Not Seeking To Take Columbus Crew

OTTAWA, Jan. 18—(CP)—Naval officials here said there was no truth in reports Australian and Canadian warships were waiting in the Pacific Ocean with a view to picking up members of the crew of the scuttled German liner Columbus who are due to sail from San Francisco on Japanese ships.

The Germans are on their way home from New York where they were landed after they scuttled their ship when overtaken by a British warship.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of calomel but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

Speaker Urges United Action By Dairymen

KENTVILLE, N. S., Jan. 18—(CP)—United action by the dairy industry to boost farm income is "essential," the Dairyman's Association of Nova Scotia was told at the closing session of its annual convention today by Gilbert McMillan of Huntingdon, Que., President of the National Dairy Council.

"The low earning power of investment and labor of our agricultural population is the greatest problem facing us," he said, "and a fair solution of it will go a long way to putting us on the road to prosperity."

"Unfortunately," he added, "the necessary corrective measures may quite often conflict with some very powerful interests or appear to be politically inexpedient, and if there is no force pressing for action, nothing is done. Unified action by the industry is therefore essential to this end."

Improving agriculture's earning power was a government responsibility. Influence should be brought to bear to correct matters, "both for our own good and the prosperity of Canada as a whole."

In a review of the prospects for Canadian butter and cheese business, Mr. McMillan declared the world butter situation was "not to me an encouraging one, and it is doubtful if even the stress of war will improve it." It was possible that, considering the Canadian cost of production, "we may have to be prepared to drop out of the export market for butter for the time being and endeavor to adjust our production as closely as possible to our domestic demands."

Importation of vegetable oils might impair the industry. Mr. McMillan said that if the council's efforts to control these imports did not receive more support, "you may yet see your domestic market seriously curtailed."

The war had given a more encouraging tone to cheese business, though this must not be considered permanent. This development should be watched closely, "as it may show the way in which our dairy business should be developed."

Senator Borah Close To Death

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18—(AP)—Death hovered close tonight to Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, 74-year-old dean of the United States Senate.

In a deep coma and running a high fever as the result of a cerebral haemorrhage, the veteran Republican Legislator was given only an outside chance to recover, but his physician, Dr. Worth Daniels, said a crisis was still ahead, perhaps to be reached within 24 hours.

Borah suffered the haemorrhage Tuesday morning. Mrs. Borah found him lying unconscious in his bathroom. It was believed the Senator was stricken with the haemorrhage while stepping from his shower and fell.

Until Tuesday, Borah apparently had been in exceptionally good health. A few minutes before going to the shower, he had told Mrs. Borah that he had seen his doctor the day before for a check-up, nad been given a "clean-bill-of-health" and was felling better than in a long time.

Tuesday he was semi-conscious, and on Wednesday he sank into a coma from which he has roused himself only at intervals.

McNaughton's Sons Train In Airforce

(By Ross Munro, Canadian Press Staff Writer)

OTTAWA, Jan. 18—A son of the commander of the Canadian troops now overseas, a former wireless operator on the H. M. S. Exeter and the first American to start training with the Royal Canadian Air Force are learning to fly as provisional pilot officers at bleak Uplands Airport near here.

Included in a group of seven student pilots going through elementary instruction at the Ottawa Flying Club, they train in bitter weather that sends the mercury to 30 below at 5,000 feet. But when summer comes they probably will win their air force "wings" and be ready for service overseas with a fighter or bomber squadron.

There is Ian McNaughton, a son of Major-General A. G. L. McNaughton, commander of the First Division of the Canadian Active Service Force now at Aldershot, Eng. Fresh from Royal Military College, Kingston, Ont., he is carrying on the family military tradition in the air and after six hours dual instruction is ready to be the first of his unit to solo.

Another son, Andrew, already has completed the R. C. A. F. elementary training and is at another school taking the intermediate course.

And not far behind Ian McNaughton in this local "international brigade" of the air force are Clive Sinton, who left the sea and the Exeter before the Graf Spee battle to learn to fight in the air, and Michael McPharlin, a former medical student at Duke University who came from Durham, N. C., to help in the Empire's war.

McPharlin is the first American recruit to be appointed P. P. O. Nova Scotia is represented in the training unit by Bob Edwards of Glace Bay. The others are Ottawa boys, one of them a French-Canadian.

King. "There may be more. I don't care. I stand firm on the statement he has not done his duty by his country and he never will. I know. I sat in the house with him for 8 1-2 years."

