—FUNERAL SATURDAY.—The death occurred at North St. Eleavors on Thursday night, October 20, of Mrs. Leonora McCormick, at the advanced age of 65 years. There are left to mourn two sons and one daughter. The funeral was held on Saturday afternoon from her late residence and burial was in the Church of England cemetery at St. Eleavors.

—THEY DANCED.—It is an old, old saying that those who dance must pay the fiddler but a group of Argyle street (Summerside) terpsichoreans invented a system on Thursday night that kept the money at home while paying due homage to the conventions. There was a dance; there were many dancers and there was a fiddler. After a while a bar was passed around in which tribute in current opinion was made to the musician but before it could be placed before the fiddler some practical minded person accumulated the money and bought enough liquid spirits to keep the crowd lightfooted and fancy free for the remainder of the evening. Very few people in the neighborhood got any sleep that night but of course materials that night simply must be sacrificed included music and dancing the —STREET EXTENSION.—The town street men under the management of foreman DesRoches have started work to extend Cedar Street further north until it reaches Beaver Street, this, when completed will mean a great convenience to truckmen as well as others who have hauling to do in that part of the town. It is their intention to follow up the work till finished.

—JOY RIDERS BEWARE.—For several nights recently the streets of Summerside have been made unsafe for democracy by a few joy riders who with mufflers cut open and foot clamped on the accelerator, breeze through the streets "like the mill tail of all tarriation" to quote a Water Street merchant. The traffic officer is very much in evidence in cases where a driver turns too sharply in rounding a corner or parks on the right side of the street but in cases such as the above which really call for some notice, there is nothing done.

—SURPRISE PARTY.—A pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. Hubert McDonald, Spring Valley, on Friday last when a number of young folks had gathered for the purpose of surprising Miss Angelina Durant with a bridal shower. This was accomplished to perfection and Miss Durant who was the recipient of many useful and valuable gifts was highly complimented in her coming adroiture, when she will be one of the principals in an interesting event. After a jolly evening spent, which included music and dancing the —DEATH REGRETTED.—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jelly, Linkletter, have the sympathy of many friends in the death of their daughter, Orabelle, which occurred on Thursday evening at their home. Miss Jelly, who was in her 11th year was a general favorite with all who knew her. The funeral services conducted by Rev. W. H. Harding and interment at the People's Cemetery, Summerside. Only three weeks ago the family suffered the loss of an only son at the early age of 15 years.

LEATHER FROM THE SEA

Leather from the amphibious crocodile has been used for a long time. But not until hides became scarce, owing to the great war, was the possibility of getting leather from the skins of fishes seriously considered. Then it was found that the ray or devil-fish and many species of shark would yield an excellent catching sharks for their Indies and Australia. The devil-fish skins is an established industry, which is really a huge business at Vancouver and also in the East is among the monsters of the deep.
