Miss Lucinda Shaw has returned to Summerside from a trip to Boston.

Rev. A. N. Simpson left by the Northumber and yesterday for Lacombe.

Geo. H. Thomas returned to Moncton yesterday from a short visit to the Island.

Seven horses formed a part of the cargo by the Northumberland yesterday morning.

Misses Maria and Mary Doull have returned to New York after spending the summer on the Island.

Fred Green, son of H. C. Green of this town was a paesenger by the Northumberland last evening.

About 100 passengers crossed in the Northumberland yesterday morning and about 45 came in the evening.

Wanted at once two coat-makers; steady work. Apply at once. M. L. Frank McKenzie, Summerside. 4 d tf.

All members of the Summerside Labor Union are request to attend a meeting this evening at 7.30. Business of importance.

Mrs. Muncey and Mrs. Wm. P. Hunt left yesterday on return to Parsboro, N. S. after a few weeks' visit to friends in Summerside and St. Eleanor's.

The Meister Glee Singers, the favorites of Royalty, will be in Market Hall tonight. Secure your seat at Goudie's Drugstore—25, 50 and 75cts.

The Campana was in port last night and left on her return trip to Montreal Her freight here consisted of about 325 bbls oysters, 25 bbls and 50 cases cranberries, 123 cases eggs, 100 bags oats, 10 bags potatoes and a lot of sundries.

Tonight the Meister Glee Singers will appear in Market Hall. This is a rare musical treat. Dont miss the opportunity of hearing England's Greatest Quartette, assited by Miss Henry, an excellant elocutionist, and Rowland Henry in very funny musical sketches.

—Chester Mallett offers for sale his farm consisting of 198 acres of land situated at Graham's Road, 150 acres of which are cleared and in a good state of cultivation, 15 ready to be cleared and the balance covered with hard and soft wood also his stock, crop and implements. 5w 21 pd.

Rev. J. D. Wetmore preached his farewell sermon Sunday Sept. 25. The Rev. gentleman has been pastor of the Hartland-Rockland pastorate for five years During his labors on this circuit his labors have been blessed of God. He has preached 976 sermons, 76 funeral sermons, married 56 couples and baptised 96 candidates. He left for Summerside, P. E. I., to enter upon his duties of the Baptist church at that place. During his stay among us he made many friends and will be greatly missed.—Hartland, N. B. Ex.

Rev. H. G. Gratz, Alberton, has left to spend the winter in post-graduate work in Princeton. At a meeting of session just before his departure the elders on behalf of the congregation presented him with a substantial cheque as an expression of the good wishes of the congregation. The adjoining congregation of Montrose and Elmsdale of which Mr. Gratz has been Moderator also waited on him and presented him with a generous purse in recognition of his services during their vacancy. Mr. Gratz takes this opportunity of thanking his own and the adjoning congregation for these thoughtful tokens of appreciation.

Antarctic Eccentricities.

Some of the seamen returned to New Zealand from the Discovery, who have had experience of both the arctic and antarctic, say that the cold in the latter is less severe and the atmosphere drier. A curious phenomenon they did not expect and cannot explain is the fact that the cold winds in the antarctic were usually north, while the comparatively warm winds were southerly.

They saw icebergs of the most fantastic shapes, resembling houses, churches and steamers. The sledge dogs struck work repeatedly, and the men had to do quite as much pulling as the animals. In the western sledge journey an ice slide was descended in 1 minute and 10 seconds. It took three days to ascend the same slide on the return journey, the sledges being hauled up by block and pulley.

Swiss Mountain Railroad.

A protest is being raised in Switzerland against the construction of so many mountain railroads and particularly of the line which is slowly creeping up the Jungfrau. The Wengern Alp, it seems, once sacred to the beautiful gentian, is speckled with the shells of hard boiled eggs, rows of ladies read penny "society" papers at the edge of the Eiger glacier, and at the Sheideck a gramophone has taken the place of the "Ranz des Vaches." Happily there still remain a few resorts of the old style, known to the elect, but they become fewer every year, and the projects of the engineers are so ingenious and extensive that on the Bernese Oberland, at all events, another decade will probably see the last of them invaded.

Canadian Women.

Mr. P. B. Ball, Canadian Agent at Leeds, England, writing to Toronto Sunday World, says: Some little time ago I noticed that an English lady was writing some rather severe criticisms on Canadian women, and I wondered if it could be my friend, Mrs. Margaret Polson Murray. At that time I had not been very long in this country, and remembering my earlier predilection for English women I did not like to get in the mix up, more especially as I knew how well able both our women and men are to defend the sex. The longer I live in the country the more predisposed I am to acknowledge the better qualities of Canadian women. Many years ago in my callow youth before I had been sufficiently acquainted with their many good points, on my trips here I was disposed to give foreign women the preference, but I thought I would allow my more matured judgment to speak before writing on the subject. It has been my privilege to visit Great Britain, Germany, Austria, France and the United States, and meet women in each of these countries. Hitherto I had always thought that English women were probably the finest, next to them the Austrian, having in mind a visit to Budapest in the late seventies. Looking at the matter after some years' experience I can say honestly that no nation produces a finer class of women than Canada. We do not, as the Germans do, have women for breeding children only, or as upper servants. We do not stand as a race, producing money to clothe the women in purple and fine linen only, as the United States men do. We do not keep our girls back and not allow them to have any say for themselves until after they are married, as France or Austria. We take them something between the British and American. We have the good looks of both, and the sound common sense of the one and the good dressing of the other. We are apt to treat them more as companions than other nations.

Marconi As He Is.

Mr. Marconi has a striking personality. Quite six feet in height, powerfully built, the young inventor has none of that physical frailty which so often distinguishes men great in mind. Many of the published photographs make him boyishly good-looking; in reality his face is the stern, impassive one of a strong man. Somewhat pallid, with clear cold eyes, and a towering white forehead, he has a touch of the dreamer as well as of the remorseless student of facts. He crosses the room with a lounging, leisurely stride, and he speaks to new acquaintances reservedly, almost distantly. To the casual observer there is not a spark of enthusiasm in the young man whose enthusiastic researches have resulted in a discovery which has made him famous all over the world. But once break beneath the surface, and you will find Mr. Marconi a keen and clever talker. He has a wonderful gift of expression, with that cold eloquence that convinces rather than persuades. And yet some of our hardest-headed men have been both convinced and persuaded after a talk with Mr. Marconi.
