Bissett; Master of Fox Hounds, Dr. R. F. Sealman; Vice-president, Mr. George Buntin; Secretary, Mr. W. E. Hyndman; Treasurer, Major P. S. Fielding; Chairman of the Ladies' Committee, Mrs. H. L. Palmer; Member of the Executive, Miss Beatrice MacKinnon.

REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT

Ladies and Gentlemen. The club year which is ending at this time has been one of steady progress and advancement. There have been four outstanding accomplishments by which the year will be remembered, namely, the Horse Show which the Club staged during Exhibition Week attended by the largest number of spectators ever present on the Exhibition stands; hunting became a reality and several successful drag hunts were held; a branch of the Canadian Hunter and Light Horse Improvement Society has been established in this Province; our Honorary President being named head of such Branch. The Club has acquired what may practically be termed its own forty acre property, ideally located for riding and hunting. Nineteen new members joined the Club during the year, while there have been no resignations excepting where members have moved from the Province. Several new horses of high quality have been purchased by club members.

It is a matter of pride that the Club was able to stage such a highly successful Horse Show as that which took place during Exhibition Week last August, without any help or assistance whatsoever. Three complete evenings of entertainment were provided, the slides including various types of saddle horses, hunters and jumpers. Over thirty-five Club horses took part in the Show and the performance both by horses and riders was of a high order. The Exhibitors authorities provided the necessary facilities including one of the finest over-door lighting plants east of Montreal, which cost a considerable amount of money and foresight and initiative was fully justified.

Our first hunt was staged on the estate of Colonel Jenkins at Upton and although the pace was probably a little too fast, the meet was thoroughly enjoyed by all participants and spectators. Three additional meets took place on the Falconwood property and properties of Colonel Andrew, of his father and other neighbors, where conditions were found to be excellent, several members of our Club participated in the Steeple Chase staged by the Officers of the Prince Edward Island Light Horse, Armistice Week, after which the snow-covered ground precluded further hunting, before we had the opportunity of accepting the invitation of Mr. J. Walter Jones to hunt over his property at Bunbury. The Club is deeply appreciative of the gentlemen who invited us to hunt on their properties.

Our hunting has been made possible through the generosity of our Honorary President in providing and keeping, at his own expense, fox hounds for such purpose. He was obliged to transport the hounds several miles by motor-truck for each meet. While he was quite willing to do this the Club felt that it was rather an imposition upon his generosity to permit him to continue this practice indefinitely and felt that if hunting were to continue we should secure a property which the hounds could be kept in training and available for hunts at the Club's expense. Furthermore during the past two years paved roads have been built from our Club property to Victoria Park and during the past year the road leading north, or from our Club to the open country has been paved. The problem was very carefully considered, all members consulted at a special meeting called for the purpose and the Bell property in West Royalty was secured. All members regretted the loss of the Club's first home but it is hoped that at least some of our social functions may continue to be held at the property of Major and Mrs. Duvar where so many pleasant gatherings have been held during the past three years. At our new quarters we shall have not only a Club House but ample accommodations for our horses, hounds, for pasturing and for exercising horses. While the pavements will go to the corner of our property we shall have soft roads and lanes through miles of beautiful riding country. Our Vice-President has taken complete charge of re-modelling of our stables and his tireless and efficient efforts have worked wonders. A considerable number of our grooms and members have rendered valuable assistance in this regard.

May I express appreciation to Major and Mrs. Duvar, who have been made Honorary Members of the Club, as a token of esteem for services rendered to the various Committees, especially the Ladies Committee and to the Executive for the interest which they have taken in everything pertaining to the Club, many Executive meetings have been held during the year and at several meetings there has been less than one hundred percent attendance. Problems have always been discussed thoroughly but there has never been anything but complete unanimity of opinion at the conclusion of such discussions. May I express to the Officer Commanding and Officers of the Prince Edward Island Light Horse my sincere thanks for courtesies extended and assistance and co-operation received.

Two Crowns Used For Coronations Of British King

(By Thomas T. Champion) (Canadian Press Staff Writer) LONDON, April 26.—It may surprise some to realize the Crowns of England and the rest of the English regalia are comparatively modern, although many of the jewels with which they are embellished are very old indeed.

The King's State Crown was made for Queen Victoria, the stones being taken from older crowns. Amongst the 6,000 jewels in this crown, one of the most striking is a ruby, given to the Black Prince in 1367 and worn by Henry V at Agincourt. The Crown of England, with which all monarchs are crowned, was made for Charles II for most of the regal emblems had been destroyed by order of Parliament during the Commonwealth.

