Japanese Wish C.N.R. Traffic To Sign Roll As Canadians In March Good

HALIFAX, N. S., May 4—General traffic on the eastern lines of the Canadian National Railways to the end of March this year was as good if not better than the corresponding period last year, declared W. U. Appleton, vice-president and general manager of the Atlantic region of the railway on his arrival here tonight after an inspection trip over the Halifax and Southwestern divisions.

"During the winter we moved about a quarter of a million tons of 4,600 carloads of coal to the end of March," he said. "This is in Quebec and west." The general movement of coal to the south has ever taken place within the history of this section of the Canadian National System. Speaking with regard to the Halifax and Southwestern divisions of the railway which embraces the line along the south shore of Nova Scotia to the Halifax to Yarmouth, he said the main line had come through the winter in good condition and the road bed was in excellent shape.

"We are looking forward to our continued improvement in traffic and tonnage. Air-conditioned equipment being an important factor in this increase insofar as the railway is concerned. The hard surfaced roads will also prove a major factor in this anticipated increased tourist travel."

"A straight passenger train service will be operated over the Halifax and Southwestern divisions this winter. This section of Nova Scotia embraces some of the most attractive vacation centres in the province, being some outstanding salt water bathing beaches. Tuna fish is also to be had all along the south shore. Among the outstanding conventions which will be held in Nova Scotia this year will be that of the Canadian Medical Association June 19 to 24, and the Canadian Nurses' Association July 4 to 9 both conventions making the Railway Hotel in Halifax the Nova Scotian, their headquarters."

Second-generation Japanese should try to be good citizens of the country in which they were born; they should retain their Japanese cultural heritage and their historical background—much as the Scottish, Irish and English retain their cultural background. He pointed to the Hebrew race as a proud of its individual culture. Proud of its individuality. He pointed to the Japanese Canadian Citizens' League as a good second-generation Japanese good Canadian citizens and to aid in better understanding between themselves and white Canadians.

Much of the recent controversy over the Japanese in Columbia's Oriental population is based on the assertion that Japanese have a lower standard of living than white Canadians, and are consequently unable to conduct a business on a low-profit basis with a detrimental effect on the white man's business.

ASK FOR CHANCE—Dr. Banno's answer: "If the objection lies in the difference of living standards, it should be given a chance to come up to the Canadian standard. At present the Japanese Canadian is prevented by restriction, from entering the legal and pharmacy professions and some branches of skilled labor such as engineering. We expect as time goes on we will be accepted as a definite part of the nation, with equal status in all professions. He believes that many second-generation Japanese now have reached the Canadian standard of living."

Edmonton Journal Wins Pulitzer Prize—(By TED FARAH Canadian Press Staff Writer) NEW YORK, May 4 (CP)—Members of the Pulitzer prize advisory board watched the situation in Alberta for nearly two years before deciding to break with tradition and make a special award in recognition of the battle of newspapers of the Province to defeat the Alberta Press Act.

Dean Carl W. Ackerman of the Columbia University School of Journalism, and secretary to the Advisory Board, told tonight of the steps leading to the unprecedented gesture.

When the awards for 1937 were announced it became known that for the first time in the 21 years history of the Pulitzer Prizes the trustees had bestowed honors outside the United States.

A bronze plaque was given to the Edmonton Journal "for its leadership in the defence of the freedom of the press in Alberta." The Canadian-American award was given to the Edmonton Journal, which has ever taken place within the history of this section of the Canadian National System. Over-Wintered Colonies Versus Package Bees

(Experimental Farms Note)
Bees were secured by the Dominion Experimental Farm, Brandon, Manitoba, in June 1939, primarily to ascertain their value as pollinators of fruit trees. To determine the possibilities of honey production in the West Territories, and in demonstrating methods of management to farmer beekeepers, who kept bees to provide a natural sweetening agent for the table and other arts.

to kill the colonies in the fall and buy package bees in the spring than to over-winter the colonies of bees in the province of Manitoba. The production averages show that the package bees only exceeded the over-wintered colonies in three years (1929-31-36) during the ten-year period. The total production from both cellar and outside-wintered colonies and package bees shows an average of 21 pounds per colony in favour of the over-wintered colonies.

LUSTY SINGING STIRS BRITAIN
LONDON, May 4—(CP)—What they do get up to in this "stiff old country of tradition."
As soon as the government introduced the National Fitness Campaign idea everybody throughout the land took up exercises in one form or another. But it remained around the program. Claiming hearty singing developed the lungs and generally promoted good health, the guild was formed by a group of doctors, organists and amateur musicians.
Rev. Harold Earnshaw-Smith, rector of venerable All Souls, gave the movement his blessing and threw open a section of his pews to members. Their first meeting was open to all wishing to sing "heartily and healthily."
