All Set For Today's Game

High Class New York Lady Ball Team Have Wide Reputation —Will Play Abegweits This Afternoon, 3.30 O'clock.

Local baseball fans will have the opportunity of seeing the NEW YORK Bloomer Girls, undefeated female baseball champions since 1910, when they play The Abegweits this afternoon at the C.A.A.A. grounds. Inasmuch as it will doubtless be the only appearance of the girls in this particular section, much interest and enthusiasm is already noticeable and a good crowd is expected.

Attention is called to the fact that the NEW YORK BLOOMER GIRLS are not to be confused with so-called "Bloomer Girls" or "Athletic Girls" or "Bovvie Girls" or "All Star Girls" who have toured the country at various times and misled managers and fans into believing they are the genuine article.

Manager Margaret Nabel has been in charge of the NEW YORK BLOOMER GIRLS continuously since 1919; the first NEW YORK BLOOMER GIRLS team was organized in 1910 and has been in the limelight as undefeated female champions of the Eastern United States ever since. Miss Nabel has facts and records to prove this assertion, and will gladly back up this claim at any time, as she has been with the club as player for many seasons before taking over the management.

Each year for the past ten seasons, the NEW YORK BLOOMER GIRLS have toured practically all States

Won With Rare Ease

Bobby Pearce of Australia, won the single scull championship of the British Empire games, with rare ease, defeating Jack Beresford, England Fred Bradley, England, and Joe Wright of Canada, who finished in that order. Pearce led all the way and won by himself with a finishing sprint and as fresh as the proverbial daisy. Wright was rowed out and collapsed at the finishing line.

Bluenose Model To Feature Expo.

LUNenburg, N. S. Aug. 26—In view of the re-awakened interest and anticipated resumption of an International Fishing Schooner race which may materialize this autumn between the schooner Bluenose, hitherto undefeated champion of the Lunenburg fishing fleet and a new American contender. An exhibit that should attract unusual interest at the approaching Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto, especially to provincial exhibitors, will be a miniature of the famous Bluenose, fully rigged and with complete deck equipment. The hull, sails, dories, oil butts, cable, anchors and other accessories of the handsome model are perfect in every detail and exact reproductions of the well known racer, that, commanded by Captain Angus Walters in previous International races has brought honor to her home builders, her home port, and her home skipper.

This little craft is the handiwork of a Lunenburg citizen Captain Arthur Westhaver, who with infinite patience, wrought 1400 hours of spare time covering a three year period in designing and assembling a piece of work, which, judged by competent shipping men, has been acknowledged an exact replica of the queen of the Lunenburg fishing fleet.

Built to a half inch scale, the dimensions of the baby craft are: Length, six feet; beam, fourteen inches; depth, six inches. Her hull is fashioned from mahogany and oak that at one time formed part of an English ship the Crofton Hall, wrecked on the graveyard of the Atlantic, Sable Island, thirty years ago. The wood was obtained by Captain Westhaver when, on a regular fishing trip, he visited Sable Island where part of the wrecked ship still remained.

In her construction, the keel of the small craft was laid and her hull timbered, planked and sealed precisely as was the hull of the larger schooner. Nothing is lacking even to the smallest bolt. Her dories are built, not carved from solid blocks, and are fitted with all the equipment that is found in the regulation fishing schooner dory. The interior finish, too, is as perfect as that of the Bluenose, and her sails, rigging, blocks, as well as steering gear, windlass, and other mechanical devices, work with perfection and accuracy.

The spars and all parts above deck can readily be taken apart and packed, and as readily re-assembled. In the intricate making of the sails, Captain Westhaver was assisted by his wife, whose neat and accurate work attracts more than passing attraction, and adds very materially to the grace and beauty of the entire design.

Through the courtesy of Maritime Trades Commissioner Burnaby and J. J. Kinley, of Lunenburg, the baby craft, with its designer and builder, will be viewed during the sixteen days of the Toronto Fair. A large tank sixteen feet square, has been provided to float the small schooner, and Captain Westhaver, in typical fisherman's garb, oilskins and sou'wester, will be near at hand to answer all queries, and will also

Shamrock V Is Fastest Craft Built In England

(Special to the Guardian)
LIVERPOOL, Eng., Aug. 26—Colonel Robert G. Sharman-Crawford who will be official British representative aboard the American defender against the Shamrock V in the America's cup races next month, sailed today for the United States aboard the S. S. Adriatic. "We have the fastest boat ever built in England" he commented upon Sir Thomas Lipton's new challenger. "But the Americans, too, have made advances in construction, and I expect both boats are about equal. A lot will depend upon the handling. It is the best chance we have had in lifting the cup. I hope to have the Prince of Wales present at the next race—in Irish waters."

Ottawa Busy Making Plans For Session

OTTAWA, August 26—A crowded and pressing programme of work awaits Premier Bennett when he returns to the capital near the end of the present week. Preparations for the special session of Parliament and for the Imperial gatherings to open in London on September 30 will demand most of his time, while there are three or four other questions to be dealt with at an early date.

It is now understood that the short session will commence about September 10 and it is not anticipated that it will occupy more than two weeks. It will, incidentally, be the second such short session in two or three decades, the last being that held at the outbreak of the war in 1914.

During the election campaign the Conservative leader declared that a special session to deal with the unemployment problem need not and would not be excessively costly. For such a session that does not exceed in duration 51 days an indemnity of $20 per day to each member of the House and Senate in attendance is allowed, in addition to the personal expense of coming to Ottawa from their homes and returning. A careful estimate of the entire cost to Parliament of its short meeting places it at about $200,000, on the assumption that it does not occupy more than two weeks. A further supplementary estimate to cover this cost would have to be voted, in addition, probably, to some other minor items of unforeseen outlay.

Records Broken At Halifax Races

Johnny Miles And Ruth Eldon Smash Marks In Respective Classes—Bingen Aubrey Wins 2.19 Trot And Pace.

(By The Canadian Press)
HALIFAX, N. S., Aug. 26—The trotting record of the track at the Provincial Exhibition was twice broken today, first by Johnny Miles, owned at Sackville, who won the second heat of the 2.15 trot in 2.11 1-2. The old record was lowered last year to 2.12 1-4. The three miles in this race were also the fastest ever trotted on the track. A new record for three-year-old pacers was established when Ruth Eldon, owned at Halifax, won in 2.24. The 2.19 trot and pace captured by Bingen Aubrey, Charlottetown, was a very close event.