Queen Mary's crown, containing the famous Koh-i-Noor diamond, is her Majesty's personal property, and is made up of hundreds of diamonds belonging to the Queen. Portions of the great Cullinan diamond which was presented to the King by the Union of South Africa, are included in it. Many other articles of fabulous value are included in the regalia, which is on view practically at any time in the Jewel House situated in the Wakefield Tower of the Tower of London. Judging by the number of people who visit it, the Jewel House appears to be the most popular attraction to the thousands of visitors who, in the course of the year, make their way to the great fortress built by William the Conqueror.

The Prince of Wales has a crown, but assumes it only at a coronation at the same moment as the peers don their coronets. The present Prince of Wales has never exercised his right of having his crown placed before him on a stool at the opening of Parliament. There is kept at Carnarvon Castle another crown which the Prince of Wales is entitled to wear when in the principality. Incidentally the title and dignity of Prince of Wales can be bestowed by the King upon whom he pleases, though it is a matter of history that it invariably bestowed upon the King's eldest son.

Sealer Imogene Rushes To Aid Of Ice Bound Ship

(C. P. Cable By Guardian's Special Wire) ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., April 26.—Ice-bound ships are shipping at this time of year, clutched the S. S. Titanian 150 miles off Newfoundland tonight while the sturdy sealer Imogene was hastening to free the imprisoned English freighter and fast near the Strait of Belle Isle.

The Imogene, recently returned from a poor season with other units of the Newfoundland sealing fleet, rushed from port this morning after the 4,807-ton freighter reported she was caught in heavy field ice with her stern and stern seriously damaged. Her position was given as latitude 49.06 north, longitude 49.05 west.

Bound from her home port of Newcastle, Eng., with cargo for Alfred, Que., the Titanian asked Lloyd's here for assistance by an icebreaker. Anxiety was tempered by the fact she sent no S.O.S. or further word expressed here that the freighter would escape more extensive damage by waiting for the Imogene, built for icebreaking, to smash a lane through the floes.

It was believed the Imogene might not be able to reach the scene in time, several members of our party mentioned at last session of the Auxiliary team drew with Scotland 2-2 and lost to England 4-3. The Austrian method of play is similar to the Scottish. The ball is kept near the ground and close passing favored.

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) OTTAWA, April 26.—Organization of the new farm loan machinery set up by act of Parliament just prior to the Easter adjournment will go forward at once under the direction of Finance Minister E. N. Rhodes. It was learned today, by virtue of amendments to the Canada Farm Loan Act which were given Royal Assent by the Parliament adjourned, existing offices throughout the Dominion were abolished.

Offices of provincial farm loan boards set up under the old act were in operation in all the provinces except Prince Edward Island, Ontario and Saskatchewan which had not taken advantage of the Dominion legislation. They have been notified of their discontinuance but no new appointments have been made yet. The operations of the act will be purely a Dominion matter and a new board will be established, absorbing to a great extent the personnel of the old board.

WORLD PILGRIMS HEAR PEACE MESSAGE

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) LONDON, April 26.—(C. P. Havas) —Torchlights threw a fitful glare over this city of miracles tonight as a procession of ecclesiastical splendor marched through the streets in celebration of the first day of the triduum celebrating the end of Holy Year.

The hosannas of 200,000 world pilgrims rose over the sacred grotto as the colorful parade gathered about Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli, Papal secretary of state and special legate for the triduum, moved toward the basilica.

In the blaze of light, centred on the mighty basilica fluttered the flags of all nations. The majestic scene was emblematic of the Pope's message of peace at a time when the eyes of the political world are turning toward re-armament.

Prominent in the procession were Jean Cardinal Verdier, Archbishop of Paris, Charles Cardinal Binet, Archbishop of Besancon, Joseph Cardinal Von Roey, Archbishop of Malines, and many other distinguished dignitaries. Overseas prelates included the Abbot Dubois, of the Canadian West, and Bishop James Kearney of Salt Lake City.

Thousands thronged the esplanade before the basilica as Cardinal Pacelli, accompanied by prelates, arrived for a reading in the rosarium.

Canada's pilgrims, headed by the Abbot Dubois, brought a special offering which they presented to the reception committee, for purchase of flowers and as a tribute to the shrine of the miracle.
