

Soap that soaks clothes clean different from anything you have ever used before

Rinso is an entirely new kind of soap, every granule made of pure materials perfectly combined.

Just by soaking, in its big lasting suds, the most ground-in dirt is gently loosened and dissolved. Only the very dirtiest places need to be rubbed at all.

Rinso is made by the largest soap makers in the world.

SIDE-TRACKED BECAUSE—

They waited around for luck and legacies that never came. They longed for victory, but shrank were too slow; opportunities would not wait for them. They could not discriminate between important and unimportant things, essentials and non-essentials. After a few disappointments and failures they lay flat, and made no effort to rebound from their fall. They worked at haphazard, building up with one hand, only to tear down with the other. Their ambition was negated by nursing visions of impossible and working along lines for which they were not adapted. They thought the world owed them a living without any undue exertion on their part. They were always just going to do something, but they never managed to get anything done. They had intermittent attacks of enthusiasm when they longed

MAN MAKES RECORD WALK

(By Dominion News Service.) LONDON, Sept. 25.—George Cummings, who undertook to walk the 200 miles from London to York in less time than the 194 hours taken by Mr. Tyrwhitt-Drake on an Arab horse, accomplished his purpose.

His walking time for the whole journey was 37hr. 4 min. 59 sec. This beats the horseback time by 2hr. 1 sec.; while Cummings was also inside the gross time of 104 hours by 1hr 20min.

Cummings was received at York by Sir William Foster Todd, and for the last two miles mounted police escorted him along the road which were blocked by cheering crowds. Members of the York Rugby Club carried him shoulder high from the Mansion House to an hotel, where he was entertained to luncheon afterwards by Sir William Forster Todd.

Mr. Tyrwhitt-Drake's purpose was mainly to test a special rubber-padded horseshoe and not to create a riding record.

to do great things, but they never could improve themselves in the future, but never saw an opportunity in the present.

They lost some of their best chances because they could not bring themselves to get up early in the morning, or to get out in a storm, or in cold weather.

They had no faculty for turning defeat into victory; they had never learned to meet hard times with a harder will, and more determined pluck.

They did not realize that the years they spent in laying foundations in youth constitute not only the shortest, but also the surest, road to success.

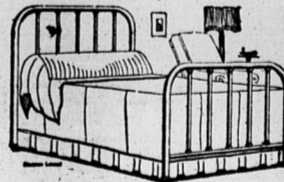

With enough ability to do something worth while, they kept throwing back an empty shuttle, and the web of satisfying, productive life was never woven.

They were forever looking for soft places and smooth surfaces forgetting that the friction of struggling with difficulties is essential to our development, just as the friction which the train encounters on the track, is essential to its locomotion.—O. S. M., in Success.