Debate Unexpected

Debate today was unexpected and was innocently set off by William Duckworth (Con., Toronto-Dovercourt) with his questions about the reported sale of Canadian wheat to Russia.

Premier Hepburn said he condemned the sale of wheat and even more the sale of two ice breakers to Russia. Ice breakers that might possibly be used to keep Russian Pacific ports open for use as submarine bases for raids on British shipping.

All the propaganda possible would not quiet the people's misgivings about the conduct of the war by the Federal Government, said Mr. Hepburn. War matters were properly before the Legislature because Ontario had organized a committee to aid the Federal effort. Little co-operation had been given the committee by Ottawa.

The Premier alleged that Ontario sanatoria were admitting many, many men discharged from the army as active tuberculosis cases. The Dominion Government "in a most callous way threw them out" after failing to give them proper clothing while in the army.

Will Reserve Comments

OTTAWA, Jan. 188—(CP)—Prime Minister MacKenzie King said tonight he will reserve his comments on the Ontario Legislature's motion criticizing the Dominion Government's war effort until Parliament is in session.

"Believing that the proper time and place to discuss government policy with respect to Canada's war effort is when the representatives of the people from all parts of Canada are assembled in their parliament, I shall reserve until Parliament is in session what I may have to say on that subject," he said.

"Parliament as all are aware, meets a week from today. Meanwhile the government does not intend to permit Canada's war effort in the present war be prejudiced by fostering any controversy which does not permit of the most complete presentation of all relevant facts."

Students of Parliamentary history said that provincial legislatures have censured the Dominion government only on a few occasions since Confederation.

A definite check on the records was not possible tonight but one authority stated that he believed a Quebec government condemned the National Government of the First Great War on conscription and back in the 1880's another Quebec administration censured the Federal Administration because of the exceution of Louis Riel, leader of the Western Rebellion.

GROWING

prevent Germany from getting them.

Satisfaction over Mr. Cross' report that Germany has been pinched to the needy stage of 1916 was tempered today by increased neutral and British ship losses.

Neutral nations lost four ships today; Britain one and Germany one—to war and weather.

Ships Lost

Today's table of ships lost:—

Norway:—

Fagerheim, 1,590 tons, reported torpedoed in Bay of Biscay, 14 lost. Enid, 1,140 tons, reported sunk by submarine action off Shetland Islands, crew saved.

Denmark:—

Oyga, 803 tons, wrecked on rocks of southern Norway, crew of 18 saved.

Greece:—

Asteria, 3,313 tons, sunk by mine in North Sea, 13 out of 24 crewmen believed drowned.

Great Britain:—

Cairnross, 5,494 tons, sunk by mine off English West Coast, crew of 48 saved.

Germany:—

August Thyssen, 2,342 tons, sunk off Aaland Islands by mine believed to be Swedish, crew in drifting boats trapped by broken ice.

Britons also saw these developments:—

Lord Strabolgi, Labor, predicted Germany's economic collapse before the end of the war;

Protesting piece-work rates 250 aircraft factory workmen in the midlands went on strike;

The King and Queen, in bitter weather, toured 50 miles of the Aldershot military training area, inspecting British troops;

After Brewers

Lady Astor, teetotaler, asked Commons to ration barley supplies to brewers to save it for animal fodder;

Prime Minister Chamberlain promised a Commons' debate next Tuesday on blackout traffic fatalities, which caused 895 traffic deaths out of a total of 1,155 in December alone;

Leslie Burgin, Supply Minister and Raoul Dautry, French Minister of Armaments, agreed on details of pooling Allied manufacturing resources.

"That collaboration exists in our spirits, hearts and deeds," he said. "Never, even in the last month of the war of 1914-18, was it as great as today.

"British and French Ministers, executives, scholars, inventors and industrial leaders have met and worked together on an Allied scale. . . There are no more secrets, no more frontiers between us.

"Can one, in these conditions, speak of collaboration? The word seems too weak to me. Rather I would say: The Anglo-French Union."

Strange Lights Cause Furor

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Jan. 18 — (CP) —Mysterious lights twinkling high in the sky above this Canadian border region provided the elusive quarry of New York State Police and customs border patrol men here tonight.

(But from Ottawa came a possible explanation. It was stated at the Canadian capital that maybe New Yorkers had seen test demonstrations of a new type of signal flare, put on for the Royal Canadian Corps of Signallers by a commercial firm.)

