SDU Students Show Keen Interest In ISS Relief Programs

The students of St. Dunstan's University have shown great interest in the policies of International Student Service, and especially in its World Student Relief and "D.P." Scholarship Plan. They recognize the fact that we are likely to take for granted the wonderful educational opportunities given to us in this country, not realizing that European students are faced with poor housing accommodation, lack of food, and even clothing. Therefore the I.S.S. knows that, in addition to whatever cultural program is carried out, it must also attend to the physical needs of these students.

The objective set by I. S. S. for this year is $65,000; and this money will be used in carrying out three main programs, namely: The General Fund of World Student Relief, The European Reconstruction Scholarship Plan, and the Scholarship Plan for "D.P." Students. The Relief Program must first attend to the health and general welfare of the European students. They live in crowded, barracks-like places which are hardly more than shells of houses. The I. S. S. hopes to ease this situation by sending building materials to these countries. In 1949, for example, $5,500 worth of materials will be sent to the University of Bombay for the construction of a sorely needed student hostel. This is just one example of the work which can be done in this respect.

The food shortage is also a grave problem which must be faced. These European students are living on very low rations and on a poor diet which does not provide them with the proper food value necessary for good health. I.S.S. plans to set up food canteens to supplement their meagre rations. The program must also supply them with clothing, and especially with shoes, which are difficult to obtain in most European countries.

Health Threatened Owing to such poor living conditions, the health of those students is threatened. Tuberculosis is quite common among them, and so X-ray and other medical equipment is needed. In Switzerland, there are already almost 10,000 European nationalities have received treatment through the I.S.S.

In addition to helping to improve the standard of living of the students, it is also necessary to provide them with the means of continuing their education. In these hard times, there is a great need for books, stationery, and laboratory equipment. In Greece, for example, the students have no books of their own, and so have to depend on mimeographed copies of lecture notes. We can help by sending them text books and scientific equipment. It is obvious, therefore, that there is much work to be done by the I.S.S. Relief Program alone.

Then there is the European Reconstruction Scholarship Plan, by which one European student for every 2000 Canadian university students is to be granted a one-year scholarship to a Canadian university. At the end of that term, the student will return home to make it possible for others to benefit by the same plan. The more important project, and the one in which St. Dunstan's University intends to take an active part, is the "D.P." Scholarship Plan. The objective is to have at least one "D.P." student on each Canadian campus. The transportation costs from Europe are to be borne by the International Refugee Organization. The students are to be selected in exactly the same manner as immigrants selected by Canadian Immigration teams. As a rule, the university adopting the "D.P." student grants him or her free board and tuition, and the plan will likely be followed at St. Dunstan's University. (The concluding article in this series will deal more thoroughly with the exact manner in which the program will be carried out.)

Any help which can be given to these needy students, whether it be in the form of material aid, in the form of "D.P." Scholarships, is greatly appreciated by them. Their appreciation has been expressed in numerous cables and letters from Austria, Finland, Poland, Germany, and Hungary. Without this help, an education to them means hardship, struggle, and possibly hopelessness and despair. With the aid of donations from individuals and from organizations, the students of St. Dunstan's University can do their part in giving those "Displaced Persons" a chance to begin life anew in a land where an education is within the reach of all.

"Someday" comes closer with every dollar you save

Most of us have to plan for the good things of life; And a big part of that planning is a matter of dollars, and cents—of earmarking a certain part of our earnings for the things we want most. It's not always easy, especially these days; But the fact remains that what you save is still the most important—the most satisfying—part of what you earn. Are you hoping for something... or saving for it?

Scouts And Guides Address At Rotary

Boy Scout and Girl Guide week gave Rotarians a chance to see and hear something of the work being carried on by these groups. Rotarian R.C. Parent, Provincial Commissioner of the Boy Scouts Association arranged the programme and spoke briefly. He said that as at former meetings of the club, members had met and heard Scouts and Guides he thought that the Junior members of the Association known as Cubs and Brownies, had much worthy of their interest. He then introduced Slicker Teddy Bear of the Parkdale Pack who showed Rotarians that he was an enthusiastic Cub and demonstrated the Salute, Grand Howl, Bowline knot, and his knowledge of the Cub law and Promise. Mr. Parent explained the tests a Cub had to pass in order to become a first and second star Cub. Mrs. Fred Pickard, Brownie Commissioner for Prince Edward Island addressed the members on the work that was being done with girls from seven to ten years of age. They too had their Law and Promise while training is concentrated chiefly upon encouraging willingness and helpfulness to others especially in the home. Brownies are advanced after passing tests in Intelligence, Handicrafts, Health and Service. Mrs. Pickard introduced Brownie Norma Duvar who showed herself to be an excellent example of the training given in this junior group. In addition to repeating her Promise, showing the salute, knowledge of the Law, bends and hitches, she demonstrated that she had learned to skip an achievement despite the fact that she had once been stricken with polio. Visiting Rotarians were Norman McKay, Kentville, Clarence Nickerson, Moncton. Other guests were Messrs. George Anderson, Boy Scout Field Commissioner, and Arthur Duvar, Charlottetown. Rotarian Orin Simons was co-chairman.
