin- ished his work upon the earth; we want no mediating priesthood, no Virgin Mary and no saints as our mediators. Our prayers are always and only in the name of Jesus Christ, the great King and only head of the church.

"All the other appeals head up in the one big church idea, which he calls re-union with Rome. Here again history makes this appeal heavy going. If this be the great remedy to combat immorality and unbelief, why is it that multitudes, the reported numbers are almost unbelievable, are leaving the Ro- man Church in Mexico, Spain, Czecho-Slovakia, Austria and Hun- gary in the well known 'away from Rome movement'? In these lands the Roman Church has been in absolute control. Why is it that the Roman Church is in the most se- cure position in those countries where Protestantism is the domi- nant religion?"

"The Presbyterian Church in Canada has had experience with ecclesiastical tyranny with which certain politicians allied themselves resulting in an attempt to deny religious liberty and a complete denial of the rights of minorities. Such an experience of a merger of Protestant churches makes us a bit wary of the one big church ec- clesiastical merger as set forth in the Pope's Encyclical.

"Observation and experience have taught us that Cardinal Gib- bons was right when he said 'the logical accompaniment of ecclesi- astical consolidation is the acknowl- edgment of a Pope.' Whether it be an ecclesiastical monarchy or an ecclesiastical oligarchy the possi- bilities are full of danger both to the church and to the state. In our subordinate standards, the Westminster confession of faith, our belief in christian unity finds strong expression. As a great chris- tian catholic communion we stand ready to use all sound methods to combat immorality and unbelief and to promote the interests of domestic society and to do all in our power to promote the highest wel- fare of the individual and national righteousness in this Dominion and unto the uttermost parts of the earth."

"Timing his Encyclical on Chris- mas Day the Pope urges Protestants to appeal to the Virgin Mary as our mediatrix and intercessor. I would say that there is not one vestige of authority for any such appeal to the Virgin Mary in the New Testament.