State police said the red and green flashes seen by motorists and others at intervals during the past two weeks in the vicinity of the Thousand Islands International Bridge were being made the subject of "serious investigation."

Police lieutenant L. G. Fenelon, who admitted an investigation was being made would venture no opinion as to an explantion, much less comment on "spy scare" reports stirred up by the appearance of the lights.

At the same time, the federal bureau of investigation was studying a report handed over by Watertown police that two young men were overheard discussing in German their difficulties in attempting crossing the border into Canada.

The lights, Lieut. Fenelon said, were reported to have appeared in three groups near the Thousand Islands Bridge—one toward Redwood on the United States side, another over the Canadian shore, and a third over Grindstone Island in the St. Lawrence River off Clayton, N. Y.

"I Save Money by Using OLD DUTCH It Goes So Far."

"I proved it by the dating test★"

★"I put the date on the package of Old Dutch when I opened it. It lasted and lasted, and did so much cleaning that I know I save money by using Old Dutch exclusively!"

Old Dutch goes so far because it is made with Seismotite, tiny flakes which lie flat and cover more surface. Old Dutch helps you economize in other ways, too. It doesn't scratch. It gives money saving protection to bathtubs, washbasins, sinks, pots and pans, etc. It does away too with the expense of buying "special cleaners," for Old Dutch does all kinds of cleansing and is the only cleanser you need.

And to the money saving Old Dutch brings, add the saving of time, steps and precious energy. Keep Old Dutch handy in kitchen, bathroom, laundry and garage.

Firemen Killed In Apartment Fire

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 18—(AP)—A city fireman was killed and more than 30 persons fled to safety in 10-below-zero weather late today when fire swept through a 44-apartment building at 1365 Spruce Place, near the Loop.

Searchers going through the ruins tonight found the body of Jesse Steene, the fireman, in a charred bathroom in a first-floor apartment. Two other persons were slightly hurt.

The fire was discovered in the basement by a caretaker. Employees warned the occupants of the apartments and they ran out through smoke filled halls.

New Quake Shocks Felt In Turkey

ANKARA, Turkey, Jan. 18—(AP)—Earth shocks of decreasing intensity continued tonight to shake the Nigde district, where 50 persons were reported killed and 160 injured by a series of heavy shocks last night. The district is 200 miles southeast of here.

As the government rushed aid to the area, the panic-stricken survivors camped in snow and bitter cold near the ruins of their homes.

Some of the injured were reported in a critical condition.

The affected area escaped the earthquake which last Dec. 28 killed at least 30,000 persons in Anatolia, several hundred miles to the northeast. The city of Nidge is capital of a vilayet, or province, of the same name, which has a population of 247,000.

ARREST PRO- NAZI

BRUSSELS, Jan. 18 —(CP — Havas) —Belgian police tonight arrested a young man near the scene where a German plane landed a few days ago. They said the suspect was a member of a pro-Nazi organization. The plane was reported earlier this week to have yielded the information which created fears of impending invasion by Germany of the lowland countries last week-end.

Expect Decision From Supreme Court Of Canada

OTTAWA, Jan. 18—The Supreme Court of Canada is expected to pronounce tomorrow on the powers of the Parliament of Canada to abolish appeals to the judicial committee of the Privy Council.

The question was referred to it by the Dominion Government prior to proceeding with a bill to put an end to appeals to London from judgments of Canadian courts in civil matters.

The court reserved judgment following a hearing last June at which some of the provincial governments contended the federal parliament had no power to abolish appeals.

Two years ago Hon. C. H. Cahan (Con. St. Lawrence-St. George) introduced a bill in the House of Commons to abolish appeals. He withdrew it after a debate but presented it again a year ago.

At that time Justice Minister Lapointe supported the proposal but said the Government wished a ruling from the courts as to the powers of parliament before such a measure was passed.

Should the court decide affirmatively on the powers of parliament the Cahan bill probably will be presented again and, if passed, the Supreme Court of Canada will become the final tribunal for the determination of all cases arising in Canada.

N. S. Legislature To Open March 5.

HALIFAX, Jan. 18—(CP) —The Nova Scotia Legislature will open its 1940 session March 5, it was announced tonight. It will be the third session of the 18th legislature since Confederation Present standing in the 30-seat House is Liberals 24, Conservatives five, Co-Operative Commonwealth Federation one. The election of Douglas MacDonald as C. C. F. member for Cape Breton Centre last month cut the number of Liberals under Premier Angus L. MacDonald from 25 to 24.
